MURDERESS CAUGHT.

Mrs. Gunness Under Arrest.

Made Prisoner at Syracuse While Trying to Flee to Norway.

Identified by Picture Carried by Traveling Man Who Calls Police.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SYRACUSE (N. Y.) May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Belle Gunness, who is accused of a dozen or more murders in her home outside of Laporte, Ind., was arrested here tonight.

The arrest was made by Syracuse detectives on a train.

Mrs. Gunness was undressed in a sleeper when the detectives made the arrest.

The understanding is that she was on her way to New York in an effort to escape to Norway, and the Syracuse detectives got word from the authorities at Laporte to arrest her.

Mrs. Gunness is now on her way to Utica, under the charge of Capt. Quigley of the Syracuse police department. She denies the charge that she is the Laporte murderess.

The information that led to the arrest came from E. R. Buell and H. E. Hunt, traveling men, who came from Detroit on the same train with the woman. They stated that she boarded the train at Cleveland, Ohio.

The woman under arrest was accompanied by a much older woman and both of them were heavily veiled.

Buell had a photograph of the Laporte woman and when he noticed what seemed to him to be suspicious conditions, waited for her to lift her veil that he might make a comparison with the photograph. In an unguarded moment the woman lifted her veil and the drummer declared that the face under it and the photograph he held in his hand were identical.

A telegram was sent from the train to Capt. Quigley of the Syracuse police department and he boarded the train and made the arrest.

FINDING TENTH BODY ADDS TO BIG MYSTERY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LAPORTE (Ind.) May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The discovery of the tenth body at the Gunness "murder farm" adds to the mystery of the most complex problem in crime ever given to the police authorities of the country to unravel.

Fourteen bodies now await the investigation of the Coroner's jury. And there may be many more—twenty-five more, at least—declares Sheriff Smutzer, who has charge of the grewsome search.

The details of the crimes committed by Mrs. Belle Gunness tax human credulity to the limit. Ten persons, men, women and girls, lured to a farm house by letters and advertisements in matrimonial papers, and murdered, their bodies dismembered, hacked and hewn with fiendish-like ingenuity, dumped into filthy sacks of burlap, filled with quicklime, and buried in trenches, covered up with kitchen and stable refuse—and for what reason?

The only answer is, money. Mrs. Belle Gunness had an almost insane lust for money. No other explanation is offered.

Did she have accomplices? The facts seem to indicate so. But if so, who were they?

Was she burned to death in the fire which destroyed her home and her three children, or did she murder her children and substitute the corpse of another woman in order to lead to the belief that she had perished?

BAFFLING MYSTERY.

These are the questions to which the Coroner and the Sheriff and the grand jury of Laporte are seeking an answer. So far the mystery baffles them. It is the most stupendous mystery of crime ever dug up. It outrivals the Bender murders in Kansas, and makes the homicidal achievements of H. H. Holmes dwindle into insignificance.

It is worth while to look back at the sequence of tragedies at the Gunness farm as revealed in the last ten days.

On April 28 the home of Mrs. Belle Gunness near this city was burned to the ground. In the ruins were found the charred bodies of a woman—supposed at the time to be Mrs. Gunness herself—and three children, afterwards identified as hers. The head was missing from the woman's body.

The local authorities arrested a man of all work named Ray Lamphere and threw him in jail on suspicion of having set fire to the Gunness home and destroying its inmates. Mrs. Gunness had had trouble with Lamphere. She had caused his arrest for his ungelcome attentions. He had been heard to make threats against her. Hence the suspicion against him.

At that date no one dreamed of the terrible tragedies hidden behind the smoking embers of the Gunness farmhouse or buried beneath the ash-strewn premises.

FIRST HORRIBLE FIND.

It was not until May 5 that the first horrible discovery was made and the country startled by the evidence of the woman's crimes. On that date Asle Helgelein came to Laporte in search of his missing brother, Andrew. His brother had come to Laporte to marry Mrs. Gunness, and had brought $1000 in cash. Then he mysteriously disappeared.

Mrs. Gunness wrote conflicting statements and Asle's suspicions were aroused. He went to the farm and with the hired man began poking around in the ground. He found a spot where the earth had recently been removed and then replaced. He delved into it with a spade and unearthed the corpse of his brother. Then other soft spots in the ground were opened and four other bodies unearthed.

The next day the city and county authorities took charge of the search—their suspicion that Mrs. Gunness was not the best woman in the world aroused for the first time. On May 6 four more bodies—skeletons—were unearthed. Then the story flew far and wide, and ugly circumstances in the woman's career began to protrude themselves for the first time. It was recalled that her two former husbands had both died suddenly and that both had carried heavy life insurance in her favor. It was recalled, too, that two of her infant children had died suddenly years before, when she lived in Austin, a suburb of Chicago.

FOUR THEORIES.

First—The man, Ray Lamphere, may have set fire to the house, destroying Mrs. Gunness and her three children. He may have acted from fear of discovery of his own participation in her crimes, or from motives of revenge.

Second—Mrs. Gunness may have become panic-stricken over fear of detection and ended her own life and the lives of her children.

Third—Mrs. Gunness may have murdered her children, left the corpses of another woman in the house, set fire to the building and fled secretly to Michigan City, where she boarded an east-bound train, intending to go to Norway.

Fourth—That the bodies found on the premises had been shipped to her from Chicago, she acting as an agent in their disposal in order to hide the GREATEST MYSTERY OF AGE SUMMARIZED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Chronological review of the Laporte tragedy:

April 28—Bodies of woman supposed to be Mrs. Gunness and her three children found in ruins of her burned house near Laporte, Ind.; Ray Lamphere, her farm hand, arrested on charge of quadruple murder.

May 5—Five bodies, including those of Jennie Olson, adopted daughter of Mrs. Gunness, and Andrew Helgelein of Aberdeen, S. D., enamored of Mrs. Gunness, dug up in Gunness's grounds, as result of search instituted by Helgelein's brother.

May 6—Four more bodies exhumed at farmhouse; suspicion aroused that Mads Sorenson, woman's first husband, was murdered in Chicago eight years ago, and that two infants in family met same fate about same time; also that Joseph Gunness, second husband, was poisoned at Laporte four years ago.

May 7—Women tell of threats made against Mrs. Gunness by Lamphere, and police regard evidence against him as strong; one of the bodies found at the farmhouse identified as that of Ole O. Budsberg of Iola, Wis., from whom, it is said, Mrs. Gunness obtained $1000.

May 8—One more body discovered by diggers in Gunness grounds, making fourteen in all.

CHEAP RATES ARE ASSURED.

BARRIERS ERECTED BY WESTERN ROADS BROKEN DOWN.

Mystic Shriners Demolish Railroad Defenses by Inducing One Road to Make Price of One and One-half Cents Per Mile—Other Lines Are Expected to Follow Suit.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Barriers which western railroads carefully erected against reduced passenger rates for conventions and for State fairs have been broken down, and cheap rates will undoubtedly prevail everywhere during the coming season.

The Mystic Shriners demolished the railroad defenses by inducing one line to agree to make a rate of one and one-half cents per mile for the annual gathering of that order, to be held in St. Paul, July 13 to 18. The rate has not been made, but, unless something unforeseen occurs, independent action will be taken by the road in question as soon as the Western Association's vote against its plan is announced. It is understood that this road has secured the lion's share of the passenger traffic to the St. Paul convention.

Before independent action can be taken, however, according to the rules of the association, it is necessary to submit proposed rate to the vote of all members. The proposition is certain of defeat.

METROPOLITAN'S CHARTER SURE

NEW YORK, May 8.—Atty.-Gen. Jackson will not be permitted to bring suit against the Interborough Metropolitan Company to vacate its charter and annul its corporate existence. The appellate division of the Supreme Court today sustained a ruling to this effect which recently was made by a lower court.

GRAFT PROSECUTION.

GUN PLAY IN COURT.

Heney Makes Menacing Move.

Starts to Draw a Gun in the Course of Ruef Trial for Bribery.

Counsel for Defense Takes Immediate Advantage of Weakness.

Court Threatens Prosecutor With Jail Unless He Behaves Himself.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] There was a sensational scene in the Ruef trial today, and threats of gun play which aroused the spectators to the highest pitch of excitement, but no blood was shed. The lie was passed by Heney and hurled back again.

Only the intervention of peace-makers averted a personal conflict.

The trouble came late in the afternoon, while ex-Supervisor James L. Gallagher was in the throes of cross-examination at the hands of Henry Ach, leading counsel for the ex-boss, and w as being persistently questioned as to his dealings with Ruef and the members of the boodling Board of Supervisors in the Parkside railroad franchise matter.

It had been a strenuous day for Gallagher, and the relations between counsel on either side had become somewhat strained by frequent passages between Ach and Heney.

At last the lie was passed. It came plump from Heney, and was directed at Ach. Before Ach could respond, Frank J. Murphy, also of Ruef's legal staff, jumped to his feet and hurled back the lie and invited Heney to take the gun from his pocket and "come outside and have it out."

With the sudden outburst, Ach had in the course of his cross-examination of Gallagher driven the ex-Supervisor into a corner relative to certain discrepancies in his statement as made then and during his direct examination in the morning. Heney accused Ach of trying to put words into the witness's mouth.

"I am not trying to put words into his mouth," replied Ach. "You took him into your office, though, and talked to him about this case."

He referred to an incident that developed at the morning session when Gallagher had testified that he had called at Heney's office earlier in the day and had been questioned by the Assistant Prosecuting Attorney.

HENEY LOSES TEMPER.

"You don't deny my right to take witnesses to my office, do you?" asked Heney, raising his voice, "and to talk to them as I please? You are not objecting because I questioned him, are you?"

"No," retorted Ach, "but because it was you that put words in his mouth."

"You're a liar," shouted Heney, rising to his feet, his face red with anger. And then the gauntlet was down.

Before Ach could make a response, Frank J. Murphy, who sat beside him, sprang up and shouted back to Heney:

"I'll get in this and call you a liar," and he glared at Heney over Ach's shoulder. "I'll go outside with you right now."

"Never mind," interjected Ach, also rising, and stepping before Murphy. "Be a gentleman."

GUN PLAY IN COURT.

"Take that gun out of your pocket," he cried, "and come outside. I'm not afraid of you."

Heney struggled as Burns restrained him. He replied:

"Yes, I'll take it out, and I'll use it, too."

"Gentlemen, this won't do; this must stop," put in Judge Dooling, sharply.

"If either one of you want anything out of me, come outside," exclaimed Heney. He grabbed his hat from the table, and added:

"I'll give it to you this minute."

JUDGE THREATENS JAIL.

But here followed no rush to the battlefield. Again Judge Dooling asserted himself and commanded the attorneys to come to order. He then went on to say.

"Gentlemen, I am very sorry that this has occurred, and if I did not want to get through with this case I'd have to send you to jail. I do not want to hang this matter up. But I will not have this thing continued."

"I am sorry, Your Honor," said Heney, "and I will apologize."

"If it were not for the fact that I wanted to get through with the case," Judge Dooling continued, severely, "there would be no further trial for a week."

"Your Honor," began Ach, "if Heney has a gun in his pocket ——"

"Yes, I have a gun," cried Heney, "and I propose to carry a gun. An attempt has been made to assassinate one man in this case, and I have been threatened with assassination, as this letter will show." Heney waved a paper aloft.

"I do not propose to be done up by

BLACK MICE PLAGUE RAGES

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A horde of black mice, carrying destruction from field to field, has caused damage estimated by the officials of the Department of Agriculture at $250,000 in the Carson River Valley.

The press of that part of the State reports that whole fields of alfalfa have been devastated, potato crops ruined and shade trees even stripped of their leaves. The government station on the Carson River has placed men in the field to exterminate the plague. Strychnine is being used in many cases, as was done by the Danberg rangers south of here. The black mice plague raged in Humboldt county last fall and during the winter was reported near Genoa.

ROUGHNECKS.

POLICE THROW ANARCHISTS OUT.

RIOTING AND ROWS MARK UNEMPLOYED CONVENTION.

Millionaire Hobo How's National Aggregations of Roughnecks Supervised by Authorities Has Real Rough House Over Ballot Box Stuffing by "Gas House" Kelley.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rioting, police interference, anarchistic demonstrations, socialistic and single tax oratory and charges of ballot box stuffing, jumbled into a disorderly two hours, marked tonight's session of James Eads How's personally conducted national convention for the unemployed.

Alexander Berrman, an anarchist, who was dragged out of the hall for calling the police vile names, Harry Kylley, who said he was a printer, and Ry. "Gas House" Kelley of Buffalo and the Bowery, were the disturbing elements.

After the police had thrown them out, the rest of the disturbers were quiet, and the last half-hour of the meeting was peaceful.

"Gas House" Kelley, who was ably seconded by "Wichita" Harriety, introduced the first element of discord. At Wednesday night's meeting a committee had been elected to go to Washington and lay the troubles of the unemployed before Congress, and incidentally ask that $150,000,000 be appropriated for public works.

It was discovered after the election that eighty-six ballots had been cast, with only fifty-six eligible voters in the hall, and that Mr. "Gas House" Kelley, therefore, unknown to fame except among "hoes" from San Francisco to the Bowery, had been elected to go to Washington.

James Eads, scenting fraud in the action, and fearing Mr. Kelley might not be allowed to get passed to suburban policemen in Washington, ordered another election for tonight.

When the announcement was made, Mr. Kelley objected, and, to avoid a row, How postponed the election until tomorrow.

Rev. Layton Williams of Amity Baptist Church made the first speech. He was followed by Rev. J. C. Hogan of the Christian Church, Jersey City. He referred to the Washington authorities as "the criminals and anarchists such as occupy the White House that has become the black house, and Congress that should be called the rogues' gallery."

HARRIMAN BUYS STOCKS.

Rumor That He Has Been the Largest Buyer Recently of the Reading Road's Issue.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Rumors were current in Wall street today that E. H. Harriman had been the largest buyer of Reading recently. It was said that he had taken the 100,000 shares supposed to have been sold by the Lake Shore.

On the other hand, many people thought that perhaps Mr. Harriman was only running another campaign in the stock similar to that which he turned a panic into a bear riot a year ago.

VERDICT AGAINST "THUNDERER."

Publisher, John Murray, Is Awarded $37,500 Damages Because of London "Times's" Charge.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, May 8.—John Murray, the publisher, has obtained a verdict of $37,500 damages against the London Times, because the Times accused the publishing firm of extortion in selling the letters of the late Queen Victoria at a high price.

This case has been incident to the war between the Times and the book publishers of London, which began when the Times inaugurated a book club scheme in connection with subscriptions to the paper, and has attracted much attention in London.

Battleship Fleet Is Reviewed.

Today Admiral Evans's Flag Will Be Hauled Down for All Time.

Silver Services Presented to the California and the Nebraska.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The combined Atlantic and Pacific fleets of battleships, armored cruisers, torpedo boats and auxiliaries, aggregating in weight of displacement the enormous total of more than 400,000 tons—the greatest assemblage of armor clads thus far to mark the progress of the American Navy to second rank among the floating fighting forces of the world—were reviewed in San Francisco harbor today by Secretary of the Navy Metcalf.

The forty-four vessels of the two fleets lay at anchor in four long columns. From the Oakland shore, the Secretary on board the little gunboat Yorktown—a reminder of the days when the navy was in its infancy—proceeded southward through the two lines formed by the armored cruisers of the Pacific fleet nearest the Oakland shore and the second squadron of the Atlantic fleet, headed by the Minnesota.

Turning back to the north at the end of these two lines, the Yorktown traversed the lane formed on the starboard by the battleships of the first Atlantic squadron, and on the port by the grim little destroyers.

SECOND BRILLIANT PAGEANT.

The day was brilliant with sunshine, and a singing breeze from the west set the waves of the hill-protected bay dancing into white-capped waves.

The heavy battleships and cruisers, gay with the fluttering signal flags of full dress, paid no heed to the whistling wind, but the destroyers rolled and swayed in the trough of the seas. Excursion craft crowded about the anchorage area and gave the patrol boats plenty of work. They added many touches of color to the scene, however, and gave the people of the bay cities, who again made black the hillsides, their second splendid water pageant within three days.

The review, however, was the last of the show features on the water, for soon the ships will be separating, some to go to navy yards for repairs, and others of the Pacific fleet starting south on a practice cruise.

Rear-Admiral Evans, who had hoped to end his active naval career by participating in today's official ceremonies, was not permitted by his attending physician to go aboard the Connecticut. Rear-Admiral Thomas was again the "senior officer present."

HAULS DOWN HIS FLAG TODAY.

Admiral Evans, who returned to the fleet at Santa Cruz the day before it sailed through the Golden Gate in completion of the originally planned cruise, has made his home ashore at the St. Francis Hotel since the afternoon of his arrival. He rode in the long parade yesterday and was quite fatigued by the trip.

Tomorrow forenoon is the time set for Admiral Evans finally to relinquish command. Although he will not be aboard ship, his flag will be officially lowered from the truck of the Connecticut as the sharp-speaking rifles on the after-bridge boom out their parting salute of thirteen guns. A few minutes later another thirteen guns will mark the assumption of command by a new chief, Admiral Thomas transferring his headquarters from the Minnesota to the Connecticut, and exchanging the subordinate flag of red for the commanding pennant of blue.

Admiral Evans's leave taking of the fleet thus will date from the journey through the Golden Gate, when, clad in the double-breasted frock coat of "undress B," the official uniform for entering port, he stood on the bridge of the flagship for the last time. Usually, retiring admirals are rowed ashore by the men of the fleet. There can be no ceremonies of this kind tomorrow. Accompanied by members of his family and by officers of his personal staff, Admiral Evans will leave tomorrow afternoon for his home in Washington, where he will remain on waiting orders until the date of his retiring on his sixty-second birthday, August 18.

Admiral Thomas will be in command of the Atlantic fleet only until May 15, when he, too, hauls down his flag for all time, to return home on waiting orders until his retirement in the fall.

Rear-Admiral Charles S. Sperry will assume command with the departure of Admiral Thomas, and will take the fleet on its brief excursion to Puget Sound, beginning May 18, and on its tour of the world, starting from San Francisco July 7.

RAILROAD RECORD.

HINTS OF BIG INVESTIGATION.

Commerce Commission After Proposed Advance.

Will Make Public Facts on Freight Rates.

Underlying Causes Something of a Mystery.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the causes for the proposed general advance in freight rates throughout the country is likely to take place. Hints from commission circles indicate this as a probability.

There is a precedent for an investigation, as the commission undertook one along the same lines when a movement to advance charges was inaugurated in 1901, before the enactment of the present rate regulation began. To investigate is practically all the commission, with its present powers, can do. It has no power to restrain any advance.

But an investigation, it is pointed out, would give to the country the real underlying causes for the action about to be taken by the railroad officials.

There is a strong impression in Washington officialdom that behind the causes for raising charges, openly stated by the railroad presidents and traffic managers, lies a plan to bring discredit upon the Interstate Commerce Act as amended by the last Congress. It is believed there may be a design to cast odious reflection upon the national administration at the same time it is sought to bring the rate-making power conferred by the present law into disrepute with the people of the country.

COMMERCE COMMISSION ASKS EXTENSION OF LAW.

Interstate Board Without Information Concerning Violations of Hepburn Act Provisions, but Would Postpone Penalty Clause Until Test of Legislation Is Made.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—No official information is in possession of the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning violations by interstate railroads of the so-called commodity provision of the Hepburn rate law, and the commission has no knowledge whatever of any agreement or understanding between railroads and the authorities charged with the duty of enforcing the law whereby the railroads affected by the commodity provision are to be given immunity from punishment for its violation.

The commission recommends, however, that Congress enact a provision extending the operation of the commodity clause of the Hepburn act in the interest of fairness to the railroads, so that sufficient time may be had to test the validity of the enactment.

These are in brief, the statements made by the Interstate Commerce Commission in a communication forwarded to the Senate today in response to a resolution calling upon the commission for any information in its possession regarding the enforcement of the commodity provision of the rate law.

ARMY TO GET MORE PAY.

Appropriation of Seven Millions Made by House to Go to Officers and Enlisted Men.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The officers and enlisted men of the army today won their fight for increased pay when the House, after a debate of two hours, agreed to the conference report on the Army Appropriation Bill.

An appropriation of $7,000,000 was made for the purpose, $5,000,000 of which will go to the enlisted men. Nine hundred officers on the retired list will also benefit by the increase.

Under suspension of the rules bills were passed, placing the Porto Rican regiment of infantry on a permanent basis, and authorizing additional aids to navigation in the lighthouse establishment.

SENATE REPLY TO COMMISSION.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—In response to a resolution of the Senate, the Interstate Commerce Commission today informed that body that it had no official knowledge of the violation by railroads of the commodity provision of the Hepburn act and that it had no information whatever of an agreement between the railroads and government authorities whereby the former are to have immunity from punishment for a violation of the provisions.

WRANGLE OVER FORESTS.

Senators Devote Session to Discussion of System—Deadlock Reported on Pension Bill.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Little progress was made in the Senate today on the Agricultural Appropriation Bill, the session being devoted to a discussion upon the principle of forest reserves, and the administration of that service.

Senator Teller concluded his remarks in opposition to a lump sum appropriation of $500,000 for further development of the forest reserve system.

Senator Nelson, of Minnesota, and Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, spoke in support of the reserve service.

Senator McCumber, chairman of the Committee on Pensions, called the attention of the Senate to a deadlock among the conferees on the Pension Appropriation Bill on the Senate amendment requiring a continuance of the present system of having the pension funds disbursed through eight pension agencies, located throughout the country, instead of through a single agency located in Washington. Many Senators expressed a desire that the conferees should insist on the Senate amendment.

A resolution was introduced by Senator Burkett naming May 18 as "Mother's day," and suggesting that all Senators and other officials of the Senate should wear a white flower in honor of that day.

MURDERESS IS CAUGHT.

The last of these theories has been dismissed as untenable.

County Prosecutor Smith holds to the first theory, a few hold to the second, while the great majority of Laporte people believe implicitly in the third theory. They believe Mrs. Gunness is still alive and that the body of the woman found in the ruins of the burned farmhouse was that of some other woman.

BELIEVE HER ALIVE.

Summed up — The circumstances which make it seem that Mrs. Gunness is not dead, but in hiding, are these:

First—The body of the woman found in the ruins was headless, and was that of a woman weighing 130 pounds. Mrs. Gunness weighed full 200 pounds.

Second—Mrs. Gunness had a set of heavily-plated upper teeth, the dentist using $300 worth of the metal in almost covering them; neither the teeth nor the gold could have been consumed in the flames. Yet the most diligent search of the ashes has failed to reveal either gold or teeth.

Sifted down—It seems to be generally accepted that Mrs. Gunness lured men and women with money to her home, murdered them either with poison or with blows from an ax, dismembered the bodies and buried the remains in gunnysacks filled with quicklime. In this horrible work it is also generally believed that she was assisted, either by the man, Ray Lamphere, or by some other male accomplice.

The grewsome work of carving up the bodies and preparing them for burial in quicklime apparently was done in a mysterious room in the cellar to which Mrs. Gunness always carried the key. To this room she barred all admission not only to her hired men, but to her children.

CHILDREN'S STATEMENT.

Today an important statement regarding this mysterious room was made to Mayor Darrow by Miss Jennie Garwood, a teacher in the Quaker school, which the Gunness children attended. The day before the fire which destroyed the Gunness home on April 28, the children appeared at the school in tears. Miss Garwood in a sympathetic manner asked them why they were crying. They replied that they had been whipped by their mother. Asked why, Myrtle Gunness replied:

"Mamma told us to keep out of the basement, but while we were playing we went downstairs. She caught us before we got to the bottom of the stairs and brought us back. She always kept the cellar door locked, and got awful mad when anybody went near it. She told us she would punish us worse if we ever tried to get downstairs again. Then she whipped us."

Mayor Darrow believes Mrs. Gunness had a body hidden in the cellar of her home on the day before the fire, and that it was the body of the woman she intended to substitute for her own.

That Ray Lamphere was the accomplice, or at least one of the accomplices, of Mrs. Gunness is the belief that is daily and hourly receiving more credence. He is in jail awaiting the action of the grand jury. He stoutly affirms his innocence, and has engaged a lawyer to look after his interests. County Prosecutor Smith holds firmly to the theory that Lamphere has at least a guilty knowledge of the crimes committed at the Gunness farmhouse. The county prosecutor said today:

PROSECUTOR'S THEORY.

"My theory of this matter is based on what I know as the State's reporter. As for giving the evidence on which I base my conclusions, I cannot do that, because I consider that would be a breach of confidence to the citizens of Laporte county, placed in me as their representative in looking after State's interests.

"Mrs. Gunness and her three children perished in the fire the morning of April 28, 1908.

"Ray Lamphere set fire to the building in which they were consumed. There is plenty of evidence to sustain a motive for his so doing. If he did not participate in the tragedy he has at least guilty knowledge of the Helgelein murder.

"All of these conclusions the State will be able to prove beyond a reasonable doubt."

Leaving the discussion of the various theories, it may be added that Mrs. Gunness is suspected of numerous murders, not only here, but in Chicago. Both her husbands died sudden deaths as stated. Ray Lamphere told the authorities today of a man from Chicago who came to the Gunness farm several months ago and remained for several days. He disappeared suddenly, leaving his trunk and other belongings behind. Three hired men in the employ of Mrs. Gunness at various times dropped out of sight as mysteriously as if they had been swallowed by the earth. All left personal property which Mrs. Gunness appropriated.

Sheriff Smutzer declared today that it is his belief at least a score more of bodies will be found in the "graveyard" of the Gunness woman.

"I am certain," he said, "that this barnyard is filled with human bones. There is every indication that we will find body after body until we have unearthed a number that will astound the whole world. Everything points to the fact that we are only beginning on this dark mystery. In my opinion it is the most diabolical plot the world ever has seen."

TO DIG FOR BONES AT GUNNESS CHICAGO HOME.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The next step in the study of the Gunness crime mystery will be taken in Chicago Monday morning. Coroner Hoffman declared tonight:

"I do not believe Mrs. Gunness is dead. I am thoroughly convinced that her first husband, Mads Sorenson, was murdered by her at their home, No. 620 Alma street.

"I think the cellar and the grounds about that place ought to be dug up and searched. I would not be surprised to find a whole lot of bones there."

PERMISSION TO DIG.

These are the reasons Coroner Hoffman advanced to Chief Shippy for a deeper investigation into the murder mystery at Laporte, Ind. The Chief was a bit skeptical, and referred the matter to Assistant Chief Schuettler, who, in turn, summoned Lieut. Mathew Zimmer, commanding officer at the Austin Police Station. The upshot of it was that permission was obtained from J. Nellis, present owner of the house, to begin digging Monday—providing it is done at all.

It depends entirely on how certain clews which came to Coroner Hoffman personally work out.

"And it won't be little boys and girls that we would expect to find, but all 'big boys,' said the Coroner.

"I am giving you a straight tip," the Coroner continued. "Until 10 o'clock this morning I was of the opinion that the woman's criminal career did not begin until she moved to Laporte, but what I have since heard convinces me that there will be a Chicago angle to the story.

MANY ARE MISSING.

"We know that some persons who were supposed to have started back to Norway never got any farther than Chicago, and it seems likely from what comes to me privately that some of them visited Mrs. Sorenson at her Alma-street home.

"My information does not come from gossiping women or people who are inspired by malice. It comes from bona fide sources, people interested in relatives missing for years. They are not Chicagoans but strangers from all over the country and naturally their cases were not reported to the police until now. Of course, we may not dig after all, but until they furnish further proof that Mrs. Gunness is dead or the other clews we have prove fruitless, I will insist on turning the ground."

FIND LETTERS FROM WOMAN TO LAMPHERE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LAPORTE (Ind.) May 8.—Developments in the Gunness murder case came thick and fast this evening, each additional circumstance brought to light being of a nature to strengthen the charges against Ray Lamphere, who is accused of first degree murder because of the death of Mrs. Bella Gunness and her three children.

Lamphere today sent a request to his attorney H. W. Worden, asking the latter to send to the farm of John Wheatbrook for the trunk which Lamphere left there when he was arrested, April 28. But before this word had reached the attorney the trunk had been confiscated by the authorities. It contained a number of letters written by Mrs. Gunness to Lamphere after the latter had taken employment at the farm of John Wheatbrook, near Springville, seven miles north of this city. The exact dates on these letters were not announced, but that they were recent is evidenced by the fact that Lamphere went to the Wheatbrook farm February 3, 1908. The woman wrote to Lamphere urging him to return to her farm, and to "bring your sweetheart with you, if she has money enough."

The identity of the woman is a mystery, and neither does Mrs. Gunness mention the amount deemed necessary for her reception at the Gunness farm.

Along with the letters were found several women's finger rings, some of which were of unusual size and many have been the property of Mrs. Gunness.

WANTS TO TALK.

Lamphere today evidenced a desire to break the silence which he has kept since his arrest. To a visitor to his cell he said:

"There are some things I would like to talk about, but my attorney has told me not to say anything about my troubles to any one. But there are some things which I think might be talked about and not hurt my case. They might even help me if they became known."

Lamphere then requested that his attorney might be informed of his desire for some clothing in the trunk at Springville.

The resumption of excavation at the Gunness farm again drew an immense crowd of spectators. The rush of visitors has become so great that some of the local liverymen have established a regular 'bus line to the farm. Hundreds of men and women made the trip by this means, and added to the throngs who had walked or driven out in private vehicles.

The premature announcement by Coroner Mack that two bodies had been discovered only served to increase the rush of curiosity seekers. The scraps of humanity were found in the barn yard, which had already given up nine cadavers and were discovered under circumstances similar to those which prevailed Tuesday and Wednesday.

WOMAN'S TORSO.

About four feet below the surface the excavators encountered bits of bone and buriaping, and a few strokes more of the spades and hoes revealed the skull, a decomposed torso and leg and arm bones. The body was by far the least preserved of any of the ten grewsome relics. In addition to the usual traces of lime, the evidences were that a less skillful hand had accomplished the dismemberment of the corpse. Nothing but a jumbled heap of decayed flesh and crumbling bones were left to indicate the identity of the person.

It was thought, however, that the body was that of a woman, as a pair of women's Oxford shoes and the metal frame of a woman's purse were found in the grave.

While the investigations were going on at the farm, Prosecuting Attorney Smith, aided by Deputy Sheriff Roy Marr, was collecting additional evidence concerning Lamphere's alleged participations in the affair.

One of the first new witnesses found today was Colson, who told of a conversation, in which Lamphere declared his ability to get money and clothing from the woman. According to Colson, Lamphere said a few days before the fire of April 28:

"I made her get down on her knees last night, and I am going to make her get down tonight, unless she comes up with some money. I know things about her that would raise an awful row if they were told. She bought me this suit of clothes that I am wearing, but she does not like to come up with the coin, and that is what I need and must have."

STRANGERS AT FARM.

It is Prosecutor Smith's theory that Lamphere had gained knowledge of the means by which Andrew Helgelein was done to death; that the prisoner attempted to use this knowledge to extort money from the woman; that she became terror-stricken at his threats and undertook the series of prosecutions against him which resulted in his trial before a lunacy commission, and in his being thrice arrested at her instigation; that Lamphere attempted to wreak vengeance upon her for these actions and for her refusals to give him money or to continue the relations which had existed between them prior to the appearance here in January of Helgelein; that the fire at the Gunness home was started by Lamphere, but that he had no idea of causing the deaths of Mrs. Gunness and the children.

The laws of Indiana, however, provide that arson resulting in deaths, shall be considered as murder in the first degree, even though the fatal outcome of the first crime is not premeditated. It is on this statute that Lamphere is to be tried.

Mrs. Leo Greening today told the prosecutor that the night before Jennie Olsen disappeared her son Emil, who had been employed at the farm, had seen two strangers there. One of the strangers, he told his mother, was a man dressed in woman's clothes. He said, further, that Mrs. Gunness explained their presence by saying that they were a professor and his wife from a school in California, to which she was about to send Miss Olsen.

Mrs. Greening said the couple arrived at the farm after dark, but that they and Miss Olsen were gone when he arose early the next morning. Mrs. Gunness told him that the trio had taken a late night train for the West. Greening started work on the farm as a chore boy in November, 1906. Two weeks later the mysterious couple came there. He left the employ of Mrs. Gunness a few months later and went to Oklahoma City.

DICK BILL REPORTED.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Dick Militia Bill was reported to the Senate today by Mr. Hemenway from the Committee on Military Affairs. It provides that the militia shall consist of every able-bodied man citizen and every able-bodied male of foreign birth who has declared his intention to become a citizen between the ages of 18 and 45 years.

The President is given full authority to call upon the militia in advance of any volunteer force which it may be determined to raise. A limitation upon the cost of equipping the organized militia is fixed to not exceed $2,000,000 in any fiscal year.

OLD FIGHT RENEWED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The old struggle to compel the fire department engineers to join labor unions has been renewed. The city board of examining engineers has notified the 220 engineers in the fire department that they have been reported as violators of law in running engines without licenses. Threats are made that charges will be filed against them unless they take an examination and get licenses. This is said to be the first step toward compelling the men to join labor unions. The engineers have taken civil-service examinations, and object to taking new ones for licenses.

DRUMMERS' CAMPAIGN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Stirred by the Aveline catastrophe at Fort Wayne, Ind., last week, when eleven men were burned to death, the Illinois Commercial Men's Association will start an active campaign against hotels all over the country not having proper fire protection. In the fire three members of the order met death, a number were injured, and many had narrow escapes.

EXIT SALOONS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] More than 1500 saloons in Illinois today passed out of existence, according to figures of the Anti-Saloon League, and thirty counties were added to the dry list. The loss to the saloon-keepers and liquor dealers, it is estimated, will reach $1,250,000, and more than 4000 persons will be thrown out of employment.

MINERS FAVOR PEACE.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PEORIA (Ill.) May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Canvass of votes of Illinois miners shows 10,000 majority for peace. The mines in the Peoria field will be started within a few days. The recent cold weather has absorbed the retail supply of coal.

PLANT TO REOPEN.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MT. VERNON (Ill.) May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The plant of the Mt. Vernon Car Manufacturing Company will start Monday, after a shut-down of almost four months. The plant employes 1200 men.

THOUSANDS SEE RACES.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Twenty-five thousand people saw the races on the Alameda estuary this afternoon between crews from the various warships. The races were held under the auspices of the Pacific Amateur Oarsmen.

The first race between crews of colored sailors from the battleship Maine and Missouri over the one and one-eighth-mile course, was won by the six men in the Maine's gig by four lengths.

The feature event was the four-cornered race between crews from the engineering forces of the Kentucky, Tennessee, Illinois and Pennsylvania. For a mile the four boats were together, and then the Kentucky crew pulled out and won by half a length; Illinois second; Tennessee third, and Pennsylvania fourth.

The marine corps crews in 32-oared barges had an exciting race, the crew from the Alabama winning the race; Minnesota second, Colorado third, Washington last.

The 12-oared barge of the Alabama, manned by sailors, defeated the Minnesota's crew by a scant length, Colorado third.

FOR LIGHTHOUSE SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, May 8.—Under suspension of the rules the House today passed an omnibus bill to authorize additional aids to navigation in the lighthouse establishment.

The bill appropriates $759,650, and provides various light stations, buoys, tenders, etc., in various parts of the country.

The provision granting to widows or children of lighthouse keepers and their assistants a sum equal to two years' pay in case such keepers or assistants lose their lives by reason of the perilous service was stricken out.

All of the flag and commanding officers paid their respects to Secretary Metcalf, who received them formally on the quarterdeck of the Yorktown. The officers, in full dress uniform and attended by members of their staffs, came over the side from the starboard gangway, they were greeted by the blast of bugles, the ruffle of drums, by saluting lines of side boys at the gangways and by a cordial handshaking from the chief officer of the Navy Department. Other than the official introductions, the ceremonies aboard the Yorktown were simple and informal.

The afternoon was marked by the presentation of silver services to the battleship Nebraska and the armored cruiser California, the elaborate sideboard and table sets being the gifts of the States after which the splendid ships were named. Gov. Sheldon of Nebraska and Gov. Gillett of California personally made the presentation speeches.

DINNER AND DANCE.

Tonight interest is divided between the shore functions taking rank among the principal entertainments provided for the fleet. At the St. Francis Hotel the official dinner of welcome by the city of San Francisco was presided over by Mayor Edward R. Taylor, who made an address filled with renewed assurances of the city's overflowing hospitality.

Rear-Admiral Thomas responded in behalf of the fleet. There were a number of other speeches, both formal and informal. Covers were laid for 300, and the flag and commanding officers of the fleet in the harbor being present.

Following the banquet, at a later hour and attended by all the higher officers and a veritable host of the younger men, came the dance of the Army Night Club, probably the most exclusive social organization of the army, at the Fairmont Hotel, under the direction of E. M. Greenway. A distinguished company of the city's social set helped to make the dance one of the notable events of the fleet's stay. The enlisted men of the fleet are receiving special attention by the receiving committee. Tonight there were dancing and athletic events in the big naval pavilion, where some sort of entertainment is provided each evening. Next week the bluejackets and marines are to be feasted and given excursions in large numbers.

JACKETS BEND THE OARS.

Rowing crews from the Atlantic and Pacific fleets were entered in a rowing match held this afternoon on the bay. There were also races in which sailors from the Dolphin, Alameda and South End Boat Clubs participated. The course extended from the foot of Broadway, Alameda, up the tidal canal to a point off the lower end of Grand avenue.

Soon after the sailors were served with refreshments, tables being spread near the Encinal bridge. Women members of the Adelphian Club, assisted by a hundred young women from the Alameda High School, served the OLDLY CHEER EVANS'S CHARACTERISTIC SPEECH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The banquet this evening was given in the red and gold dining-room of the St. Francis Hotel, where Admiral Evans and his family have been making their quarters since the arrival of the fleet on Wednesday. It had been decided that the commander-in-chief of the fleet, who hauls down his flag tomorrow afternoon from the truck of the Connecticut, might appear for a few moments, but it was not known until along in the progress of the dinner that he was actually well enough to do so.

The admiral was wheeled into the great dining-hall amid spontaneous applause, in which the officers and their guests, the citizens of San Francisco, joined with equal enthusiasm. He was in civilian attire, as was also his host, Frank T. Evans, who had wheeled the invalid chair. Among the Admirals Thomas, Sperry, Emory, Seaver and Swinburne, Captains of all the ships, Gov. Gillett, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, Secretary Taylor, Gen. Funston of the army and other notable guests crowded around the chair and shook hands with Admiral Evans, who had a cordial remark for each in turn.

SALVO OF CHEERS.

When Secretary Taylor introduced Admiral Evans with just a word, and as the latter, refusing all assistance, raised himself to his feet, the cheering broke out again and continued for several minutes.

"It is the most unfortunate for me," began Admiral Evans, "and a great disappointment that upon approaching the hospitable shores of California I found myself too unwell to enjoy any of your social festivities. But a friend who told me of the wonderful curative waters of your Paso Robles springs, and I went there and found a wonderful benefit. If I had been younger, I undoubtedly would have gone on, but I am in San Francisco I said I would come. Then, rheumatism I had left Paso Robles, out of me yesterday by the kind voices of the people of San Francisco. And if I could find that blessed rheumatism I would bid it begone in the presence of those cheers. I would ask me why the Atlantic fleet went to the Pacific Coast, I would say that I was told to bring it back. In connection, I feel that it is a violation of a navy regulation for me to tell you that when we were about to start out, I was assured by the Secretary of the Navy, the head of the Cabinet, who is a friend of the President, and who is doing so much for a big navy, that it was not a pleasure cruise, but we must be ready to fight if necessary. So this is not a pleasure cruise, and in the speeches presented the fleet to you, and to the men and officers behind it. They are all wool and a yard wide. If you ever have occasion to call upon them, you will find I have not overstated in my descriptive list.

THE END OF SERVICE.

For weeks I shall end my 48 years naval service. In that time I have seen many changes—from sailing ships to the modern battle-

Bulletic at attention, of quarter decks black with officers and marine guards, of red-coated bands playing the national anthem, of rainbow flags flying from jackstaffs, across the trucks surmounting the fighting tops and down from flagstaffs at the stern, of "toots" whistles piping out the orders for the day, and of official calls for the reviewing officer after the fleet has made its tour of the long lines and taken its station in the midst of the flagships Connecticut, Kansas, West Virginia and Whipple, the heads of the four columns. Then the flag and commanding officers paid their respects to Secretary Metcalf, who received them formally on the quarterdeck of the Yorktown. The officers, in full dress uniform and attended by members of their staffs came over the side from the starboard gangway, they were greeted with the blast of bugles, the ruffle of drums, by saluting lines of side boys on the gangways and by a cordial welcome from the chief officer of the Navy Department. Other than the usual introductions, the ceremonies aboard the Yorktown were simple and brief.

The afternoon was marked by the presentation of silver services to the cruisers Nebraska and the armored cruiser California, the elaborate side-board and table sets being the gifts of the States after which the splendid ships were named. Gov. Sheldon of Nevada and Gov. Gillett of California personally made the presentation speeches.

DINNER AND DANCE.

Tonight interest is divided between the three functions taking rank among the principal entertainments provided for the fleet. At the St. Francis Hotel the official dinner of welcome by the city of San Francisco was presided over by Mayor Edward R. Taylor, who will make address filled with renewed praise of the city's overflowing hospitality.

Rear-Admiral Thomas responded in behalf of the fleet. There were a number of other speeches, both formal and informal. Covers were laid for 300, and the flag and commanding officers will be met in the harbor being present during the banquet, at a later hour and attended by all the higher officers and a veritable host of the society men, came the dance of the Pelican Night Club, probably the most exclusive social organization of the city. At the Fairmont Hotel, under the auspices of E. M. Greenway, A distinguished company of the city's social leaders helped to make the dance one of the notable events of the fleet's stay. Enlisted men of the fleet are receiving special attention by the reception committee. Tonight there were boxing and athletic events in the Dreamland pavilion, where some sort of entertainment is provided each night. Next week the bluejackets and marines are to be feasted and given excursions in large numbers.

OARSMEN BEND THE OARS.

Crack crews from the Atlantic and Pacific fleets were entered in a rowing contest held this afternoon on the bay. There were also races in whaleboats from the Dolphin, Alameda and South End Boat Clubs. The course extended from the foot of Broadway, Alameda, through the canal to a point off the foot of Grand avenue.

The sailors were served with refreshments, beer being spread near the end of the bridge. Women members of the Adelphian Club, assisted by a hundred young women from the Girls' High School, served the refreshments.

GALLY CHEER EVANS'S CHARACTERISTIC SPEECH.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The banquet this evening was given in the main and gold dining-room of the St. Francis Hotel, where Admiral Evans and family have been making their headquarters since the arrival of the fleet on Wednesday. It had been expected that the commander-in-chief of the fleet, who hauls down his flag today, would leave this afternoon from the truck of the flagship, but it might appear for a few days longer, but it was not known until late in the progress of the dinner that he was actually well enough to attend.

Admiral was wheeled into the dining-hall amid spontaneous cheering, which the officers and their guests, the citizens of San Francisco, joined in with equal enthusiasm. He was in civilian attire, as was also his son, Frank T. Evans, who performed the invalid chair.

Admirals Thomas, Sperry, Emory, Sebree and Swinburne, captains of all the ships, Gov. Gillett, Secretary of the Navy Metcalf, Gen. Funston of the Pacific and other notable guests crowded around the chair and shook hands with Evans, who had a cordial remark for each in turn.

SALVO OF CHEERS.

When Taylor introduced Admiral Evans just a word, and as the latter, refusing all assistance, pushed himself to his feet, the cheering began again and continued for several minutes.

"I am most unfortunate for me," said Admiral Evans, "and a great pleasure that upon approaching the hospitable shores of California myself too unwell to enjoy many of your social festivities. A friend who told me of the curative waters of your springs, and I went there and found wonderful benefit. If I had not undoubtedly would be dead, but I am in San Francisco. I said I would come, and rheumatism I had left behind. I came out of me yesterday by the kind voices of the people of San Francisco. And if I find that blessed rheumatism has told it begone in the name of cheers.

"Let me why the Atlantic fleet to the Pacific Coast. I that I was told to bring it is.

"In connection, I feel that it violation of a navy regulation you that when we were sent out, I was assured by some of the United States, Secretary of the Navy, and of the Cabinet, who is a man who is doing so much for a big navy, that it was not a cruise, but we must be ready to fight if necessary. So while a peace cruise, and in that spirit presented the fleet to you. To the men and officers I say they are all wood and a shell, but if you ever have occasion to see them, you will find I have not overdrawn in my descriptive list.

"THE END OF SERVICE.

"Before I shall end my 48 years of naval service. In that time many changes—from the sail to the modern battleships. I am proud to know that I have had something to do with the great change that has been accomplished. In building up the navy, we have had to convince the people of many things; among others, that officers of the line could boil water without burning it. It used to be thought there were great secrets in the engine rooms that an officer of the line could know nothing about. But today, in that beautiful fleet you have seen, all of the engines are run by line officers. And they never were in better condition. I could take that fleet out tomorrow and get more than the contract speed out of every one of them.

"You have heard a lot of talk lately about waterline armor belts, and I see here tonight the man who had much to do with starting it all. From what has been written and said, you would imagine we had a lot of eggs placed along the waterline to be smashed by every shell that comes along. But let me tell you, it is not armor belt, or waterlines that win battles. It is the men who shoot straightest and hardest, and can stand punishment the longest. If you have such men—and we have just that kind of stuff in our navy—it makes no difference whether the armor belts are of leather, or wood, or egg shells, or anything else.

FIGHT FOR PLACE.

"That you need a big navy is not for me to say. It goes without saying. You people are our country, and if you want a big navy, Congress will have to give it to you.

"And if you would preserve the peace of the world, give it plenty of battleships and fewer statesmen. When we have battleships, if you want us to keep the peace, and we will do it, even if we have to fight for it. On the other hand, if you want us for any other emergency, just push the button and we will try to do the rest.

"Gentlemen of San Francisco, I have no words to express proper thanks for your treatment of the men of my command. I wish I might have the silver tongue of our honored Secretary of the Navy that I might say all that is in my heart. We are grateful, deeply grateful, for all you have done for us. Gentlemen, good night and good bye."

Admiral Evans leaves for his home in Washington tomorrow night.

JOY FOR OAKLAND.

PARADE OCCURS TODAY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

OAKLAND, May 8.—Oakland fleet day will be held tomorrow. Secretary Metcalf, Rear-Admiral Thomas, Rear-Admiral Glass, Chief of Staff to Secretary Metcalf, and other admirals and officers of the fleet, Gov. Gillett and staff and Mayors of the bay cities, will review the parade.

Besides 5000 sailors from the Atlantic fleet, the National and State troops, naval militia, veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish wars, civic societies in uniform and members of the fleet committees will participate in the parade. The march will break up at Adams Point, where a grand barbecue will be given.

A banquet participated in by the notables of the community and two thousand persons will be held at Idora Park in the evening.

THANKSGIVING MASS.

UNUSUAL SERVICE PLANNED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—An unusual religious ceremony, the first of the kind to be held in the State, will be conducted next Sunday when an open-air military mass will be celebrated at the Goat Island training school.

The ceremony has been arranged under the auspices of the Knights of Columbus by arrangement with the naval officials.

TAKAHIRA SEES NEW EPOCH.

VISIT TO JAPAN APPROVED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—The Fleet Committee received yesterday a cordial note from Baron B. Takahira, Japanese Ambassador to the United States, in which he took occasion, while expressing his regret at his inability to participate in San Francisco's festivities, to state his belief that the approaching visit of the warships to the Orient would inaugurate a new epoch in the friendly relations between the two powers.

He referred to the great service rendered mankind by President Roosevelt when he brought the war in Manchuria to an end, and closed his communication by drawing a parallel between the famous mission of Commodore Perry to Japan, and the projected voyage of the united squadrons to the shores of his country.

ASK RANK FOR EVANS.

GOV. GILLETT SIGNS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—At the close of the banquet given here tonight by the city to Secretary of the Navy Metcalf and the officers of the Atlantic fleet, a resolution was adopted as follows:

"The citizens of California, appreciating the safe arrival in the American Pacific of the Atlantic fleet, ask that the man whose hand guided it and whose soul inspires it, may be made to be Vice-Admiral Evans."

This is signed by Gov. Gillett, Mayor Taylor and Judge Morrow, and will be sent to President Roosevelt, the members of the Naval Affairs Committees of the Senate and House, and Speaker Cannon.

Pushed Off Pier and Drowned.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Mrs. L. H. Holt, aged 52, wife of an official of the Bendle Bros. Steamship Company, was forced off the end of the Mission-street pier tonight by the crowd, and although rescued in less than two minutes, life was extinct. Mrs. Holt, with a party of friends, was waiting on the pier to go aboard one of the company's boats to witness the fleet illumination.

SENSATIONAL STRIKE.

Fabulously Rich Ore Is Taken from Idaho-Maryland Mine, According to Assay.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

GRASS VALLEY, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] At the end of the 1500-foot drift on the 500-foot level at the Idaho-Maryland mine, a sensational strike was made today, samples of ore being taken assaying $200,000 to the ton.

The Idaho-Maryland is operated on a fifteen-year lease and bond by the Boston company, Bray Wilkins, manager. It is owned by S. P. Dorsey of Grass Valley.

The new strike is believed to be a continuation of the Eureka ledge, from which years ago Eureka took out $20,000,000, and which was followed through the Idaho property by the owners, Edward and John Coleman of San Francisco, and paid $11,000,000 in dividends. The present company has had the lease and bond for two years, and has spent $40,000 in development work.

GUN PLAY IN COURT.

"Burns's thugs," interrupted Murphy.

"No, your thugs," cried Heney, adding, "You go around, Mr. Murphy, making a lot of noise, hoping to scare somebody."

"I object to the conduct of the assistant district attorney, in making such remarks before this jury, and ask the court to instruct the jury to disregard them. We have no men in this courtroom. This defendant has not a single soul here in his employ except his office boy and the attorneys at the bar. And, your honor, if counsel comes armed into a courtroom he should not say so in the presence of the court and jury. If Heney fears assassination he should come here guarded," said Ach.

"The first day I went into court to try a United Railroads case," said Heney, "there were forty armed men in the courtroom, and in this case, when I am walking up and down, I have had fellows stand around and call me vile names, and there are other fellows who whistle at the district attorney and stick their fingers at their noses. I say this thing ought to be stopped."

Judge Dooling at this juncture instructed the jurors to pay no attention to any remarks that had been made in the courtroom during the squabble and ordered Ach to proceed with the examination of Gallagher, who throughout the trouble had been sitting placidly in the witness chair.

Before the final adjournment of court, though, Judge Dooling again referred to the matter, and enjoined upon the attorneys the advisability of avoiding a similar scene, saying that he would inflict no light penalty upon an offender. Heney again apologized for his actions, and added that his nerves had been under a severe strain of late in the way of work.

HENEY PRECIPITATES SENSATIONAL INCIDENT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Endeavoring to come to the defense of the prosecution's star witness who was being subjected to a severe cross-examination, and accused of having put words in the witness's mouth, Heney precipitated a sensational scene in the courtroom this afternoon during the trial of Abraham Ruef.

The outbreak occurred during the cross-examination of James L. Gallagher, the prosecution's principal witness in the bribery-graft cases, whose home in Oakland was blown up two weeks ago.

Gallagher, who admittedly was the agent and go-between between Ruef and the Supervisors, had testified that Ruef had instructed him to "hold up" the application of the Parkside Realty Company for a trolley franchise, and subsequently told him to see the other members of the board, advise them that each Supervisor would get $750 to pass the ordinances and to "put it through."

He also told of Ruef's message to the board that there would be $250 more in it for each member when some months later the Parkside company wanted the trolley route in the franchise changed.

So hoarse that he could not speak above a whisper, without great effort, Ach commenced, Gallagher's cross-examination at 2 p.m. For some time he was unable to find any vulnerable point in the witness's testimony, but, as the cross-examination continued and became more severe, with a repetition of the same question in various forms and a relentless probing for details, Gallagher became nervous and confused. The gruelling began to tell on the staid and phlegmatic witness, and he moved restlessly and uneasily about in the chair.

Wrought up by Ach's methods and insistence for categorical replies, Heney remonstrated and said it was about time Ach was stopped from putting words into the witness's mouth and of trying to mislead him.

Ach came back with the accusation that it was the Assistant District Attorney who had put words in Gallagher's mouth.

"You are a liar," retorted Heney, rising to his feet.

"Put him in jail!" shouted Murphy.

"If either of you want anything and will come outside, I'll give it to you this minute," challenged the Assistant District Attorney, as he reached for his hat.

"Take that big gun out of your pocket," retorted Murphy, "then I'll call you a liar."

"Yes, and if I do I'll use it," said Heney as he started toward the table of counsel for the defense, at the same time dropping his hand to his side menacingly.

He was stopped by Detective Burns, sitting directly behind him.

The court all this time was exclaiming, "Gentlemen! Gentlemen!"

Ach pushed his associate back into his chair, admonishing him to "be a gentleman."

Order being restored, the court said: "If it were not for the fact that I want to get through with this case, there would be no trial of it for a week."

"If Heney has a gun in his pocket," said Ach, but he was interrupted by Heney with "Yes, I have a gun. An attempt has been made to assassinate me and one other man connected with this proceeding by some of their crowd of thugs. There are about half a dozen in this courtroom right now."

"Yes, Burns's thugs," interjected Murphy.

"No, your thugs."

The trouble had broken out again.

"He goes around making a big noise, thinking he will scare somebody," shouted Murphy.

Ach, addressing the court, said he desired to take an exception to the statement made before the jury that the Assistant District Attorney was in court armed. He declared that Ruef did not have in his employ any other person than his attorneys and his office boy, and asserted that while Heney had no right to come into court with weapons on him, he said, if he considered his life in danger, he should have a guard with him.

Heney declared that he had been receiving letters threatening his life, and taking one from his pocket, said: "Here is one right now that came in care of Your Honor."

Heney also stated that, in coming to and going from the courtroom, he was daily being called vile names by persons in the corridors and on the sidewalk in front of the building.

After the court had again severely admonished the attorneys, saying that he would greatly regret to postpone the trial for a week, and while very patient and making all allowances, he would not again permit the recurrence of such a scene to go unpunished, Ach resumed the cross-examination of Gallagher.

Asked if he did not testify before the grand jury that Ruef said there "ought to be" $750 in it for each Supervisor, instead of "there would be," the witness declared that he "would not say positively" that he had not made such a statement, but was satisfied that he had not, and attributed it to an error on the part of the reporter who took down the testimony.

Just before court adjourned, Judge Dooling again warned counsel against indulging in a repetition of the incident of the afternoon.

Heney apologized, saying he greatly regretted the affair. "I would like to say in extenuation," said he, "that I have been under a heavy strain, trying cases for four years here and in Oregon. I deeply regret on Your Honor's account that it occurred."

As the attorneys met outside in the corridor, Heney approached Ach, and for a moment it looked as if the affair of the afternoon would be renewed.

"You accused me of 'fixing' the witness. I won't stand that from any man," vehemently declared the Assistant District Attorney.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Gasoline Tank Starts Big Fire.

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—At 3 o'clock this morning a gasoline tank in a Hammam athing establishment in Oak avenue, between Seventh and Eighth streets, exploded, and the place was gutted. The flames spread to the saloon of Charles Bauer and the insurance offices of Nathan & Michels, and ruined those places. The loss is estimated at $40,000, with small insurance.

Nurses' Convention Adjourns.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—With the choice of the "twin cities," Minneapolis and St. Paul, for the next meeting place, and with the election of officers, the eleventh annual convention of the Nurses' Associated Alumnae closed its session this afternoon and adjourned sine die. Miss Anna Danner of New York will continue as president; Miss Genevieve Cook of California, first vice-president; Miss S. H. Cabaniss, second vice-president, and Miss Anna Davids, treasurer. Miss Sarah E. Sly of Michigan was elected as secretary.

Preacher Stricken With Paralysis.

SACRAMENTO, May 8.—Rev. Frank Baker, pastor of the Sixth Street M. E. Church, in this city, today suffered a paralytic stroke, and is in a critical condition. His mind is said to be affected. Rev. Baker was well known in San Francisco and Oakland, in which cities he formerly preached.

Another Rich Alaskan Strike.

SEATTLE (Wash.) [Exclusive Dispatch.] A new strike on Ophir Creek, on the Inooko river, Alaska, is one of the richest in the North, according to a letter from Michael Connelan, written at Gerdi City, which is named after Ole Gerdi, who made the discovery. The dirt on Gerdi's claim, Connelan says, averages from $1 to $1.50 to the pan, and it is now impossible to get a location nearer this claim than fifteen miles. Gerdi holds his claim at $200,000. There is no opportunity to acquire claims as the owners are excited and are demanding impossible prices.

BRITISH MUDDLE.

LEGAL ATTACKS ON KING EDWARD.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 1.—During the five or six days that elapsed between the resignation of Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman as Prime Minister, and the appointment of Mr. Asquith as his successor, this great country was practically without a government. The King ruled alone without a ministry, and he was out of the country enjoying himself at Biarritz. To him Mr. Asquith journeyed, to "kiss hands" and receive the appointment to the highest office in the land, under the crown, leaving the country, meanwhile, to run itself, which, by the way, it did, very comfortably.

Experts in that mighty mystery the British constitution, maintain that the King should have come home at once, and that Mr. Asquith should not have been required to go to him. They contend that he has violated the constitution. The fact that there is no means of determining that question has called attention to the strange lack of any hard and fast agreement between the King and his subjects as to what are his duties. Nowhere is it set down in black and white just what British sovereigns may and may not do. Such momentous things are left to work out themselves, and somehow they do work out all right.

There was published recently a letter from Lord Knollys, the King's private secretary, taking a provincial politician to task for having publicly quoted some alleged remarks of the King which would indicate that he was a fiscal reformer. The injudicious orator was reminded that the Sovereign never expresses a political opinion except through his responsible ministers. Every two or three months a similar letter gets published squelching some zealous partisan who tries to create the impression that the King is on his side.

Stupendous as are the powers of the crown—at least in theory—they are subject to some curious limitations and restrictions. None of them is more striking than that which forbids the King openly to dabble in politics. He is about the only man in the kingdom who is denied the privilege of expressing an opinion on legislative questions. It might add something to the enjoyment which the average American visitor derives from witnessing a debate in the House of Commons did he know that the permission which is granted him would be denied to the King. His Majesty is not allowed, even as a spectator merely, to be present at the discussions of his "faithful Commons." Although the law assumes his presence at every session to sanction legislation, he cannot appear in Parliament except when he comes in state to the House of Lords for the exercise of his prerogative of opening or proroguing Parliament. His presence on any other occasion would be regarded as an unconstitutional attempt to influence legislation by overawing the assembly. As Prince of Wales, the King, from a seat in the Peers' gallery, often listened to debates in the Lower House, but something awful would happen should he venture even to put his head inside the door now.

The King is popularly supposed to have a great deal to do with international politics, and undoubtedly he wields a deal of influence in that field, especially when it comes to fixing up entente cordiales and that sort of thing, but all the same he has to play the game as his masters in such matters—the Ministry—may direct. He may write as freely as he pleases to foreign sovereigns on family matters, the condition of the weather, or any of the ordinary topics of epistolary correspondence, but if he ventures to discuss affairs of state with them he must submit his letters to the Prime Minister or the Foreign Secretary, and they edit them to suit their own ideas. As a matter of fact, nearly all letters of this kind are written for the King at the Foreign Office, and he merely signs them.

Similarly, communications on state matters from any of his brother sovereigns—officially all monarchs are brothers—are required to pass through the hands of the Ministry. When the Duke of Wellington was Prime Minister, he heard that King George IV had received a letter from the King of Prussia, requesting him to vote for Prince Charles of Mecklenburg to be King of Greece, which had just wrested its independence from the Turks, and that King George had agreed to do so. The result was, the King received a wigging from the Iron Duke, and promised not to do it again. And the King of Prussia was informed by the British Minister at Berlin that His Britannic Majesty would act in the matter solely in accordance with the advice of his responsible minister.

Whatever influence the King exercises in politics must be sub rosa. He must not participate openly in the game. He must not be found out. It is a breach of order in both Houses of Parliament to even mention the name of the sovereign with a view to affecting the course of legislation. In 1782 a resolution was adopted by the House of Commons declaring it to be a "high crime and misdemeanor" and various other evil things to report any "opinion or pretended opinion" of His Majesty on any matter before Parliament for the purpose of influencing votes. There is no record of anybody ever having been punished for it, though. Nowadays the worst that befalls the offender is a snubbing administered by Lord Knollys.

Under penalty of forfeiting the crown the King is expressly prohibited from doing two things in which freedom of choice is permitted the meanest of his subjects. He must not marry a "Papist" or turn Roman Catholic himself. The Bill of Rights, passed in 1689 by the first Parliament after the Revolution, was explicit on these points. According to its provisions, the sovereign who should offend in either particular thereby deprives himself of all "regal power, authority or jurisdiction," and all of his subjects are "absolved of their allegiance." The crown passes to his nearest legal and Protestant heir, just "as though he were naturally dead."

But the limitations placed on the powers of the King exist in the main only in unwritten law. This is a democratic monarchy in fact, but in theory it is something very different. Most of the ancient and far-reaching prerogatives of the crown have never been repealed, and Edward the Seventh is theoretically the absolute ruler of millions. Under the English Constitution he is the preëminent executive authority of the land. He might shatter the empire without violating the letter, at least, of the law. He has supreme command of all the naval forces, and could sell every British vessel and every British gun. He could make somebody a present of the accumulation of naval stores and disband the navy completely. He could dismiss every official, non-commissioned officer and man in the army, from the commander-in-chief down, and practically discharge all the civil servants in the kingdom. He can make war with any country, and purchase peace at any price.

No act of government can be complete without the King. He is head of the State, head of the Legislature, head of the church, head of the army, head of the navy. He alone can make money, order it to be made; he could make sovereigns of lead and give them the stamp of the royal mint. He could make every subject in the United Kingdom, male or female, a peer, and none of them could legally decline their titles. He can appoint any person to any office of authority, and nobody has the right to refuse to be Prime Minister if called upon so to act by the King.

It is an old saying that the King can do no wrong, but it is not generally known that this is actually and literally the case in England as far as the King and the law are concerned. He could not be held personally responsible for any crime which he might commit. Any injury which he may inflict on a subject is attributed by the law to the mistakes of his advisers. There is no process known to the law by which he can be compelled to pay his debts if he should choose to shirk such obligations. His goods cannot be distrained or his property sold.

He has the power of the remission of punishments for all crimes, because he himself is the offended party, inasmuch as it is always the "King's peace" that is broken. He can sue anybody, but nobody can sue him. It is in his name that most of the prosecutions are instituted. Yet notwithstanding this he cannot appear personally in any of the courts, or personally decide any case, civil or criminal. He may not appear even as a witness.

But the doing of the things he is prohibited from doing would not start anything like the rumpus that would be raised if he did some of the things he is not prohibited from doing—things which the constitution gives him the power to do. He would lose his billet in no time if he should assume a mere fraction of his constitutional rights. Nothing is clearer than the King's right to pardon criminal offenders, but he dare not pardon anybody without the advice and consent of his ministers. George IV was the last English monarch who undertook, without having first obtained the approval of his ministers, to exercise the prerogative of mercy. In 1830, an Irishman of good family named Comyns was convicted of arson and sentenced to death. George, on his own responsibility, reprieved him. That was interfering with the functions of the Home Secretary, and Peel, who was filling the office at that time, addressed a strong remonstrance to His Majesty. Wellington, who was Prime Minister, read the riot act to him in a personal interview. The King yielded, revoked his order and the man was hanged.

Nowadays the King reigns, but he must not govern. Nor, though the constitution confers on him almost unlimited powers, would the slightest interference with the business of governing be tolerated. Occasionally exceeding the legal speed limit when in a hurry to get somewhere on his motor car, is about the only one of his prerogatives of which Edward VII avails himself. His chief business as a King consists in signing a lot of documents, the vast majority of which he never even reads. He signs on an average 150 a day—considerably over 50,000 a year. It must be a source of great satisfaction to him that he has to sign only one of the long string of names that have been conferred on him. If he had to put them all down his job would be a hard one.

King Edward VII Preparing to Buckle Down to Work.
He has to sign on an average over a hundred and fifty documents a day, most of which he never reads.

NEED MORE SHIPS, FEWER STATESMEN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—Rear-Admiral Evans bade a personal farewell to the officers of his command at the banquet given tonight in honor of the visit of the Atlantic fleet, by the city of San Francisco.

He was wheeled into the room, and in a characteristic fifteen-minute address, declared that what is needed to preserve the peace of the world is more battleships and fewer statesmen.

As to armor belts, the admiral declared it made no difference whether they were at the waterline or whether they were made of leather, wood or egg shells.

"It is the men who can shoot the straightest and stand punishment the longest who win battles," he declared.

"And it is of such stuff that the American navy is made."

Admiral Evans was cheered time and time again.

FIRE DESTROYS ATLANTA HOTELS.

BUSINESS BLOCKS SUFFER MILLION AND HALF DAMAGE.

Guests Escape but One of Largest Hostelries in Georgia Capital Is in Ruins and Stores and Factories Are Wiped Out—Poor Water Pressure Handicaps Firemen.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ATLANTA (Ga.) May 8.—Two solid business blocks of Atlanta are in ruins today as the result of a fire which threatened for a time to carry its destruction through the business section of the city and perhaps wipe out the entire downtown district.

The fire loss may be conservatively estimated at $1,500,000. The Terminal Hotel, one of the largest in the city, is a mass of bricks. It had on its register 200 guests when the fire started a block away. Every one escaped.

Near by were several other small hotels, and in these there was no loss of life. The fire started in the Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Company, Madison and Nelson streets, early this morning. The wagons had just started away with their early morning load of bakestuff when the alarm was given, and an attempt was made to start the electric elevator in the Schlesinger building to awaken the employés asleep there.

The elevator failed to respond to the starting mechanism and the fire authorities believe the fire may have been due to some defect in the electric elevator.

When the first fire company arrived the building was a mass of flames. Chief Cummings immediately turned in a general alarm. Flames were shooting from every window of the big building that ran the entire block from Nelson to Mitchell streets, on Madison, and were leaping high in the air from the middle of the building. The water pressure was poor, and the firemen could not get a stream that would carry above the second floor.

WALLS FALL.

Half an hour after the fire started threatening walls made it necessary to remove the engines on the Mitchell-street side of the Schlesinger building, as fifty firemen with streams of water playing upon them dragged the machines to a place of safety. Meanwhile high-power trolley and electric-light wires were falling, everywhere parts of walls were dropping out, and with the high wind pervailing, the flames were shot across the street to the Terminal Hotel, which acted as a sort of a flue for the fire.

Floor after floor of the Terminal Hotel was soon ablaze. The firemen were fought back until they were in the rear of the Terminal building, where lack of water again retarded any effort to check the fire. Within half an hour the walls and the roofs of the hotel had fallen in.

Spreading from Madison street to Nelson street, the fire ate its way to the Liquid Carbonic Company's structure, a five-story building to the east, and within a short space of time there were two terrific explosions, which seemed to carry all retaining walls and the roof of this building to the basement.

Next to the Carbonic company's building was the Inman Block, which faced on Forsythe street. The building was a three-story structure extending from Nelson street on Forsythe north to Mitchell, and contained nine or ten business concerns. A narrow alley separated the Inman block from the fire, and it was soon a mass of flames, and fire company after fire company was drawn away from other spots, and their combined forces applied here, for it was at this point that the fire was to be stopped from crossing Mitchell and Forsythe streets and burning further into the city.

East of Terminal Hotel on Mitchell was the Marion Hotel Annex and the Childs Hotel. The fire stopped, after ruining the latter hotel. Across the street, the postoffice station D, the most important substation in the city, the Southern Suspender Company, and the Southern Handkerchief Manufacturing Company, the Georgia Vehicle Company, the Piedmont Hat Company, and McClure's 10-cent store, all fell away like so many cigar boxes.

METHODISTS ARE AMUSED.

WHISKY ADVERTISEMENTS IN CONFERENCE.

Pamphlet Issued as a Souvenir and Stamped With the Compliments of a Leading Business Man of Baltimore, Who Was Formerly a Methodist Minister, Causes a Stir.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BALTIMORE (Md.) May 8.—In the Methodist Episcopal conference today something of a sensation, and not a little amusement, was created when Delegate B. Lee Pagett of Portland, Or., arose and denounced as "obscene and obnoxious" some literature that had been distributed among the delegates.

The offending matter proved to be advertisements of certain whiskies, contained in a pamphlet issued as a souvenir of the Jamestown exposition and setting forth the resources of Maryland and industries of Baltimore. The books were stamped with the compliments of a leading business man of this city, who was formerly a Methodist minister.

Bishop Goodsell in the chair cut off discussion by saying that the hour of adjournment had arrived.

Giving advancing years as his reason, Dr. J. M. Thoburn, Missionary Bishop of Bombay, India, today asked the conference to retire him from active service.

His request, which was referred to the commission on episcopacy, created a deep impression among the delegates, who testified their regard for him by rising and applauding him.

Bishop Goodsell presided today. A large number of memorials were handed up from the various conferences. Mrs. Florence D. Richards of the Central Ohio conference secured the unanimous adoption of a resolution appealing to Congress to submit to the States an amendment to the Constitution prohibiting polygamy. The resolution points out that two such propositions are before the United States Senate.

Bishop William F. Oldham of Singapore, read the report of the Mission Society Bishops of Southern Asia. The effect of the victory of Japan over Russia in their war, the report said, is registered in the thinking of every Asiatic. National and racial self-consciousness everywhere has been quickened. In the Malay archipelago, the report continued, the increased power of Japan is dimly felt to be a threat rather than an incitement, and reported experiences of Formosa and Korea lend stability to European rule. In the Philippines at first the Japanese success produced some wild talk, but the American concession of a larger degree of self-government than has yet been vouchsafed to a dominated people in the history of nations, together with the object lesson of how Asiatics may fare at the hands of other Asiatics has made for a degree of contentment with the American programme that could scarcely have been looked for at the beginning of the quadrennium. There was a larger stride toward democracy in the Far East during the quadrennium than in any half century, or possibly any century, in the past.

SUMMARY OF CROP REPORTS.

Department of Agriculture Also Gives Figures on California and Oregon Wheat Prospects.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The Department of Agriculture, in its summary of the May crop reports issued today, places the total area of winter wheat standing on May 1 to be harvested at 29,751,000 acres, which is 412 per cent., or 1,318,000 acres, less than are reported as sown last fall, and 5.8 per cent., or 1,619,000 acres, more than the area of winter wheat harvested last year.

The average condition of the growing winter wheat crop on May 1 was 89 per cent. of normal, as compared with 91.3 per cent. April 1 and 92.2 per cent. on May 1, 1905.

In California and Oregon the percentage of the area sown last fall which has been abandoned, the area remaining on May 1, and the condition of winter wheat on the date indicated, are:

California, percentage abandoned, 25.6; area remaining, 987,000; condition May 1, 1908, 60; average, 82.

Oregon, percentage abandoned, 2.5; area remaining, —; condition May 1, 1908, —; average, 96.

Two Regiments of Japanese Infantry Leave Tokio, Prepared for Possible Emergency.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

TOKIO, May 8.—The Twenty-third and Twenty-seventh regiments of infantry will proceed to Korea on May 14 to cope with any possible emergency.

Baron Sone, vice-president general in Korea, in an interview in the Ji-Ji Shimpo, is quite outspoken in regard to the disturbed condition in Korea and recommends drastic measures to suppress the agitation against Japan.

Baron Sone's return home is generally believed to be connected with important political changes in Korea.

CHINA ANSWERS JAPAN.

Mooted Railroad Question Is Discussed—England Joins in Protest on Boycott.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PEKIN, May 8.—The Chinese government today handed in a formal reply to Japan's protest against the construction of Tsinmintun Fakumen Railroad.

Baron Hayashi, the Japanese Minister, has handed into the foreign board the name of four Chinese merchants who are officially promoting the boycott movements against Japanese goods, and he asks that they be suppressed.

Acting upon advices received from London, the British Consul has directed the Consul-General at Canton to advise the Canton Viceroy to suppress the boycott.

The foreign board has asked the assistance of the French Minister to China in the suppression of the several rebels, who, according to a telegram from the Governor of Yunan province have captured the Loahu Pass on the Tonking border, and who possess French arms and who have been trained by Frenchmen.

CLEVELAND BANK FAILS.

Euclid Avenue Trust Company Makes Assignment—Other Institutions Are not Affected.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CLEVELAND (O.) May 8.—The Euclid Avenue Trust Company of this city today made an assignment to the Cleveland Trust Company in the insolvency court. No statement of assets or liabilities is given. The last statement issued gave the assets, $1,700,000; liabilities, $1,700,000.

J. H. Madigan, County Treasurer, is president of the trust company. It is stated that this was the only financial institution in the city that had to be assisted by the associated banks during the recent panic.

It is believed the depositors will be paid in full. It is possible, however, that the stockholders will suffer more or less loss.

It is said the trust company had been financially weak for several months and the failure would have no effect on any other bank in Cleveland.

RIDICULES BRYAN MEN.

Minnesota Democratic Delegation Will Be for Johnson Despite Threats, Says Chairman.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PAUL, May 8.—Chairman Day of the Democratic State Commitee today ridiculed the threat of the Bryan men to hold a rival convention and send a contesting delegation to Denver.

He said that the Bryan men have probably carried but six counties, with a total of fifty-nine votes, and that in no event will they have more than 100 of the 935 votes in the State convention. He added:

"We are going to Denver with a Johnson delegation, and the Bryanites can do what they please. We will not recognize them in any way. If any of their number are in the convention, and show to be entitled to a seat they will get courteous treatment."

A conference of the Bryan leaders will be held Saturday.

F. A. Pike, secretary of the Minnesota Bryan volunteers, said there would be contests from Polk and Wasco counties, and porbably from Henepin and St. Louis. He added that a rival State convention was more than probable.

New York Shorts Rush to Protect Their Contracts When Government Report Is Given Out.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The government crop report today upset all calculations in the local wheat market, causing a rush of shorts to buy to protect their contracts.

Prices jumped about 3 cents a bushel in the last hour and exporters bought everything in sight, taking nearly a million bushels on the fear of a small crop of winter wheat.

Owing to light stocks here May corn advanced to 83 cents a bushel, a gain of 3 cents over last night's closing and a new high record for the present crop.

ARREST ENDS FLIGHT.

Five Days' Chase Across Desert Leads to Capture of Escaped Convict by Lone Guard.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Fleeing for five days across the desert of Nevada south of here on a horse he stole from the State penitentiary, Emmett Berry, a nineteen-year-old convict, was captured fourteen miles from Bridgeport, Cal., early today.

Charles Hagerman, the prison guard, who alone of the posse kept up the pursuit, took the escaped convict unaided. Berry, almost dead from loss of food and sleep, fell from his saddle as the guard came on him.

The youthful convict was taken to jail in Bridgeport. He will be extradited. Berry broke prison by jumping on a horse that had been ridden into the penitentiary yards by the cowherder. He rode into the sagebrush and, night coming on, was soon lost to sight. His trail was followed throughout the southwestern part of the State.

All the pursuers but Hagerman gave up the chase. Lack of telegraphic communication prevented the prison authorities notifying the people living in the sparsely settled counties of Berry's identity. The convict traded horses at Bridgeport last night and had a fresh mount when arrested.

DUNDEE ALL EXCITEMENT.

Sixteen Thousand of the Nineteen Thousand Electors, It Is Expected, Will Vote Today.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EDINBURGH, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Dundee election for member of Parliament will take place tomorrow.

The excitement is more intense than ever, and the many open-air meetings block traffic in the streets. The Labor candidate, who is strongly anti-Liberal, and the Unionist candidate, will be supported by the liberals, while the prohibition candidate expects to take away votes from voters from Churchill. The constituency numbers 19,000, of whom 16,000 are expected at the election tomorrow.

Impartial observers are of opinion that Mr. Churchill will morrow by a moderate majority.

DEMOCRATS APPROVE.

FAVOR PRESIDENTIAL

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 8.—The ence of Governors of States in the conservation of the resources of the country, which place at the White House 13th to the 15th, inclusive month, is strongly approved of the Democratic candidate Presidency, William J. Bryan Johnson of Minnesota, and ciate Justices Harlan and of the Supreme Court of the States.

Their views as to the the subject are contained in to President Roosevelt, in his letter inviting them to conference.

NEW EVIDENCE.

IMPLICATED IN WOLFF MURDER.

EX-CONVICT SEEN IN PAWNSHOP SHORTLY BEFORE CRIME.

Reputable Farmer's Declaration to Attorney Who Declined to Aid Defense May Free Prisoner Martin by Shifting Accusation Upon Another Who Has Left Town.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

PORTLAND (Or.) May 8.—Attorney McGarry, who was invited to the home of one of the counsel to defend Ed H. Martin, under charge of the alleged murder of Nathan Wolff last Friday evening, and who declined to offer to participate in the defense of the accused man, today injected into the mystery what may develop into evidence which will free Martin from the terrible accusation resting against him, or show that he was not alone in the alleged murder of the pawnbroker.

McGarry went before the police authorities and related that a reputable farmer named Thomas Dodson, residing near Oregon City, had reported to him that he had seen a man named Grimes in Wolff's store on the evening of the murder. Dodson says he knows Grimes to be an ex-convict, who had served a term in the Folsom penitentiary for an assault upon a pawnbroker in San Francisco.

Detectives have been sent to interview Dodson. It is alleged that Grimes was seen leaving the city on foot on Saturday morning.

Acting as a grand jury today, Deputy District Attorney John H. Stevenson took the testimony of six detectives against Martin, and decided that the evidence in the hands of the police was sufficient to warrant his further detention. Regarded yesterday as emphatic, today the testimony of A. W. Fields, who stated that he saw Martin in Wolff's store on the evening of the crime, is looked upon as only partly conclusive, as Fields will not now swear positively he saw Martin, but that the man "looked like him."

CORONER CHARGES MURDER.

SUSPECT PROTESTS INNOCENCE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) May 8.—The Coroner's jury investigating the violent death of Mrs. Anna Aldrich returned a verdict that her death was caused from blows of a blunt instrument in the hands of persons unknown.

William Barnes, the man accused of the atrocious murder of the aged woman, does not know that the body has been found or the mattox handle with which the crime is believed to have been committed is in the hands of the police.

Barnes protests that the woman will be found alive, and that he is innocent.

STUDENTS PAY DAMAGES.

RIOTING CHARGES DROPPED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ANN ARBOR (Mich.) May 8.—The charges of rioting preferred against fifteen University of Michigan students as a result of the student outbreak on March 16, when a mob of 200 students attacked and wrecked the Star Theater, were dismissed today, after the students had reimbursed the county to the amount of $208.50 for expenses and paid $1000 for division among persons whose property was destroyed in the outbreak.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SANTA PAULA, May 8.—Some time early this morning, the safe in the West Saticoy postoffice, six miles west of here, was blown open and about $50 cash, together with a quantity of stamps and money orders was taken. There ins no clew to the perpetrators. Nitroglycerine was evidently used on the safe.

YOUTH GUILTY OF FORGERY.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SANTA BARBARA, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A. G. Winsor, 22 years old, was tonight found guilty of forgery, after a trial lasting two days. Winsor was convicted of intercepting money orders from mails addressed to J. D. Wismer, and passed one for $100 on a local merchant. He will be sentenced Monday. Winsor's wife created a scene in court today when the accused admitted that after he passed the money order he went to Los Angeles with a woman named Justine Rosenthal. Mrs. Winsor was prostrated, and was carried from court.

FIREMEN CONFESS CRIME.

WANT TO HOLD JOBS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NORFOLK (Va.) May 8.—Four members of the Jamestown Exposition fire department and two of the Powhattan guard were today held to the grand jury on the charge of arson. Two of the men filed written confessions that they started the fire on the grounds which destroyed the Philippine villages and other villages ten days ago. They said it was understood that Fire Chief Miller had recommended a cut in both force and salaries, and they thought a fire would demonstrate the value of both the firemen and guards for the grounds.

NOTED ALIENIST DEAD.

Dr. J. Sanderson Christison, Witness in Several Murder Trials, Commits Suicide.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. J. Sanderson Christison, a noted alienist and writer and a student of hypnotism and criminology, committed suicide today by locking himself in his rooms and turning on three gas jets.

Dr. Christison formerly was connected with the New York hospitals for the insane, and for years had been a close student, especially of hypnotism in its relation to criminology. He was the author of many treatises on these subjects.

He was the author of two particularly well-known books—"Crime and Criminals" and "Brain in Relation to Mind."

In the last few months Dr. Christison appeared in the McDonald, Constantine and Billek trials. He also wrote a book, the purport of which was that Richard G. Ivens was innocent of the murder of Mrs. Bessie Hollister, for which he was hanged.

CRIME BRIEFS.

Warrant Out for Business Man.

SEATTLE (Wash.) May 8.—On a complaint filed by Jean Romane, proprietor of the American Auto Machine Works, Prosecuting Attorney Kenneth McIntosh this morning issued a warrant for the arrest of C. C. Holcom, a prominent Seattle man, now living in San Francisco. The charge is obtaining money under false pretenses and the amount involved is $2550.

Accuses Half-Brother of Murder.

SPOKANE (Wash.) May 8.—A special to the Chronicle from Paso, Wash., says: "Berto Watson, one of the tramps held on suspicion of killing Brakeman Sam Price by throwing him from a moving train, has confessed that his half-brother, Mace Smith, pushed Price off the car. Smith is in custody but denies the charge."

Accidental Death and Suicide.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 8.—In the case of Frank Wagner and his daughter Maggie, killed last evening, the Coroner's jury today returned a verdict to the effect that the girl's shooting herself was accidental and that Wagner, in grief and remorse, killed himself.

RECEIVER SUES HEINZE.

Asks Supreme Court to Require Ex-copper Magnate and Clements to Account for Stock.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Suit has been brought in the Supreme Court by Robert Lyons, as receiver of the Aetna Banking and Trust Company, through his attorneys, Blandy, Mooney and Shipman, against F. Augustus Heinze and Abner B. Clements.

The receiver asks the court to confirm his application of $100,000 paid by Heinze to E. T. Wilson, as the acting receiver, to the payment of the bank's obligations. He also asks that the payment for the capital stock in the bank by means of certain notes be declared fraudulent and that it be set aside.

The plaintiff also asks that the defendants be required to account for the face value of the stock which was valued at $100,000. He also asks that the payments by Heinze of the sums $2500, $4000 and $37,462 be held to have been fictitious and fraudulent and that the defendants be held accountable for them.

NOTABLE CONVENTION.

Wholesale Grocers' Association Will Take up Important Matters and Hear Prominent Speakers.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, May 8.—The annual convention of the National Wholesale Grocers' Association, at Atlantic City, June 3 to 5, inclusive, is expected to be the greatest gathering of food purveyors ever held in the country. It will represent something like nine-tenths of the entire grocery trade of the country and delegates will be present from every State in the country, probably numbering more than 1000.

A committee from the New York and Philadelphia associations are hard at work making plans for the session and the programme just issued by Secretary A. H. Beckmann, indicates something of the importance of the commercial questions to be considered during the convention.

The convention will be held at the Marlborough-Blenheim Hotel, in the big ballroom. The first session will be called to order Tuesday morning, June 3, at 11:30, when President William Judson, of Grand Rapids, Mich., will occupy the chair. The invocation will be pronounced by Rev. Stanley Goodman, and addresses made by Vice-President F. W. Stanley and others.

On Thursday evening there will be a big banquet in the Marlborough-Blenheim, when speakers of national reputation will address the convention, Frederick R. Drake, of Easton, Pa., will be toastmaster and among the speakers will be United States Treasurer Charles H. Treat, Dr. H. W. Wiley, the government food expert, and others of like prominence.

The sessions of Friday will be devoted to miscellaneous business, the election of officers and the selection of the place for the next session.

From the advance registration of members and others, it is believed the convention will be the largest grocery gathering ever held, and its representative character the most important.

THAW MAY BE FREED.

Counsel Questions Legality of His Commitment to Matteawan State Insane Hospital.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

POUGHKEEPSIE (N. Y.) May 8.—Counsel for Harry K. Thaw today filed a traverse to the return on Thaw's writ of habeas corpus. The chief question raised by the traverse is the constitutionality of Thaw's commitment to the Matteawan State Hospital. It is alleged that the return made by Dr. Amos T. Baker is invalid, null and void. It is claimed that the commitment is insufficient for Thaw's further detention because it does not show that Thaw was ever arraigned before Justice Dowling, who made the commitment, or that any witnesses were produced or examined in his presence; or that Thaw had any opportunity to deny the charge of insanity; or that his going at large would be dangerous to public safety.

Should Justice Morschauer decide that Thaw was not constitutionally committed to Matteawan he probably would order Thaw discharged without any inquiry as to his sanity.

URGES HEALTH DEPARTMENT.

Dr. Lindley of California Emphasizes Importance of Innovation at Any Cost.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

RICHMOND (Va.) May 8.—The establishment by the United States government of a public health department and the appointment of a board of control for the management of United States prisoners were advocated today at section meetings of the National Conference of Charities and Corrections.

Dr. Walter Lindley, of California, speaking at the public health section, said that the conference should urge Congress to provide a proper health department, even if it was necessary to amend the Constitution.

M'CORMICK ON STAND.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) May 8.—Cyrus H. McCormick, president of the International Harvester Company, completed his testimony today in the hearing of the ouster suit.

Mr. McCormick told further of the organization of the International Harvester Company of New Jersey. He said that of the $120,000,000 capital stock, $20,000,000 was contributed by J. P. Morgan & Co. of New York, and the other $100,000,000 by five harvester companies whose property was sold to the company, and was appraised at $58,000,000.

He said the company had expended $15,000,000 since 1902 in betterments and that dividends amounting to $22,200,000 had been paid in the past five years by the New Jersey company.

DELLER TWIRLS SHUTOUT GAME.

Los Angeles Whitewashed in One-sided Contest.

Randolph Trounced by Van Haltren's Oaks.

Two Bad Innings for "Red" Accounts for Loss.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Los Angeles took a slump, today. That Thursday defeat was bad enough but the Friday shutout was more crushing, for it meant the loss of first place among the clubs of the Pacific Coast League. The Angels did not have enough of a lead in percentage to count for much, and when the Oaklanders treated them to a 6 to 0 defeat, their hopes were shattered.

The inability of the Angels to bunch their hits off Deller, late of Tacoma, but now a Commuter and the ease with which Ruby Randolph was made a bright and shining mark by the Van Haltren artillery, tells the entire story of how that game was won and lost.

There were two errors in the course of the game, but they in no way affected the result of the score. The Commuters came by their runs honestly and because of timely swatting and it was in part their fielding, as well as the steady pitching of Deller that held Los Angeles down.

Randolph was good by fits and starts. In the fourth inning, three hits brought two Oakland runs and in the eighth, he suffered another bombardment of five hits, one of them a clean double, which brought in four more of the scores. It was a quick, snappy game, played in good time and without disagreeable features.

Only once did Los Angeles have what looked like a chance and when they passed up the third inning with the bases full and but one man out, they had lost their opportunity. Dillon's crew did not play the same class of ball as the Oaklands at any stage of the game. Twice were Angel players caught napping off first and the winners pulled off a double play that took the enthusiasm out of the visitors.

The one solitary chance for Los Angeles was in the third. With Delmas down, Easterly hit to short and Randolph walked. Oakes hit to right field, filling the sacks, but Wheeler forced Easterly at the plate, and Hosp hit a short fly that was easily handled by Hogan at first.

First Baseman Hogan and Catcher Slattery of Oakland divided the hitting honors. Hogan made more hits, but Slattery scored three of the runs.

In the fourth, after Hogan singled and was scored by Jimmy Smith, "Dutch" Altman hit over second base. Haley made the second out, but Slattery proved himself the pinch-sticker, sending the ball into deep center for two bases, scoring both Jimmy Smith and Altman.

The real fireworks came in the eighth. Van Haitren, first at bat, retired on a fly. Heitmuller hit a hot one through the infield to center, and after Hogan's hit to right, Heine was scored as Jimmy Smith poked a two-bagger past first base. Altman hit to the infield, and Hogan beat the ball to the plate. Haley's safe hit scored Jimmy Smith and Slattery wound up the procession by sending Altman home from third on a hard hit ball to right that struck the fence. That ended the scoring, but it was enough.

Dillon was troubled with rheumatism, which accounted for the substitution of Brashear at first, and the placing of Pitcher Hosp in right field. Oakland also had a slight change, Jimmy Smith playing left field for the first time since the Coast League season opened, and Cook still filling shortstop in place of Truck Eagan. The score:

POMONA CONFIDENT.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

CLAREMONT, May 8.—Confident of victory, the 'varsity nine will go to Highland Park tomorrow to meet Occidental in the opening game of the intercollegiate series. Because of Occidental's recent defeats, Capt. Mahoney and Coach Pierce expect their team to defeat Goheen's squad by a fairly large score.

The one thing that worries the Claremonters is the fact that Thacker will be in the box for the first time this season. Last year the Pomonans had difficulty in connecting with his curves. This year, however, the sagebrush college is represented by a stronger bunch of batters than ever before.

Gally, Pomona's best pitcher, will be in the box and Craig, a freshman from Ontario, will catch. Gally has been twirling well this season, and, with proper support, he is expected to hold the Occidentalites down to a few hits.

Rogers is an experiment on first base, but has been doing fairly creditable work in that position so far. The main defect of the Pomona team is the erratic infield, which goes to pieces at critical times. Graf, on third base, is an exception. He is the star of the infield, and is also strong in stick work. Capt. Mahoney plays a good game in the short field, with Birdsall on second base.

Tonight Capt. Mahoney had not yet picked his outfield, but Neuls, Hitchcock, Prizer and Panhoe will be taken along. McDermott has quit baseball temporarily because of college work.

BIMINI TEAM IS BEST.

Defeats L.A.A.C. Water Polo Aggregation by One Point—Venice Ties Redondo.

Bimini Baths defeated the L.A.A.C. in a fast exhibition of water polo at the local plunge, last night, the score being 1 to 0. Both teams were handicapped by the absence of regular players, Holborow of the winners and Watlington of the Athletics being in the north. Two seven-minute periods were played and the single tally was made in the opening half. The game was played under protest, the baths team claiming Cowan, the Catalina Island crack of the L. A. Club, to be a professional. Barnwell and Jack Watlington were the strong players and the substitutes showed up well in their first appearance. Line-up:

Bimini Baths		L.A.A.C.
Barnwell	sprint	L. Brown
Shannon	forward	Whalen
Shultz	forward	Dashett
Crumm	goal tender	J. Watlington
Collins	back	Moore
Townsend	back	Cowan

At the Venice plunge, the home team played a tie game with Redondo, the score being 1 to 1. A good crowd was in attendance and the play was exciting throughout.

OVERWHELMED.

U.S.C. BEATS WHITTIER.

The U.S.C. baseball team defeated the Whittier College nine yesterday afternoon on Hadley Field, Whittier, by the score of 22 to 7.

The Methodists commenced the run getting in the initial session by sending nine runs across the plate, and in the seventh they scored seven tallies.

Errors were mainly responsible for the large score, but after that first inning short, the boy phenom twirler, became discouraged and ineffective, and nineteen hits were made off his delivery. The game was so one-sided that it furnished little interest. Pickett's home run drive on a line to deep center was the best hit of the day.

The Quakers went into the game very much crippled by the absence of Peeler and, Allen, and expected defeat, but hoped to make a better showing than they did. Newby, who had never played an intercollegiate game before, was placed at short in Allen's place, but was changed to left field after the first inning, Holton going from third to short, and Pickitt coming in from left field to third.

HIGH SCHOOL GAMES.

DOUBLE-HEADER AT CHUTES.

A double-header baseball game in the High School schedule will be played at Chutes Park this afternoon, the first contest to begin at 2 o'clock prompt. Polytechnic High School and Harvard School will cross bats in the first game, while Los Angeles High School and Throop will meet in the second contest. Harvard, Polytechnic and Los Angeles High are tied for first place in the percentage column, and the three teams will each do their best today to gain the supremacy. Jimmie Toman will officiate as umpire for both games.

Two games are arranged for next week in the prep series, Los Angeles High and Whittier High are to contest at Whittier, while Polytechnic and Throop will meet at Bovard Field, both games to be played Saturday. The line-up for the teams today follows:

Polytechnic.		Harvard.
Meione	catcher	Newman
Lafferty	pitcher	Stoll
Strang	first base	Dodson
Bibo	second base	Sharp
Rickershauser	third base	Thorpe
R. Pierce	shortstop	Canelo
Price	center field	Ruggens
Brown	right field	Ernstein
Second game:
L.A.H.S.		Throop.
Kelsey	catcher	Harris
Sexton	pitcher	Empree
Halbreiter	first base	Duarte
Winget	second base	Baird
Beamer	third base	Ellis
Wilson	shortstop	Vale
T. Howard	left field	Smith
Hirsch	center field	Arkwell
Coleman	right field	Hester

LAW SCHOOL WINS.

DEFEATS BUSINESS COLLEGE.

The Law School of U.S.C. defeated the Southern California Business College in baseball yesterday afternoon on Bovard Field by the score of 6 to 2. Briswalter twirled for the business nine, but because of poor support, lost the game on timely hits by the lawyers. McKnight and Barrett performed for the barristers, and held their opponents down to three scattered hits, netting a single run each in the second, fourth and ninth sessions.

The lawyers were held safe till the last of the fourth, when Dickinson and Kern circled the bags on errors, tying the score. In the seventh the lawyers connected for five hits and, assisted by two errors, scored four additional tallies. McKnight pulled his team out of a delicate position in the final inning. With two men on bases the school pitcher fanned Cardwell and Butler, and Newlin flew to short.

Yesterday's game redeems the poor showing of the collegians against Harvard School on Thursday, when the lawyers were defeated by the score of 7 to 2. The barristers will immediately disband as the press of examinations prevents further practice. The scheduled game with the dental college nine is canceled.

HOBSON INVITED.

POMONA AND OCCIDENTAL.

Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson was invited to pitch the first ball in the game between Occidental and Pomona this afternoon on the Presbyterian diamond, but on account of previous engagements he was forced to decline the invitation, although he regretted that he would not be able to attend the game. Hobson is a baseball enthusiast. He played the game during his college days and is a strong advocate of intercollegiate baseball.

The game will start at 2 o'clock. From past performances Pomona should take the Presbyterians into camp today by a good margin. Occidental has been playing ragged ball and two defeats at the hands of Whittier College, whom Pomona easily walloped, showed that the Presbyterian team was suffering from more than a temporary slump. However, Thacker, the Presbyterians' best pitcher, will be in the game for the first time with the full team behind him, and in spite of the apparent poor chance of victory, the Presbyterians have hopes of coming out on top. Bird will be back in the game and will strengthen the team.

Pomona has not scored a baseball victory over the Presbyterians for three years, and Occidental will fight hard to maintain her position of supremacy. The Presbyterians will have the advantage of playing on their own grounds and of having the support of a large crowd of rooters, although a fair-sized delegation will accompany the Claremont team to attend the annual intercollegiate oratorical contest in the evening as well as the baseball game.

The teams will line up as follows:

Pomona.		Occidental.
Craig	catcher	Johnson
Gally	pitcher	Thacker
Rogers	first base	Merrill
Birdsall	second base	Baer
Graf	third base	McKenney
Mahoney	shortstop	Wieman
Hitchcock
Panhoe	center field	Bird
Hitchcock	right field	McDowell
Prizer		Spring

Games at Long Beach.

LONG BEACH, May 8.—The first baseball team of Long Beach high will play the Santa Ana team, champions of Orange county, on the High School campus tomorrow afternoon. Doyle will be in the box for the locals. The second teams of Long Beach and Los Angeles Polytechnic High Schools will play a game in the morning.

Pices Go to Downey.

The Pico Heights baseball team is to go to Downey, Sunday, for a return game with the team of that place. The former game resulted in victory for Downey by a slight margin, but Pico Heights believe they can turn the trick this time. Line-ups:

Downey.		Pico Heights.
Lestuir	pitcher	Smith-Barnard
Witherspoon-Lane	catcher	Buck
W. Wierbach (c)	first base	Laprevote
Williams	second base	Bock
Freeman	third base	Fish
Broadbent	shortstop	Reeve (c)
C. Wierbach	center field	Curran
Church	right field	Lincoln

"THE TRIP AND THE TIP" is the subject of an article to appear in The Times Magazine the coming Sunday. It will be especially interesting to those intending to go abroad.

LOOKS BAD.

SPORTS FEAR TODAY'S BOUT.

Suspect Something by Odds on Sullivan-Ketchel Go.

No Reason Why Twin Should Be on Short End.

Both Pugs Are Reported in Good Condition.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] An utter absence of Sullivan money, together with a flood of coin to be placed on Stanley Ketchel under the instructions "at the best odds obtainable," forced betting last night in Corbett's poolrooms to 10 to 7, and in an O'Farrell-street resort, where bets are handled, to 10 to 6, on the thirty-five-round fight that will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Mission-street Arena, between Jack Twin Sullivan and Ketchel. Even at 10 to 7, there were few takers of the Sullivan end and what few scattering short-enders wanted to be taken care of were easily supplied. Unless there is a rush of Sullivan money, and nothing of the sort is anticipated, the odds bid fair to be permanently dropped to 10 to 6 and possibly 2 to 1 before the men enter the ring.

The betting is a condition that men about Fillmore-street resorts are unable to explain. Under fair conditions, with both men in the best of condition, Sullivan should be better than a 10-to-7 shot; in fact, that he should be as good as even money.

There certainly have been no rumors from the Sullivan camp that he had any trouble in making the weight. It was given out last night, both officially and from private sources, that Sullivan would be down to weight, even without resorting to the drying process that so many fighters find necessary.

If Sullivan found that he was not as fit as he had reason to believe he would be, such rumors would easily spread to the betting ring, but the middleweight and his brother both stated last night that Jack was in good condition; that if he lost to Ketchel, he would have no excuses to make, and that he expected to win.

Ketchel is in fine form and will make aggressive fighting from the start. The peculiar betting has somewhat reduced public interest in the contest.

WELSH ARRIVES.

SISTER ACTS AS MANAGER.

Freddie Welch, who is to fight Kid Brock before the Jeffries club on the afternoon of May 20, arrived here yesterday from Chicago, accompanied by his sister who comes as sisterly manager and cook. Welsh got busy with the Brock end of the scrap last night and articles were signed for the fight, which will be at twenty-five rounds, with the boys to make 125 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning, which will be about five hours before they enter the ring. Each one put up $500 to make the weight and the money will be for appearance also.

The boys will probably not start in training until Monday for they have plenty of time, the battle not coming off for three weeks from today. There will be one fifteen round preliminary but the pugs for this have not yet been selected.

M'CAREY'S CARD.

The next card at the Pacific Athletic club will be played May 19 and will consist of three ten-round bouts and one of six rounds. There will be thirty-six rounds of scrapping scheduled and this is a sufficiency that should make any of the local bugs yell for help.

The main event for this night will be ten rounds between Jimmy Walsh of Boston, bantam champion, and Eddie Menney. Walsh has beaten every boy in the 116 pound class and the pugs that beat him were heavier, for Walsh has had to concede weight in almost every one of his fights and in all probability Menney will be five pounds heavier than Walsh in the coming scrap. They are to fight at 120 pounds and the willingness with which Menney grabs at the match shows that he can make the required weight and be strong.

Another part of the card is ten rounds between Dale Gardner of San Francisco and Howard Baker and they will meet at about 140 pounds on a winner-take-all basis. This Baker is a protege of Bill Murphy and he was the one who proposed that the winner should take all the money.

It was proposed to put on Clarence English and Leonard Lauder for ten rounds at 133 pounds, but English is not in the best of shape and thought a visit to the springs would do him good.

CHANCE FOR PUGS HERE.

AMATEUR BOXING EVENTS.

Amateur boxers will have one of the chances of their lives to show what they can do next month in the amateur boxing night that will be given June 9 at the Pacific Athletic Club. This will be under the sanction of the A.A.U. and the winners in the feather, light and heavy weight classes will be given suitable medals. The contestants are to be picked from the best amateurs around Los Angeles and the scheme is expected to attract much attention from young boxers in this end of the State.

It is the intention to hold these amateur shows every two weeks and to sandwich them in with the professional fights that will be given by the club. Only real amateur boxers are to be allowed to compete and if any of the applicants do not belong to a club under the jurisdiction of the A.A.U., it will be necessary to sign an application blank, which will be sent to the investigating committee of the Pacific Amateur Association.

Independent League.

At a meeting of the Independent Baseball League, last night, the Belvidere team was granted entrance into the organization. The protested game between the Meeks and Pendo No. 1 was ordered played over again, the two contests counting as one.

Big Track Meet.

LONG BEACH, May 8.—The Pasadena and Long Beach Y.M.C.A. track meet is to be held at the Daisy-avenue school campus tomorrow. Long Beach entries are: The 100-yard, Thompson; 220 yards, Thomson, McMahon; 220-yard low hurdles, McMahon, Bentley, Thompson; high hurdles, Seward, Bentley; hammer-throw, Seward; running high jump, Seward; 880 yards, Dodd, Moffit, Robinson; pole vault, Seward, Middough; running broad jump, Richards, Dodd, McMahon.

CROKER WINS STAKES.

Rhodora Riddon by Lucien Lyne Adds Another Classic to American's Trophies.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 8.—The 1000 guineas stake at Newmarket was won by Richard Croker's Rhodora.

By capturing this event, Croker's brilliant 2-year-old filly has added another classic to the sporting trophies already captured by the American sportsman. She won today's event from a field of eighteen horses.

The event today was doubly an American victory, for Lucien Lyne, the American jockey, rode the winner. He displayed such judgment that Rhodora turned the tables on the favorite Kesbia, a horse that defeated the American filly in the Middle Park Plate last year, and that up to the present time never had been beaten.

Lyne lay behind Elm Twig until the bushes were reached. Here he drove his mount to the front and romped home two lengths ahead of Bracelet, with Ardentrive third. Only a neck separated Ardentrive and Courtesy, the fourth horse.

Mr. Croker was present to see his filly win, and King Edward and the Prince of Wales were also among the big crowd that witnessed the American victory.

EMERYVILLE RACES.

OCEAN QUEEN'S HANDICAP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 8.—In the first race at Emeryville today Ed Davis got through a lucky opening entering the stretch and after an early drive wore down Bernardo and ran over his field. Mont Clair outclassed his field and at the end was winning easily. Lord Filigrane closed strong to be second from the tiring Turnaway.

In the Emory handicap Ocean Queen shook off her field early and won, going away from Mabel Fountain. Results.

Five furlongs, selling: Ed Davis, 110 (Sandy,) won; Bernardo, 95 (A. Walsh,) second; Black Domino, 95 (Goldstein,) third; time, 1:01 1-5. Abraham, Karode, Princess Louise, St. Charles, Uncle Sam, Gaga, Sonalto, and Merritt Buxton finished as named.

Six furlongs, selling: Mont Clair, 115 (Goldstein,) won; Lord Filigrane, 105 (McIntyre,) second; Turnaway, 104 (Rettig,) third; time, 1:14 3-5. Sightly, Tullies, Bonheur, Be Thankful, Jeanette, Patriotic, San Olmo and Boas finished as named.

Futurity course, purse: Lord Nelson, 108 (W. Miller,) won; Nagazam, 108 (Rice,) second; May Amelia, 103 (Buxton,) third; time, 1:10. Sibari, Salvage, Marwood, Milpitas, May Pink, Be Lad, Come and Brian Brou finished as named.

GREAT TRACK MEET.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The greatest track meat ever held on the Pacific Coast will be pulled off tomorrow afternoon on the Stanford oval, when the best men in the West will compete in the Olympic try-outs for the selection of the American team to take part in the international games in London next July.

The entry list includes the best college, athletic club and prep school athletes on the Coast, and records should go before such an aggregation of stars as will meet here tomorrow. An unusual feature of interest will be the running of the track events in meters instead of yards, while the discus and javelin throws are added to the regular field events, as are the standing, broad and high jumps.

The fifteen-mile Marathon race will also be run on the roads around the campus, finishing on the track.

Among the entries are Ralph Rose, world champion shot putter; Glarner, Coast quarter record; Gillmore, junior champion shot put; Lanagan, Coast record pole vaulter; Himrod of Pomona, Coast record for the mile; Cheek, Coast record in the hurdles; Elliott, quarter-miler; Merriam, high jump; Dowd, half-mile; Horton, intercollegiate winner shot put; Harle, fifteen-mile runner; Connelly, two-mile Olympic Club athlete, and Gerhardt, Olympic Club sprinter.

Cricket Club Smoker.

The Los Angeles Cricket Club will give a "smoker" this evening at Mammoth Hall, in honor of having won the Southern California cricket challenge cup last year. Mayor Dudley of Santa Monica, who gave the cup, will be present with a large delegation from the beach city. Pat Higgins, captain of the champion Los Angeles club last year, will receive the cup, and defend it this year. An extensive programme has been arranged in addition to which there will be refreshments.

Santa Monica Date.

SANTA MONICA, May 8.—The Santa Monica High School baseball nine will play a game here tomorrow with the team from the Pasadena High School. This game, which is to be played on the Southern Pacific diamond, will be of the regular league series.

GOING SOME.

AGAIN LOWER AUTO RECORD.

Eleven Hours Cut from Two-Cylinder Mark.

Tire Trouble Consumes Much Valuable Time.

In a dash against time remarkably speedy for a low-powered automobile, the two-cylinder Auburn car which left the corner of Market and Guerrero streets in San Francisco yesterday morning at 1 o'clock, arrived at The Times building last night at 9:56 o'clock, having covered the distance in 20h. 56m. This breaks by a considerable margin the former two-cylinder record of 32h. 22m., made by Jacobs, in a Rambler, three years ago. Had the car not been delayed by tire trouble, it would have come close to the record recently established by the White.

The tire casings on the right rear wheel were pulled clear off the rim three times during the run, due to the skidding on taking sharp corners at the high rate of speed maintained. One other misfortune befell the drivers, the union on the gasoline supply pipe pulling open. Replacing the three tires and making a new connection in the gasoline pipe took up two hours and fifty minutes. Necessary stops for gasoline and water occupied twenty minutes, so that the time actually consumed on the road was 17h. 46m.

R. L. Forsyth, Harold Stone, C. E. Leroy, A. R. Davis and C. S. Kerr were the crew who drove the car through. Kerr drove the machine from San Francisco to San Juan, making very fast time. He equaled the time of the White record to San José, and made Gilroy, eighty miles from San Francisco, in 2h. 29m., only nine minutes slower than the schedule maintained by the record-breaking Nelson drivers.

Forsyth took the car from San Juan to San Luis Obispo. It was in this stretch that all the tire trouble befell. The first stop was near Bradley, where a new casing was put on. At San Miguel, a few miles farther, another tire had to be put on the same wheel, and near San Luis Obispo a third was called into use.

This run of ill-luck settled as suddenly as it had begun, and Davis, who drove from San Luis Obispo to Santa Barbara, was able to make the distance in the remarkable time of four hours and twenty-three minutes, within five minutes of the record.

Forsyth took the car again at Santa Barbara, and driving at night over roads with which he was not familiar, covered the distance to The Times building in this city in less than five hours and a half. Harold Stone acted as pilot over the southern part of the run.

Although the time made in this last dash over the road from San Francisco is slower by more than three and a half hours than the present record, it is conspicuously good time. Only twice has this time been bettered, by Nelson in his Columbia, and by the recent record-breakers in the White. For a two-cylinder car of moderate horse power, it is extremely fast time. On this run seven long mountain grades have to be climbed—the San Juan, Jolon, Cuesta, Gaviota, Big Casitas, Little Casitas and Canejo grades, all trying and time consuming. Fast speed on the level must be maintained to get an average of more than twenty-two miles an hour, as was done in this instance.

Long Beach Bowling.

LONG BEACH, May 8.—J. B. Bowman, H. Newkirk and H. M. Wertz of Long Beach and Johnson, Adamson and Bennett of San Pedro played off a return match of bowling here, last night, resulting in five straight victories for the local trio. The score was, Long Beach, 2722; San Pedro, 2267. H. M. Wertz had high score of 220 and high average. The team average was 195. Next week a five-man team from San Pedro will play the local quintette.

Boxing at Venice.

VENICE, May 8.—Wednesday, May 13, is the date that has been decided upon for the boxing contests to be held at the auditorium as a benefit for Aëronaut Morton, who was seriously injured recently while attempting to make a parachute jump. Jim Jeffries will act as referee, and Dr. C. Van Court will be master of ceremonies.

Citrus Belt League.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 8.—The championship of the Interscholastic Citrus Belt League will be decided tomorrow by a game between the ball teams of the San Bernardino and Pomona High School teams. The game will be played at Meadowbrook Park. Neither team has so far been defeated. The trophy, a handsome silver cup, is now held by the Pomona players. They have succeeded in capturing it two seasons in succession, and if they win tomorrow the trophy will become permanently theirs.

SPORTING NOTES.

Nearly 4000 2-year-olds have been registered with the Jockey Club, and also have been named in accordance with the provisions of the rules of racing.

An ordinance requiring women to remove their hats during the ball games at League Park has been introduced in the Cincinnati City Council.

Pittsburgh is planning to conduct the A. B. C. tourney in Duquesne Garden next March.

THE POLITICAL WATCH TOWER

The returns first announced are to the effect that the "regular" ticket in this district was elected by an average of forty-seven votes. The Supervisors will go over the returns carefully this afternoon, and the official result will probably be announced tomorrow morning.

This challenge of the vote cast for Morris is likely to start something in the Democratic canvass. The "regulars" assert that there are Supreme Court decisions to the effect that a name cannot be scratched when a sticker is used. They say that the sticker must be voted straight or the names must all be written with pencil. A sticker containing a scratched name is said to be a marked ballot and cannot be counted.

If the District Attorney reports this to be the election law, then there will be a number of mix-ups in the Democratic returns, for about one-fourth of the stickers pasted on the ballots are scratched. If the scratched ballots are thrown out, Morris will still lead by twenty-two votes.

Before leaving for the north to attend the State convention next week, the regular Republican delegates for Los Angeles county will probably caucus here and select a Los Angeles county man to support for the position of chairman of the State convention. At local headquarters there is an almost unanimous sentiment in favor of Dr. John L. Pitner.

It is true that Dr. Pitner was not elected a delegate to the State convention. He led his ticket in the Seventy-second District, and was beaten by but a few votes—but it has been suggested that the rules adopted by the coming convention may admit Dr. Pitner by proxy. Each convention makes its own rules.

Dr. Pitner bears a strong facial resemblance to our martyred President William McKinley. He is a Republican in politics and is one of the leaders of the Methodist church in California.

Dr. Pitner's proven executive ability, his eloquence, his experience as a presiding officer and his sterling adherence to the principles of true Republicanism, have endeared him to the loyal members of the party in Southern California. If the delegates from Los Angeles county have their way, Dr. Pitner will not only occupy a seat in the State convention, but he will be likely to preside over the deliberations of that body.

As stated in The Times Friday morning this movement has proceeded no farther than a suggestion; but it is considered seriously by the members of the Los Angeles county delegation.

THE WATCHMAN.

RED OFF FOR ARIZONA.

Sarabia, Trembling With Fear, Taken Away by United States Marshal and Armed Guard.

Shackled to an armed guard and in the personal custody of United States Marshal Youngworth, Manuel Sarabia, one of the imprisoned reds, was put on the Sunset Express at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, en route for Tombstone, Ariz. Owing to the unexpected move of the Federal authorities, none of the rabid sympathizers of the Mexican revolutionists was on hand to make a scene.

To avoid possible complications, however, Marshal Youngworth drove to the Arcade station in a closed carriage, and had his prisoner alight at the further end of the depot and walk up the tracks, escorted by several officers.

Sarabia appeared frightened and trembled with nervousness as he took his seat in the stateroom of one of the Pullmans. He asserted that he expected to be kidnaped before reaching his destination, but the Federal officers only laughed at his absurd fears, and told him he would be sure to stand trial in Arizona on the charge of aiding in organizing an armed rebellion against the Mexican government.

Magon, Villareal and Rivera are still in the County Jail, awaiting the decision of the United States Supreme Court on the appeal of counsel from the order of removal. It will probably be several months before the matter is decided.

COL. GREENE'S CONDITION.

Despite the care of three physicians and two trained nurses, Col. W. C. Greene, the millionaire copper mine owner of Cananea, Mex., who arrived at the Van Nuys from Santa Barbara last Thursday, passed a restless day and night, racked with a cough and burning with fever. His condition, although not dangerous, is sufficiently serious to cause his family great anxiety.

There are undelivered telegrams at the office of the Western Union for Dr. D. S. McCarthy, Jack McKee, Mrs. N. B. Lee, Linton Netherley & Co., Phil Hilber, C. K. Bronier, Roy Armstrong.

LAWYER IS INDICTED.

PRESCOTT (Ariz.) May 8.—As the result of indictments by the grand jury yesterday, T. C. Norris, attorney for the United Verde Copper Company, formerly president of the Territorial Bar Association, and son of one of the leading Democratic politicians of Arizona, and ex-County Supervisor Fred Sattes, were arrested today on charges of giving and receiving a bribe of $500 in connection with the election of R. P. Talbot by the Board of Supervisors, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of Dist.-Atty. Ellinwood, in March, 1906.

Both men were released on $2500 bail, for examination before the District Court tomorrow morning.

When Ellinwood resigned it was agreed that his deputy, L. Pattee, was to have the place.

Supervisor Sattes had a sudden change of heart, and voted for Talbot, who had the support of the United Verde Company. Sattes suddenly became flush, and while in his cups, made remarks about easy Supervisor money, which started the investigation, which ended in the indictments and arrest.

SOMETHING NEW.

CIVIC LEAGUE IS ORGANIZED.

Launching Due at Republican State Convention.

Local Branch Ready for Its Incorporation.

Education in Politics Is the Main Object.

From the Republican State Convention in Sacramento next week will be launched the Civic League of California, an organization of an educational nature, with branches eventually in all the principal cities and towns of the State. The headquarters will be temporarily in the Bradbury building.

David Goldberg,
organizer of the Civic League of California.

this city. The articles of incorporation will be filed with the County Clerk today or Monday.

Men of all walks of life are eligible to membership, for, although the beginning of the movement was among those of Jewish race, it quickly spread and with a broadmindedness in conformity with the objects of the association no restrictions are placed on the membership, Jew or Gentile, capitalist or workingman.

Educational in scope, politics will enter largely into the discussions. The principles of parties and problems of the day will be given attention. It will be an association of workers, according to those who are interested in its success. Many of these are delegates from Los Angeles to the Republican State convention.

FATHER OF LEAGUE.

Attorney David Goldberg is the father of the new organization and one of its directors. He has been a delegate to the last four Republican State conventions. He was at one time principal of the Boys' Night School in this city, a teacher in the High School, is a graduate of Berkeley College and of the Law School of the U.S.C.

Associated with Mr. Goldberg as director in the association are County Assessors E. W. Hopkins, D. S. Kornblum, Henry Klein, Victor Harris, Paul Jacobs, G. R. Horton, D. Lichtenstein, W. Goldfarb, Gavin W. Craig and A. Kinkenstein. It is probable that others will be added to the board of directors as the association grows.

The clause in the articles of incorporation, which only await the signatures of all the directors for filing, setting forth the objects of the organization, is as follows:

"The purposes of this organization shall be to promote among its members and the public at large, the study, investigation and discussion of all questions and problems of public importance, civic interest or governmental concern; to encourage the discharge of civic obligations; to further political, economic and administrative reforms; to inspire an enlightened patriotism, and in all ways to develop good and responsible citizenship."

FACTOR IN POLITICS.

In following out this declaration, the various branches of the Civic League of California will devote much of its work among those who have little chance to become members of exclusive clubs. It is the intention of its promoters to make of it in time an association whose influence upon the side of good citizenship along party lines will be a factor in the political life of the State.

But there is one cast iron rule incorporated in the constitution and by-laws of the association. This is that any member of the association who is a candidate for an office must enter his campaign with clean hands and not attempt to "hold up" any corporation or public man for campaign funds.

Following the organization of the State league, at the proper time, it is proposed to hold in one of the principal cities, most likely Los Angeles for the first time, a State convention by delegates elected by the league branches wherever organized.

After the Republican convention, a meeting of the local branch will be held in Los Angeles and permanent officers elected, and as soon as the principal branches in other cities are organized a State election will be held for officers of the league.

TWO COUNSELORS OF YOUTH.

[From Current Literature.]

Rudyard Kipling and William James. it will generally be conceded, are two of the most vital minds in our English-speaking world; and when they speak in terms of ethical significance, it behooves us all to listen. By a happy chance each was recently invited to address an audience of college youth—Prof. James at Radcliffe College, Massachusetts, Mr. Kipling at McGill University, Montreal. There is something at once inspiring and sobering about such audiences, and both men gave of their best.

Mr. Kipling preached in the spirit of the old text: "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" He reminded his auditors that, on leaving college, they would find themselves confronted by an "organized conspiracy" which would try to make them believe that the world is governed by the idea of wealth for wealth's sake, and that all means which lead to the acquisition of that wealth are, if not laudable, at least expedient. "Now I do not ask you," he said, "not to be carried away by the first rush of the great game of life. That is expecting you to be more than human. But I do ask you, after the first heat of the game, that you draw breath and watch your fellows for a while. Sooner or later you will see some man to whom the idea of wealth as mere wealth does not appeal, whom the methods of amassing that wealth do not interest, and who will not accept money if you offer it to him at a certain price." Mr. Kipling continued (as reported in the New York Times Saturday Review and The British Weekly:)

"At first you will be inclined to laugh at this man, and to think that he is not smart in his ideas. I suggest that you watch him closely, for he will presently demonstrate to you that money dominates everybody except the man who does not want money. You may meet that man on your farm, in your village, or in your Legislature. But be sure that, whenever or wherever you meet him, as soon as it comes to a direct issue between you, his little finger will be thicker than your loins. You will go in fear of him; he will not go in fear of you. You will do what he wants; he will not do what you want. You will find that you have no weapon in your armory with which you can attack him; no argument with which you can appeal to him. Whatever you gain, he will gain more.

"I would like you to study that man, I would like you better to be that man, because from the lower point of view it doesn't pay to be obsessed by the desire of wealth for wealth's sake. If more wealth is necessary to you, for purposes not your own, use your left hand to acquire it, but keep your right for your proper work in life. If you employ both arms in that game you will be in danger of stooping; in danger also of losing your soul. But in spite of everything you may succeed, you may be successful, you may acquire enormous wealth. In which case I warn you that you stand in danger of being spoken and written of and pointed out as a smart man. And that is one of the most terrible calamities that can overtake a sane, civilized white man in our empire today."

In his address at Radcliffe, Prof. James took the view that the deepest aim of education is to enable us to acquire a true standard of values. "All our arts and sciences and institutions," he said, "are but so many quests of perfection on the part of men; and when we see how diverse the types of excellence may be, how varied the tests, how flexible the adaptations, we gain a richer sense of what the terms 'better' and 'worse' may signify in general." Prof. James's remarks are printed in McClure's Magazine, and from that source we take the further significant words:

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

The Lisbon Economist yesterday announced that Delagoa Bay, in Portuguese East Africa, has been leased to the Transvaal, as an outcome of a conference recently held at Pretoria. Although this would materially relieve the colonial budget of Portugal, the paper regards the move as unwise.

Don't consider any offer you see until you investigate Monte Vista, Center of the fine orange district. Adjoining the city limits of Ontario. Only 2 miles from Pomona. Two railroads stop there and two electric lines are to propose. Remarkable future values assured, as the orange groves adjoining on four sides are worth $1000 to $2000 an acre today. Monte Vista lands will prove the same. The soil is just the same and the water is ample for all needs. It is piped direct to each acre. Well grown, developed, this land will be worth $500 to $1000 an acre in a short time, while affording an independent living in the interim.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Classical Conference.

The classical conference of Southern California, which was postponed from two weeks ago, will be held today at the Los Angeles High School on Hill street near California street, beginning at 10 a.m. Dr. Edwards, head of the Latin department of the Los Angeles High School, and others will speak.

Snatched.

Mrs. M. O. Chaves of No. 819 San Julian street was robbed of a purse containing $5 by a clever snatcher, yesterday morning. Mrs. Chavez was passing by No. 218 West Eighth street when she heard some one call to her to stop. As she turned, the thief seized her purse from her hand and ran away.

Dies While Preparing Breakfast.

Mrs. Sarah Stead of No. 2102 South Main street dropped dead in the kitchen of her home yesterday morning while preparing breakfast. Heart failure is thought to have been the cause, but Coroner Hartwell will make an investigation today. Mrs. Stead was 65 years of age.

Calls River Bed Meeting.

Joseph Bell, who applied to the City Council for a lease for a $10,000,000 steel superstructure over the Los Angeles river bed, has rented Simpson Auditorium for Thursday evening and called a public meeting, his stated object being to organize an association to advocate the immediate improvement of the river bed.

New Englanders Tonight.

A joyous time is anticipated by members of the New England Society of Southern California at its meeting this evening at Blanchard Hall. Former Judge C. G. Noyes of Massachusetts, Rev. L. A. Gould and Frank G. Tyrrell will be the principal speakers, and the programme will include a reading by Miss Jessie York, a vocal solo by Miss Jessie Lawrence, and a violin solo by Miss Mary Scott. All New Englanders are expected to attend.

Blind Singers Honored.

A happy company of admirers gathered last night in the assembly hall of the Bible Institute to honor the twenty-fourth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Baker, the blind singers. Congratulatory addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Warren F. Day, B. L. Durand, and Dr. A. P. Graves. A generous silver offering was taken as a special gift to the aged couple, and the recipients responded with several appreciated vocal selections.

Cercle Francais.

Jean de Chauvenet, Jacquard Aulair, Emile Christopher, E. Gez, F. Safon, E. Rockintrockly and other entertainers afforded delight last evening to members of the Cercle Francais, a new club of representative Frenchmen, at its rooms in the Wright and Callender building, No. 231 South Hill street. The quarters are handsomely furnished, and last night it appeared to the callers that they had been transported in a twinkling to Paris. The programme included French monologues, poetry and songs, together with the piano playing of M. de Chauvenet, who also sang in French.

Evangelistic Services.

The special services in the First Christian Church have been quite successful during the past week, under the leadership of Dr. Brandt, and will be continued indefinitely. Prof. Stout, who has just returned from Oakland, where he has been with Dr. Henry, will have charge of the music. On Sunday morning Dr. Brandt will address the Sunday-school and a large chorus of children that has been organized by the wife of the evangelist, will sing. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a meeting of intermediate Christian Endeavorers of the city will be addressed in the same church by Rev. R. A. Hadden.

NEW CHURCH COMPLETED.

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS WILL DEDICATE TOMORROW.

Miss Wilbur of New York to Address an Audience on Sunday—Annual Reunion of Brotherhood of St. Andrew—South African Missionary Here, and Will Speak.

The Highland Park United Presbyterian Church will be dedicated tomorrow at 11 o'clock, at the corner of Monte Vista street and Avenue 54. Rev. W. W. Logan will preach the dedicatory sermon. In the evening a fraternal service will be held in which the pastor, Rev. J. M. Ross, Dr. McKittrick of Pasadena, and neighboring pastors will take part.

As a part of Sunday evening's service in the First Congregational Church Miss Theresa M. Wilbur, national student secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, will speak. Miss Wilbur is the sister of Judge Curtis D. Wilbur, and a graduate of Stanford. After working as secretary of the association at Stanford she became student secretary for California, and a little over a year ago she was called to New York to have charge of the student work for the whole country. In this position she has made a brilliant record. She has been spending a vacation month in this city, and has consented to speak because of the many who wish to hear her before she returns to New York.

Rev. C. A. Cluny of the Philippine Islands, who was to have stopped in this city en route east, has been compelled for want of time to cancel the engagement. He will attend the meeting of the Presbyterian General Assembly at Kansas City, and will stop here on his return trip in June, at which time he will deliver several addresses here.

Dr. J. Q. A. Henry, who has been at the head of a revival in Oakland for the past two weeks, returned home yesterday, and will be in his pulpit in the First Baptist Church tomorrow. He will return to Oakland to take part in the Baptist conference to open there May 12.

Dean McCormack, the new rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, will preach his first sermon tomorrow morning.

The annual reunion of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew with the clergy and lay delegates to the diocesan convention, will be held in St. Paul's parish house on Tuesday evening, preceding the opening of the convention on the following day. Rev. A. A. Butler will address the assembly.

David Russell, the missionary from South Africa, will speak at the First Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon at 3:30, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. He is known as the Moody of South Africa, and is en route to his field of labor. He is said to be a remarkable speaker with a remarkable story. He will speak in the evening at the City Rescue Mission, No. 606 East Fifth street.

T. C. Horton of the Bible Institute, has gone to San Francisco, on invitation of the committee there, to assist in the meetings on board the battleships during their stay in that harbor. Rev. R. A. Hadden will conduct the Sunday evening revival service at 7:45 at the Institute, and services will be held there daily from 2 to 4 o'clock.

Rev. Frank W. Bible of China will speak at the vesper service of the Y. W.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Yellowstone Park will be the subject of the illustrated free lecture at the Salvation Army Citadel, First and San Pedro streets, tonight.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

OBJECTIONS TO LAND BILL.

SEVERAL PROTESTS FILED WITH SENATE COMMITTEE.

Nothing of the Nature of Opposition Yet Learned, but There Are Those Who Do not Favor Its Provisions—American Petroleum Has Big Bond Issue.

The Chamber of Mines has a letter from Senator Flint, dated May 1, stating that he hoped to have the oil land bill up in the upper house this week, but several protests had been filed, and the committee was considering them.

The Senator said nothing as to the nature of the protests or the names of the protestants and no one here seems to have any idea as to who they are. While the bill has received the indorsement of the producers' organization at Bakersfield, and is well spoken of by most of the oil men, it is believed, there are some who, for various reasons admit they do not favor it. None, however, admit any knowledge of the protest.

The Times correspondent at Washington saw Senator Flint last night and wired that he said he had received protests from a Mr. Page of San Francisco, also from a man named Guthrey of Los Angeles, representing the mining exchange, and a Mr. Watt of Los Angeles." Other protests had been received by the Senate Committee, Mr. Flint said, but he did not know the names.

The above is, without doubt, an error upon Mr. Flint's part or the correspondent's, so far as it related to Mr. Guthrey. The latter represents the Chamber of Mines of this city, and is the one who has devoted much time and care to pushing the bill which was originally fathered by the chamber. The only Mr. Watt in the oil business here known to The Times, is president of the Ajax Oil Company that has been prospecting in some new field. It was impossible last night to learn whether or not he was the party referred to.

New Well Extends Field.

Thomas Gabel, formerly with the Los Angeles Pacific Railroad, and J. McDonald, have just brought a new well in the Sherman district that extends the proven belt quite a little way. A very good showing was reported yesterday. The hole is something over 2000 feet.

A Million in Bonds.

The American Petroleum Company (E. L. Doheny, president; J. C. Anderson, vice-president; Dr. Norman Bridge, secretary and treasurer,) has issued 6 per cent. gold bonds to the amount of $2,000,000, payable in twelve years, of which half are to be offered for sale next week. The issue is in denominations of $1000, $500 and $100. With each of the largest bonds ten shares of stock, par value $100 each, are given as a bonus. Their present quotation is $20. The bonds are offered at par and a bonus in proportion goes with those of less denomination. The Southern Trust Company is trustee.

The company's holdings are the twenty years' lease on the Niles ranch near Sherman. This consists of eighty-one acres and wells are being completed. The land is proven. In Monterey the company has oil on 5500 acres at Kings City and vicinity, where the Standard is drilling. In Fresno county it has bought outright 1500 acres in Cohuga district. It estimates the value of its lands and wells at $5,000,000.

Santa Fe's Folders.

The Santa Fé has issued two unique folders dealing with the coming Democratic and Republican conventions and the line's attractions as a highway of travel to Denver and Chicago. The Republican folder has the pictures of all the leading candidates at each side with Taft at the top. In the center at the top is the G.O.P. elephant and at the bottom a "dark horse" is sticking forth his head. Question marks are appropriately conspicuous in the middle.

The Democratic folder has two transparencies. The first bears the image of Bryan, the second the outline of a head and on it a question mark. Both are well made up.

New General Agent.

William J. Bogert has been named general agent of the Salt Lake railroad at Pittsburgh, Pa., with headquarters at 311 Bessemer building, vice H. S. Drysdale, resigned, to accept service with another company.

LOVE'S VICTIM.

IMPETUOUS COURTSHIP.

Soldier Takes Farewell of Love and Life.

Sensationally Sudden End to Stormy Romance.

Widow Was Unable to Return His Affection.

Breathing adoration and forgiveness, Samuel Barr, who had deserted the army for love of a fascinating woman unable to return his affection, took dramatic farewell of love and life last night.

An impetuous courtship having ended in insurmountable rejection, the soldier, with head uncovered, and almost kneeling at the feet of his inamorata, Mrs. Estella L. Erb, swiftly placed a revolver to his right temple and fired. He died an hour later.

Since meeting Mrs. Erb eighteen months ago, Barr had given himself entirely to his passion. Love for the woman obsessed him. It drove him to the verge of distraction and at last to destruction. Meanwhile he had threatened to murder a bishop and had disgraced his name as a soldier by overstaying his leave and being advertised as a deserter from the army.

Discouraged though he was by the widow's refusal of his hand, he would not give up pursuit of her and chose the grave rather than live without her.

The sensationally sudden ending to a romantic if unhappy story came just before 7 o'clock last night, on the crosswalk in front of No. 720 East Twenty-seventh street, where Mrs. Erb had lived secretly for two months in an effort to elude him.

FIRST MEET AT BALL.

Barr became acquainted with Mrs. Erb about a year and a half ago, at a barracks' ball, when she first went to live with her father-in-law, J. E. Erb, following her husband's death in Leadville, Colo. A short time afterward he called on her. About six months ago he asked her to marry him but she refused, because he was not a Catholic. He offered to join the church, and then she consulted a bishop. The latter was against the marriage. She took his advice and told Barr. It is stated that he wrote a letter to the cleric threatening his life if he interfered further.

When Mrs. Erb told Barr her decision was final, he threatened her life. He called at the house several times, but she refused to see him. Then he wrote her a letter, in which he said that she had broken his heart and that he intended to kill her and then shoot himself. Her father-in-law took the affair up with Col. M. P. Maus, commander of the garrison, and asked him to deal with Barr. When the latter was summoned to appear before the colonel, he said he would not press his case any further.

Despite this, he followed her constantly, and often watched for her to leave the house. At the request of the bishop, she came here about March 10 to live with her uncle, Edward Jones. Her father-in-law, who was ill, came to Los Angeles about a month ago, and has been living in the same house.

When Barr discovered that Mrs. Erb had disappeared he attempted to find her. On March 14, he secured leave of absence for five days and put on civilian clothes. He went to San Francisco, thinking she had gone there. He learned that she was in Los Angeles and followed her, arriving about ten days ago. By then he had violated his leave, and circulars were sent out for his arrest on the charge of desertion.

FINAL PLEA.

After many inquiries Barr learned where Mrs. Erb lived, and appeared at the house about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He asked if Mrs. Jones lived there, and if the property was for sale. Miss Nellie Jones, who answered the door recognized him from Mrs. Erb's description. As soon as he left the place she telephoned to Mrs Erb, who is employed as a bookkeeper at the Clover Leaf Creamery at No. 814 Hawthorne street. An hour later it was discovered that Barr was still hanging about the neighborhood. Mrs. Erb went to the Police Station and asked for protection.

When she started for home about 6 o'clock last night she was accompanied by Chief Clerk Ora May. As they approached the house, Barr came out of a vacant lot, where he had been hiding.

When he met them within a block of the house, he raised his hat, bowed politely to Mrs. Erb, and exclaimed: "Why, how are you, Stella?" Mrs. Erb refused to recognize him, and the officer ordered Barr to leave the woman alone. Barr resented this, but May showed him his star and threatened to arrest him.

DIES AT HER FEET.

"I don't want anything to do with you at all," Mrs. Erb said, addressing Barr. He turned on his heels and walked slowly toward the house. When he reached the walk leading to the porch, he stopped. Taking off his hat, he sank almost to the pavement, and said: "Good-by, Stella, I forgive you," drew a revolver from his pocket and fired a shot into his head. May saw him reach for his weapon and sprang in front of Mrs. Erb, but before the officer could interfere Barr had shot himself.

Mrs. Estella L. Erb, and Samuel Barr, the soldier who bade her a dramatic and final farewell because she rejected him.

Mrs. Erb screamed and fell to the pavement. She was carried into the house and a physician was called. She recovered from the shock an hour later. When seen last night she said:

"I am sorry that Mr. Barr killed himself. I was afraid of him, for he had threatened my life several times. I fled from him and eluded him in every possible way, but he followed me and annoyed me until I was worried almost to death."

Mrs. Erb is 26 years old. She married C. E. Erb, a practicing physician, in Leadville, about three years ago. He died of typhoid fever about a year and a half ago.

Barr had been in the army for three years. He enlisted in San Francisco and was stationed at Monterey. He was 30 years old.

MAYBERRY FOR CHICAGO.

Country Delegates to State Republican Convention Start Movement in Favor of Alhambra Man.

Members of the Sixty-ninth Assembly District delegation to the Republican State Convention at Sacramento next week have got behind H. H. Mayberry of Alhambra for country representative of the Seventh Congress District at the National Republican Convention at Chicago in June. Mr. Mayberry is well known throughout Los Angeles county, and it is believed by his friends that he easily will get the support of the Congressional convention for delegate to the big gathering. A canvass of State delegates is said to disclose no opposition to him.

Just who will be the city delegate from the Seventh Congress District is a thing that no one pretends now to caucus. A caucus of Republican delegates to Sacramento probably will be held here just before the start north next week, when the question may be settled.

HARD TO BEAT.

COUNT SHOWS WE'RE GREAT.

Over Three Hundred Thousand Actually Found.

Final Figures Prove Growth of Los Angeles.

Actual and careful count by 100 canvassers shows the population of the city of Los Angeles to be 302,604. This is an increase in round numbers over last year of about 20,000. These figures were compiled yesterday by Bert L. Farmer, City School Census Marshal.

By wards the population is: First ward, 27,612; Second, 22,622; Third, 39,535; Fourth, 42,665; Fifth, 49,176; Sixth, 60,972; Seventh, 29,892; Eighth, 12,779; Ninth, 25,980.

As for children there is a total in the city school districts of 66,574, of which twenty-eight are Indians.

Here are a few figures regarding the census of the children. There are 50,615 children between the ages of 5 and 17 years, of which 49,282 are white and the balance Indian, negro and Mongolian. There are 1052 colored and 253 Mongolian children.

There are 4971 children between the ages of 5 and 17 years who have not attended any school during this year, while there are 3855 who have attended private schools, but not public schools. Those who have attended public schools number 42,059.

The number of babies in Los Angeles would please President Roosevelt: there are 15,959 of them under 5 years of age; of these 15,459 are white, 239 colored, 184 Mongolian and six Indian papooses.

Out of the 66,574 children in the city 64,543 are native born and the balance, including all nationalities and colors, are of foreign birth.

The meagre medical statistics show that there are 1086 children between 5 and 17 years old who have not been vaccinated. There are also forty-nine unfortunates who are deaf-mutes.

According to wards the children are divided as follows: First, 6065; Second, 6725; Third, 2859; Fourth, 7972; Fifth, 13,160; Sixth, 16,225; Seventh, 4972; Eighth, 2577; Ninth, 7243 children.

In the Rosedale Annex, west of Pico street, are 162 children; in the Highland Park Annex, 149; in the Gardena or "Shoestring" district there are 278, while in the other school district of the "Shoestring," the Moneta-Howard Annex, there are 575 children.

This showing by the census is remarkable, even for Los Angeles and is a proof, even if all else were lacking, that no panics or financial stringencies can affect the steady growth and human prosperity of this metropolis of the great Southwest.

Dr. W. A. Hunter,

who will deliver his first sermon tomorrow as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

HE SUCCEEDS TALMAGE.

Vigorous Preacher from the North Arrives to Begin His Work in This Field.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Hunter, who has been elected pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, to succeed Rev. Frank DeWitt Talmage, arrived yesterday, and is a guest at the home of E. J. Lickley, on West Twenty-eighth street.

Dr. Hunter is a vigorous man, now beyond middle life, and has an attractive way about him that naturally wins those who approach him. He has been pastor of Centenary Presbyterian Church of Spokane for a little more than a year, but owing to the fact that many of his former parishioners live here and were anxious to have him for their pastor again, and because he and Mrs. Hunter are well known here, the latter having at one time been a teacher in the city schools, he decided to accept the call.

He is a graduate of Hanover College and Princeton Seminary, and his first charge as a pastor was at Wabash, Ill. He went from there to Clinton, Ill., where he served for fifteen years, afterward going to Colorado for a short time. His next charge was at Vincennes, Ind., where he was pastor of the First Presbyterian Church for five years, just prior to going to Spokane.

Socially, Dr. Hunter is a power in any congregation, while he is acknowledged to be a strong preacher, and between the two he has proven a most successful pastor wherever he has been. The members of the First church are highly delighted over securing him.

The Los Angeles Presbytery will meet on Monday, in the Central Presbyterian Church, and will complete arrangements for his installation. Dr. Hunter will preach his first sermons as regular pastor of the congregation tomorrow morning and evening, when the music will be made particularly attractive under the leadership of Mrs. Volney Beardsley.

LEAGUERS' WORST DEFEAT IN SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA is the part of the State wherein the Lincoln-Roosevelt League is most effectively buried. In the centers of population around San Francisco Bay, where labor unions dominate, it made a showing at the primaries, but it succumbed to the strong opposition it encountered in free and independent Southern California, owing to the thorough exposure of the discreditable methods of its bosses. The delegation of the Southern counties to the State convention stands as follows:

	Straight Republican Delegates.	Lincoln-Roosevelt Delegates.
Los Angeles county	60	43
Riverside county	10	..
San Bernardino county	16	..
Orange county	13	..
Imperial county	5	..
San Diego county	19	..
San Luis Obispo county	8	..
Santa Barbara county	9	..
Ventura county	..	7
	140	50

That is, the regular Republican delegates from Southern California outnumber the Leaguers about three to one—140 to 50. Riverside and San Bernardino counties swung into line yesterday with solid delegations of "regulars," twenty-six delegates in all.

PICKS FIRST CANTALOUPES.

Breaks Record for Earliest Ranchman Near El Centro Melons.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

EL CENTRO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] W. A. Van Horn, a rancher three miles south of El Centro, has broken all records for early cantaloupes. He picked the first ripe melons from his thirty-five-acre cantaloupe fields today and will begin picking for express shipments early next week. Van Horn was one of the most successful growers in Imperial Valley last season but has far exceeded all record for earliness this year. Other cantaloupe fields in the valley are advanced to the stage of netting and within two weeks several ranches in this vicinity will be sending out their first shipments.

LOSES BY ONE VOTE.

Official Returns in Seventy-fifth Assembly District Keep David Goldberg at Home.

In the official canvass of the primary returns by the Supervisors yesterday, it was found that David Goldberg lacked just one vote of enough to send him as a delegate to the State Republican Convention at Sacramento, although his ten associates on the same ticket will go. This leaves sixty delegates for the regular Republicans and adds one to the Lincoln-Roosevelt League list, making it forty-three.

Goldberg was defeated by two candidates on the Lissner ticket—O. T. Johnson and John Lopizich, each of whom received 1064 votes, while Goldberg's total was 1062. Supervisor Eldridge, who took part in the canvass, said he was sorry to see one of his constituents and fellow party workers lose, and especially by so narrow a margin.

Messrs. Johnson and Lopizich will be entitled to one-half vote each in the convention.

COLLEGE GLEE CLUB'S HIT.

There was a large attendance at the annual home concert of the Occidental Glee Club in the Hall of Letters last night. Every number on the programme was encored, and the collegians made a hit. The features were the first rendition of the new Occidental hymn, written by Dan Hamilack, '08, and the Occidental ship song, composed by Rev. W. E. Wishard. Geoffrey F. Morgan pleased with his monologue and reading. McKenney and Willie Thomson, soloists, were greeted with loud applause.

STRAIGHTS WIN.

NEW VICTURY FOR REGULARS.

Leaguers Outnumbered from Start to Finish.

Organization Names All the State Delegates.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, May 8.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Of all stormy political meetings, the convention of the Republican party held here today was the stormiest, the session being fraught with continual outbursts of a sensational nature from the moment the convention was called together until its close. Delegates of the Lincoln Roosevelt League, outnumbered overwhelmingly, sought to vent their rage by carrying personalities into the business of the convention. That the gathering did not break up in a fist fight was due only to the magnanimity of the regular Republicans, who took and gave, but were willing to forgive and forget as soon as their point was won. The league lost everything.

The first conflict came when A. E. Frye, a leaguer of Highland, made a motion to admit no voting by proxies. This brought delegates to their feet in all sections of the opera house. W. D. Wagner got recognition to raise the point of order. Chairman Burke overruled him, whereat the motion was renewed by C. C. Haskell, and F. B. Daley hurled a Supreme Court decision at the leaguers, claiming that the motion was always out of order.

Burke and Frye attacked Daley's position, and the fur was passed, the greatest confusion following. In the midst of the turmoil E. C. Seymour of Highland attempted to gain the floor.

REGULARS WIN AGAIN.

As Seymour was present only as a proxy, he was ordered to sit down or be thrown out of the convention. He obeyed into discreet silence, and peace finally was restored. Chairman Burke then reversed his former ruling, and on motion of C. B. Hamilton of Colton, Dr. W. B. Burke of Highland was nominated for temporary chairman, while Postmaster Tisdale nominated Lyman King of Redlands, and King won by a big majority, this being the second defeat for the leaguers after the opening of the convention. King received 122 votes against 83 for Burke, the strength of the factions being thus accentuated.

Every effort on the part of the Lincoln-Roosevelt League to obtain recognition was promptly squelched. The league's defeat being complete, Frank F. Ostler, the incumbent, was nominated for Superior judge; A. P. Nelson, incumbent, was nominated for Supervisor of the Fifth District, and L. V. Root was nominated for Supervisor of the First District. J. W. Flavelle received the nomination for the Assembly from this district, and delegates to the State and Congressional Republican conventions were chosen as follows:

S. F. Kelley, F. B. Daley, J. J. Hanford, F. W. Seccombe, W. D. Wagner, all of San Bernardino; E. E. Richardson, Victorville; E. C. Blaine, Ontario; G. C. Day, Upland; D. Johnston, Colton; Mark Rose, Chino; W. M. Tisdale, F. W. Nutter, E. W. Moore, E. E. Pratt, all of Redlands; F. A. Mudge, Mission; T. B. Murray, East Highland.

ANOTHER VICTORY.

These delegates were elected at large, the motion for this method of selection being fought bitterly by the Lincoln-Roosevelt League, which was signally floored, and as a result the sixteen delegates from this county represent the regular Republican organization from first to last. The platform lauds the national, State and county Republican administrations, laments President Roosevelt's determination not to allow his name to go before the people as a candidate for re-election, and indorses the candidacy of William H. Taft. It plauds Congressman Smith, indorses the candidacy of Col. John H. Paul for delegate from the Eighth Congressional District to the Republican national convention, denounces tariff principles which make it possible for any oppressive trust to exact dishonest profits, and protests against tariff revision that would disturb tariff schedules affecting this State.

The platform also opposes government ownership of railroads, but advocates government control of transcontinental transportation companies and demands that the Interstate Commerce Commission be given power by Congress to regulate rates of transportation also that the Legislature enact laws to permit voters to express their preference for candidates for United States Senators.

TRUE BLUE.

THEY HAVE NO OTHERS THERE.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY CONVENTION SOLID REPUBLICAN.

Sends Regular Delegation to Sacramento and Devotes Attention to Senatorial Fight, in Which Estudillo Will Be Supported Unflinchingly in Defiance of Objections.

RIVERSIDE, May 8.—With ringing enthusiasm, the Riverside county Republican convention this morning adopted a resolution instructing its delegation to the Thirty-ninth Senatorial District convention to vote for Assemblyman Miguel Estudillo for State Senator "first, last and all the time, and to vote for no other person at any time."

The convention was one of the most stirring political gatherings ever held in the county. It was straight Republican, the Lincoln-Roosevelt League having no organization in this county.

The action of the Orange county convention yesterday in disregarding the precedent which has heretofore governed the selection of Senator by instructing its delegates to vote against the Riverside county candidates, when it is Riverside's turn this year to name the Senator, resulted in a notable demonstration in favor of Estudillo.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Trouble-breeding laborites, who have been discharged from work on the aqueduct because of incompetency and for attempting to stop progress, appeared before the Board of Public Works yesterday in an attempt to bolster their movement, but they got no satisfaction.

A petition was presented yesterday to the Board of Public Works, asking for the vacation of certain lands in the shoestring strip at San Pedro; friends of the free harbor believe there is menace in such a move.

Mrs. Mary C. McCormick was awarded the temporary custody of her 5-year-old son, Jesse, yesterday, by Judge James, who denied W. McCormick's petition for the custody of his son.

The final account of Warren Gilleich, special administrator of the Nicholas Priester estate, was accepted by Judge James.

In divorce proceedings brought by Mrs. Mabel L. Harris against Dr. G. W. Harris on grounds of cruelty, Judge Conrey declared that the couple are not man and wife and refused the petition.

James Coleman was bound over to the Superior Court by Justice Selph on a charge of open and notorious adultery with Mrs. Anna B. Andrews, Long Beach.

Mrs. Nancy Billingsley sought a divorce from J. D. Billingsley, Long Beach, because he reads newspapers, but Judge Monroe dismissed the case.

Charged with creating a disturbance in the home of H. C. Wyatt, Patrolman Logie was fined $20 in Police Court, yesterday morning.

H. G. Angell and George Talmadge charged with having burglarized a store of Indian blankets and robes, were held for trial in the Superior Court, yesterday, after preliminary examination.

AT THE CITY HALL.

Trouble-Makers Who Went on Job and Stirred Strife Are Discharged. Threat to Tie up Job Brings Sharp Retort from Gen. Chaffee of Board of Public Works.

Laborite trouble-makers, who have been persistently nagging at the men in charge of the work on the Los Angeles aqueduct found themselves yesterday up against a stone wall.

Through Attorney Roser the trouble-makers presented a complaint to the Board of Public Works to the effect that Los Angeles men were discharged from the job at the cement works and aliens put in their places.

Roser introduced a hard-luck story from John T. Parr, a labor agitator, and also from W. A. Gaddis, both of whom had been discharged. Seven names were mentioned altogether by Roser, but these two figure as the principals. After Roser had been heard, E. Duryea, the aqueduct cement expert, was called upon to explain. Duryea employs all the men and sends them up to the work, and, if necessary, advances them money to go. He said:

"The trouble originated when I sent John T. Parr to the job. I was satisfied that it would be so when I sent him, but he was one of the men turned over to us by the Civil Service Commission when this class of work was exempted from the examinations, and I was really compelled to send him. He talked as if he would make trouble before he went, and he was a trouble-maker as long as he was there, but since he and the others were discharged, there has been neither trouble nor discontent in the camp. We must have harmony there, and men must be competent to hold their jobs, and for these two reasons these men were laid off and other men were sent up from this city to fill their places.

"Several buildings were put up at a cost of $14 a thousand of lumber, but after Parr and his men went to work the same labor increased to $21 a thousand. Eugene Fisher, the foreman, discharged the men because we could not permit the work to cost us almost double. The foreman had nothing to do with selecting the men to take their places; I sent them all up from here. The only places filled by him were for a few laborers."

Duryea explained how Gaddis had made a row in the camp by telling that he had been hurt by a wrench, he was using. It struck him in the face, and he tried to make it appear that his cheek bone was broken, and borrowed money from some of the men to bring him back to Los Angeles. He came away without his time check, and presented himself before the Board of Public Works, demanding his money. He was insolent about it, and among other things, said:

"I'll have my money and I'll have it right now, or I'll tie up the aqueduct."

While his bluster amounted to nothing, he was immediately discharged by Duryea, who was present. Gaddis had pretended he was coming down to Los Angeles for medical treatment, but to men in the camp he said he had a better job here.

Gen. Chaffee took a hand in the discussion yesterday, and in explaining to Roser just what had occurred when Gaddis demanded his money, the general said:

"I told him then that he wasn't running the aqueduct, and I thought he never would run it. A lot of these trouble makers have been running after the Mayor, telling him that Los Angeles men were not being hired on the aqueduct, but the fact is that no others are hired when Los Angeles men who are willing to work apply for the jobs. There is work there for them, but they mustn't expect to go up there and be loafers, for they won't be permitted to stay."

Gaddis is one of the men who had been given money by Duryea to go to the job. Another whose name was mentioned by Roser was G. Smiley. He stened as a Los Angeles man, but the fact is that he was a newcomer from Missouri, was advanced money to go to the job, was discharged for inefficiency and Duryea said yesterday he now is probably back in Missouri, showing people what a hide-bound place Los Angeles is.

Another complaint of the labor agitators was that men of one family were hired at the expense of other men. They cited the cases of Eugene Fisher and G. A. Fisher, who are foremen of the work. Their names happen to be the same, but it looks as if efficiency runs in the Fisher family, for both are efficient experts, the former from Los Angeles and the latter from Chicago, more recently from Colton, where he had charge of important cement work.

HARBOR JEOPARDIZED?

ASKS PART OF SHOESTRING.

A petition received by the Board of Public Works yesterday is looked upon as the suspicion by the friends of the free harbor movement. The only signature to the petition is that of Aurelia Y'Sepulveda, who, as owner of all contiguous property, asks that the board take steps to vacate Pacific avenue, from its terminus at San Pedro to Rose street of that city. It is very difficult for one not thoroughly conversant with the location to tell just what is meant, and the metes and bounds of the property asked to be relinquished fail to clarify the exact location. It was generally accepted as covering that portion of the half-mile strip annexed to this city, where it touches tidewater. The petition was referred to the Inspector of Public Works and the City Engineer, who will take into consultation the members of the Harbor Commission.

Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce said yesterday that he had not examined the matter carefully, but that he understood it was "a scheme to prevent our getting to the harbor at all."

DON'T WANT HOSPITAL.

WESTLAKE PEOPLE OBJECT.

A delegation of interested property owners, living around Alvarado and Orange streets, appeared at the City Hall yesterday with an attorney to protest vigorously against the establishing of a hospital in their midst. They had an interview with Mayor Harper prior to the meeting of the Board of Health, and at his request permitted the matter to go over until the next meeting.

The permit for the hospital was granted a month ago, unknown to the people of the neighborhood, and when they realized what was going on they got busy. Commissioner Moore, who was not present when the permit was granted, objected strongly yesterday to the placing a hospital among the residences of any neighborhood. The clerk was directed to notify the hospital managers to suspend operations until the residents have a chance to state their grievance.

REVISION COMMITTEE.

MATHEWS ACCEPTS VACANCY.

W. B. Mathews yesterday conditionally accepted a place on the Charter Revision Committee, made vacant through the resignation of W. J. Hunsaker. Mr. Mathews notified the Bar Association that if he found the new duties too onerous in connection with his aqueduct work he would ask to be relieved from the charter committee.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

CHEWS PLUG, WELTS CHILD.

TWO VERY BAD HABITS CHARGED TO WOMAN.

Judge Takes no Stock in Accusations and Awards Her Custody of Boy, Whose Body Bore Marks of Beatings After He Had Been Taken from Father.

"She chews tobacco and swears, and whips the baby unmercifully," W. McCormick, Long Beach, told Judge James yesterday in applying for the custody of his 2-year-old son, Earl, whose mother, Mrs. May C. McCormick, he asserted, was unfit to have the custody of the child.

"I don't chew tobacco and he swears at me, and he has beaten the child cruelly, with his mother encouraging his conduct," retorted Mrs. McCormick. "We were married in Denver in 1902, and almost all our married life has been spent in the home of my mother-in-law, Mrs. Belle Miles, No. 736 Pine street, Long Beach. He turned all his money over to her, and she always treated me without consideration. I was the household drudge. I had to steal hay from the cars of race horses bound to Ascot Park that Mrs. Miles's horses might be fed, and often I did not have enough to eat. I had to split the wood, and draw water, and do other kinds of men's work, and in October, 1906, J. W. Miles swore out an insanity complaint against me, but the lunacy commission ordered my discharge.

"I began divorce proceedings, but my husband promised to treat me well and I dismissed the complaint. Then he took me back home, and I had to live in a barn-like shed until I left him because I couldn't stand it."

"I've seen her chewing tobacco, and whipping the child," testified Mrs. Miles. "When she took the child from me by force on the street in Long Beach April 16, she knocked me down, beat me, and swore at me. She was always cruel to the boy. Her husband provided for her well."

Humane Officer Reynolds said that he found long welts of old whippings on the little boy's body after Mrs. McCormick resained the child, who was taken from her last summer by his father.

D. Blumenthal testified that he had seen Mrs. McCormick wheeling wood in a wheelbarrow and that she had no shoes. He said that after she was compelled to leave her husband he and other neighbors had protected her.

Judge James awarded the custody of the child to his mother and ordered McCormick to pay $4 weekly for his support until the divorce suit is tried.

READS NEWSPAPERS.

WIFE WANTS HIM TO TALK.

"If I were able to grant a divorce because men sit down and read the newspapers when they come home at night, I don't know but that many women might apply," said Judge Monroe yesterday in refusing Mrs. Nancy Billingsley, 64 years old, Long Beach, a divorce from J. D. Billingsley, carpenter, 66 years old, on grounds of cruelty.

"We were married in Iowa about a year ago, judge," said Mrs. Billingsley, a white-haired woman. "Billingsley was back East on a visit, and he told me about his property holdings out here and his fine automobile, and I married him. But when I got out here I found that he didn't own any automobile, and he didn't have near the property he told me he had. Now, when he comes home at night, after he has been away all day, I wish him to sit and talk with me, for I like to talk and have a little conversation. But he just takes up his newspaper and reads and reads, and has nothing at all to say."

Mrs. Billingsley appeared to have little fault to find with her husband, except that he is not wealthy and prefers to read rather than talk.

HUSBAND ACTS.

CARPENTER'S KISSES CAUSE.

James Coleman, a Long Beach carpenter, was bound over to the Superior Court by Justice Selph yesterday, under $3000 bail, on a charge of living notoriously with Mrs. Anna B. Andrews, Terminal avenue, Long Beach.

Miss Anna Scott, a nurse formerly employed by Mrs. Andrews, testified to the truth of the accusations made by George Andrews, the woman's husband, and swore to a specific instance of her own observation.

J. P. Glendenning testified that the relations of the pair were a matter of common gossip among their neighbors. Mr. Harley, a neighbor, testified to having repeatedly seen Coleman and Mrs. Andrews hugging and kissing each other on the streets.

Coleman and Mrs. Andrews denied the charges. The latter said her husband began criminal proceedings because she refused to deed to him her interest in their $3100 Terminal-avenue home.

"He told me to take my choice of that or of criminal proceedings, and I told him that I would rather choose the pen," said she. "Ever since I married him in Iowa, in 1899, he has been in the habit of packing his trunk and going off. I don't know where, every two months or so. He made me sign over my interest in his $60,000 property some years ago. He has been married three times and has grown-up children. Then, last July, he deserted me, taking our little girl. His charges are false. Mr. Coleman is a widower and his lived with me as a boarder. His three children dwelt with me also, and board was paid for them all." Coleman was committed to the County Jail.

IS NOT HIS WIFE.

DIVORCE SUIT HAS ODD TURN.

Because Mrs. Mabel L. Harris admitted on the witness stand in Judge Conrey's court yesterday the part she played in Dr. George W. Harris's suit for divorce from his first wife, her application for an interlocutory decree, on grounds of cruelty, resulted in a formal declaration by the court that she is not Harris's wife, and never has been. The court therefore declined to grant a divorce or to rescind a deed to a $1000 lot in Chatsworth Park that she declared had been extorted from her by Harris under threats of death.

"Harris put the muzzle of a revolver in my mouth and threatened to blow my brains out unless I deeded him the lot," she said. "That was in 1907, after he had repeatedly threatened to kill me, to cut my nose off, and to knock my brains out. I had him arrested for criminally ill-treating my daughter, Pearl Coleman, and now I don't know where he is, as the District Attorney dismissed the case."

Under cross-examination, she admitted that when Harris sued his first wife for divorce in Wallace, Idaho, the papers were served on her as the first wife and that she accepted service. "I know the difference between a complaint and a summons," she said. "A few days after the interlocutory divorce was granted Harris in Idaho, we went to Montana, where we were married. We afterward lived at Fresno, San Diego and here."

WOULD RETIRE.

FINAL ACCOUNT IS OFFERED.

"I want to wash my hands of this matter with honor, while they are clean," Attorney J. Marion Brooks told Judge James yesterday in offering, as counsel for Warren Gilleien, the latter's final account as special administrator of the Nicholas Priester estate.

Brooks asked for $400 fees for himself and Gilleien. The court took the matter under advisement, as Executor William Priester opposed the claim as exorbitant. The special administrator's return shows that the estate inventories $2300, but Attorney Brooks says it is actually worth about $100,000. This is denied by the executor.

In answer to questions, Mr. Gilleien testified that he consented to become special administrator at the request of Mr. Brooks. He filed a contest of the will for the same reason. He never met Mrs. Priester, but her written request come through Mr. Brooks and a woman who accompanied him to Gilleien's office.

"Mrs. Greer, daughter of Mrs. Priester, asked me to look after her mother's interests," said Mr. Brooks, "I never knew of Nicholas Priester's will until it was filed by William Priester. I filed every paper in the case with the best intentions, and I never saw Mrs. Priester until after the will was filed. Now I want to wash my hands of this matter. It has caused me $10,000 worth of trouble, I have brought about one wedding in the Priester family, and I want to quit."

Nicholas Priester, who died in December, 1907, lived for many years on a Colegrove farm, most of which has passed out of the family. By a marriage settlement and will, made over twenty years ago, when he married his first wife's sister, she accepted $1000 in satisfaction of her claim on his estate. This will was declared valid by the court.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

COMPROMISED. When Mrs. Anna C. Bispham's $2807 damage suit against the Pacific Electric Railway Company came to trial before Judge Monroe yesterday, the court, on motion of counsel, entered $375 judgment in favor of the plaintiff. Mrs. Bispham said that July 1, last, while a passenger on a Pasadena car, the sudden starting of the coach threw her against a seat handle, injuring her seriously in the epigastric plexus.

LAW SCHOOL. As presiding judge, Judge James yesterday addressed a communication to the judges of the Superior Court, asking their opinion of the wisdom of postponing their law and motion calendars next Friday until 10:30 o'clock, that members of the bar may be given an opportunity to hear an address by Prof. Boalt, University of California, in Department Six at 9:30 o'clock. The latter desires to speak on the establishment of a higher law college at Berkeley.

WILL FILED. Mrs. M. H. Hicks, widow and executrix of Truman H. Hicks, who died here April 26, leaving a $72,760 estate to his widow, his daughter, Mrs. Annie C. Brackett; F. A. Hicks, Jr., a grandson, and two sisters, yesterday filed the will in the Superior Court for probate.

ASKS PROBATE. Elmer C. Packard, son and executor under the will of Charles Packard, who died in South Pasadena May 1, leaving an $18,000 estate to his widow and children, yesterday filed the will in the Superior Court for probate.

ASKS APPOINTMENT. Asking appointment as the administrator of the $11,500 estate of David Gates, and the guardianship of his widow, Mrs. Mary G. Gates, now confined at Patton, Andrew Knox yesterday filed petitions in the Superior Court. He states that the only heirs are the widow and a daughter, Mrs. H. J. Christie of Minnesota, who desires that Knox be appointed.

INFORMATIONS. Informations were filed by the District Attorney in Judge Wilbur's court yesterday against Otto Blum, alleged grand larceny, and K. A. Gordon, alleged burglary.

MAY SEE CHILD. As counsel for the Children's Home Society stated that Mrs. Eertha Brinckman will be permitted to see her son, Earl Brinckman, Judge Wilbur yesterday continued to the 29th inst. the hearing in the habeas corpus proceedings the woman has begun to secure the custody of her son, placed with the society for adoption.

DECREASE STOCK. Certificates of decrease of capital were filed with the County Clerk yesterday by the United States Savings Bank of Covina, which reduces its stock from $25,000 to $10,000, and the Maccabee Building Association, which decreases from $200,000 to $50,000.

WARRANTS. A bench warrant was issued by Judge James yesterday for the arrest of William Mead, who, while on bail on a grand larceny charge in February, 1906, fled the country. He has been located by the authorities. A bench warrant was also issued for C. F. Puckett, paroled last December when his companion, George Bowers, was given a ten years' sentence in San Quentin for burglarizing C. C. Mason's home. Puckett is said to have stolen a bicycle.

ACCOUNTING. The Semi-Tropic Spiritualists' Association yesterday filed in the Superior Court a suit for an accounting against Peter Johnson, who is alleged to owe the corporation $360 balance on its property, for which he has acted as sales agent in disposing of building lots.

CONTESTS GUARDIANSHIP. Mrs. Lena Forbes, sister-in-law of George W. Forbes, confined in a Los Angeles sanatorium, yesterday filed in the Superior Court a petition that A. A. Reinemann, a friend of Forbes, be made guardian of his person and his $15,000 share of his father's estate. Mrs. Forbes charges that William Forbes, the incompetent's brother, who has filed a petition for his guardianship, plans his removal to Patton.

THE INFERIOR COURTS.

UNWILLING TO TELL TALE.

THEATRICAL MAN SYMPATHETIC TOWARD OFFICER.

Operahouse Manager Makes Light of Patrolman Logie's Drunken Rampage in His House, but Justice Imposes Fine and Charges Will Be Filed Before Commissioners.

Patrolman C. E. Logie, who created a disturbance in the home of H. C. Wyatt, manager of the Mason Operahouse, night before last, was fined $30, or twenty days in the City Jail by Justice Rose in Police Court yesterday morning.

He has been suspended from the police force for ten days and during that time a charge of intoxication will be preferred against him before the Police Commissioners.

Wyatt appeared as an unwilling witness. "I would rather not testify against this poor fellow. He really might have been sick, and it would be an injustice to accuse him of being drunk," said he.

Finally, he told the following story of Logie's antics in his home.

"Logie came to my house at No. 600 Burlington avenue, knocked at the front door and then rang the bell. He was in uniform and asked me to telephone for the patrol. He said that he had been poisoned, and that he wanted to be taken to the Receiving Hospital. When I requested him to step in from the porch, he refused. I finally persuaded him to enter the library, and then left the room and telephoned for a physician. When I returned Logie had gone mad, and was fighting. He begged me to stay away from him, saying he feared he might have another fit and hurt me. He became excited a second time, and it required the united efforts of three of us to handcuff and hold him until the arrival of the police. Several vases were broken, but what damage was done does not matter."

Logie said he had taken a few drinks, and then became desperately ill. He did not remember anything that happened after he visited the Wyatt home. His brother paid his fine.

Charges will be laid against Logie by police officials. He fought Lieut. Murray at the Wyatt home and only quieted down after he had been strapped to the floor of the patrol wagon. At the Police Station he was examined by surgeons, who said he was suffering from intoxication and nothing else.

He was finally strapped to a bed and kept there until morning.

Held for Trial.

H. J. Angell and George Talmadge, formerly employed as clerks for the Banham Indian Trading Company on South Hill street, were held for trial in the Superior Court yesterday, after preliminary examination before Justice Rose in Police Court. Their bail was fixed at $1500 each, and in default they were sent to the County Jail.

Detective Jones, the chief witness, said in Police Court that he had obtained confessions from both. Most of the stolen property was found in a shed in the rear of the Talmadge home at Huntington Park. Indian robes, blankets and carved leather goods, valued at $1000, were recovered.

MINES AND MINING.

NEW CROWD TAKES HELM.

Johnnie Election Eliminates All Old Interests.

Frick Said to Have Joined Merger Directorate.

Tonopah Mining Report Is Encouraging.

As a result of the annual meeting of stockholders of the Johnnie Consolidated Mining Company, which was held at Johnnie on Thursday, the old regime connected with the management at the time of the Doubleday failure have all stepped down and out, and a new crowd will direct the destinies of the company for the ensuing year.

At the time Doubleday relinquished control it will be remembered that a contest election resulted in the advancement of U. M. Thomas, Robert Atkinson and Fred W. Beau de Zart to the directorate. The first-named refused to serve longer, but the other two were again elected on Thursday and retain their active positions as secretary and superintendent, respectively. As forecast in these columns a few days ago, it was found that the local brokerage firm of Wagy & Foster had a safe control, and, at the direction of their holdings, the following directors were elected: A. D. Myers, R. B. Dickinson, E. K. Foster, A. C. Wagy, all of Los Angeles, and G. McBride of Pasadena. The full board is completed by the reelection of Messrs. Thomas and Beau de Zart.

The officers will be selected at a subsequent meeting of the directors, but it is believed that the slate has already been made up and will be as follows: President, A. D. Myers; vice-president, A. C. Wagy; secretary, Robert Thomas; superintendent and manager, Fred Beau de Zart.

A telegram received yesterday from Johnnie by one of the largest stockholders in the city is to the effect that the clean-up now being made is estimated to produce a little better results than the first one, which was made by the former management, since the mine is a large amount of accumulated low-grade ore was run through the mill and it was not expected by the management that the bullion would show much greater values.

Frick in Merger.

Following an advance in Goldfields Consolidated on the mining stock markets of San Francisco and New York, yesterday, in explanation of the rise, it is said upon what is considered excellent authority, that H. C. Frick, one of the Pittsburgh steel magnates and former partner of Andrew Carnegie, has consented to join the board of directors. Telegraphic advices to this effect were received yesterday by the Goldfields Stock Brokerage Company, and it is generally believed that Frick's support should finally be verified, there will see much higher figures for the acquisition of such financial power to the directorate, already said to be influential men, would indicate a tendency to guarantee the issue, as one of the underwriting to the issue to the public, and would result in the stock being put on a basis of a market that has not been reached. On the New York Stock Exchange yesterday, the stock sold up to $4.12½, with strong demand and closed the day with bids at $4 and offerings at $4.87½. In San Francisco the opening sales were at $4.75 and advanced to $5.87½ during the day, with closing figures at the top.

Other rich strikes upon the Mother Lode, in Laguna, part of the Comstock holdings, have also contributed an increased demand for the stock at higher figures. On the Mother Lode, very important find has been made on the 600-foot level in the cross-cut leading to Manager Mackenzie's property. Most important in the history of the wonderful mine. Thirteen feet of ore assay returns of $74.50 per ton, and the full extent of the body of ore has not been ascertained. This is a new vein that was opened up on the 600-foot level. A winze was sunk on the vein from that level for 125 feet on an incline from the 600-foot level, and connected with the winze, which is 600 feet of backs of high-grade ore.

Tonopah Earnings.

The annual report of the Tonopah Mining Company, which was issued yesterday, brings much encouragement to stockholders and seems to indicate an early resumption of the dividends which have made the company famous in the past. The total receipts and income for the fiscal year ending February 29, were $1,671,000, total cash on hand, $177,449. During the months of the year shown a total of 36000 tons run through the mill each month, and during the months that amount was increased to 42,000 tons. It is officially stated that the mine has about the same height above the 600-foot level as ore now being developed. Unfavorable intrusion around the shaft is not commercially valuable, ranging from $5 to $6 per ton, but management believes that it is a good indication of improving ore.

The annual report, issued yesterday, shows a disappointing condition of affairs and the resignation of the entire directorate of such men as Thomas and J. S. Carstairs, of Los Angeles, who have been connected with the company for many years, is significant that the outlook, as regards the inside, is not particularly promising. The production for the month in May, 1907, was $74,000, and dividends amounting to $60,000 were disbursed. For last year the production reached $314,692, and dividends were entirely suspended. It is believed that the cost of production has practically quadrupled.

Even to Get Even.

Charles Schwab, who made a fortune in steel and who has made fortunes for others in the mining business, is now trying to get even in the San Toy property, which is adjoining negotiations for the Potosi mine and the Chloride company's properties in the Ballahn district in the state of Sonora, Mexico. Already heavy operations are reported from Chloride, and it is said that Schwab has made the first payment on the option and has secured control of the property for the balance of time for the balance of the purchase price. In a statement recently issued in New York, he deplores the fact that operations in Nevada and Arizona do not expect to take out any more gold properties. He declares that the values at depth in the Tonopah and Goldfield mines are greater than ever. The rumor that the Schwab interests have been bearing the market to obtain control are denied, and are generally believed to have been circulated with the object of bolstering a falling and John Stuart, whose engagement was announced at an elaborate luncheon given yesterday afternoon at the California Club.

Miss Hazel Patterson,

ANNOUNCED BRIDE-ELECT.

Engagement of Miss Hazel Patterson and John Stuart the Surprise at a Luncheon.

At an elaborate luncheon given yesterday afternoon at the California Club by Mrs. W. C. Patterson in compliment to the Misses Marian Churchill and Elizabeth Drake, two charming brides-to-be, a surprise announcement was made of the interesting engagement of the hostess' lovely young daughter, Miss Hazel Patterson, to John Stuart, manager of the Pacific Electric Building.

Guests were seated at a large round table, in the center of which were great masses of wild brake and maidenhair ferns. These were brightened here and there with sprays of red foliage.

Corsage bouquets of orange blossoms tied with figured tulle marked places for the three brides-elect, while the other covers were ornamented with Cecile Bruner roses adorned with butterfly bows of figured pale pink ribbon. Monogram cards with the guest's name in gold were laid for Miss Drake, Miss Churchill, Miss Patterson, Miss Gertrude Churchill, Miss Lucy Clark, Miss Annis Van Nuys, Miss Eva Elizabeth Keating, Miss Mary Hubbell, Miss Lois Chamberlain, Miss Grace Rowley, Miss Mollie Adelia Brown, Miss Mary Abascal, Miss Emma Bates, Miss Ethel Shaw, Miss Gertrude King, Miss Katherine Bashford, Miss Florence Avery, Mrs. H. R. Callender, Mrs. John V. G. Posey, Mrs. John Kingsley Macomber, Jr., Mrs. R. P. McReynolds and Mrs. W. C. Carpenter.

JAPANESE ART SHOW.

Exhibition Opens at Blanchard Hall, Wedding, Nippon Style, Being a Side Feature.

M. Kosai, a Japanese artist of Pasadena, is in charge of the "Shogakai and Tenlan Kai" exhibition of Japanese art now on at Blanchard Hall. The exhibition opened yesterday morning. Today it will remain open from 7 till 10 o'clock in the evening. On Sunday, from 2 to 5 o'clock p.m., pictures only will be shown.

Yesterday afternoon, the public, while having a good opportunity to look at the kakamoni, or Japanese picture banners, designed for living-room walls, were also treated to Japanese methods of painting in water colors with the brush. T. Aoki and M. Kosai were the demonstrators with the magic brushes. Zip-zip-zip! and the picture was done—a bluejay swaying on a tall reed, among a wilderness of other reeds; a hawk in a meadow, a cluster of yellow chrysanthemums. To show the artists's dexterity of hand and sureness of touch, the pictures were all painted upside down.

As the promised geisha girls and the fencers did not appear, the management of the exhibition improvised a wedding in Japanese style. The pretty ceremony was scheduled for 4 o'clock, but the gorgeous, giggling little Japanese bride took the usual prerogative of a bride, and did not appear on the tapis for another hour. Much to the disappointment of the onlookers, the self-conscious young Jap who acted as groom was dressed in American coat and trousers.

Some pretty girls—not Japanese—served all comers with tea and "cakes in the cha-no-ma"—whatever that may be.

PRAYER-BOOK PICTURES.

A novel religious play, "The Little Pilgrims and the Book Beloved," is to be given Monday evening at Dobinson Auditorium, in connection with the meetings of the Episcopal Sunday-school Institute. The children of St. Luke's Church are to represent by dialogue and banners the history and meaning of the prayer-book. Each office is presented by a child, who explains it, at the bidding of "Mother Church," to the "Little Pilgrims from China," who come inquiring about Christian worship. Appropriate hymns will be sung. The chief part, that of "Mother Church," will be taken by Miss Irene Wadey, a talented young singer and dramatist—who, by the way, was a successful Times scholarship contestant.

CAPT. HOBSON HERE.

Passes Strenuous Day in This City on His Lecturing Campaign—To See Breakwater Today.

Representative Richmond Pearson Hobson of Alabama, champion of the "greater navy" in Congress, arrived in the city yesterday and registered at the Alexandria. He then went out to Occidental College, where he delivered a talk before the student body upon the necessity for a large navy.

Last night Capt. Hobson spoke at the Lowe Operahouse in Pasadena on, "America, the Peacemaker Among Nations." Members of the United Spanish War Veterans escorted Capt. Hobson to the theater and occupied the boxes during his address. At the close of the talk they accompanied him back to this city. Tonight he will talk in the auditorium of the Polytechnic High School on "America, the Mistress of the Seas." Following the lecture he will be tendered a reception by the United Spanish War Veterans.

When Capt. Hobson arrived at Arcade Station yesterday morning a representative deputation of Spanish War veterans was at hand to welcome him. Among them were several of his old friends, including Judge C. D. Wilbur, who was his classmate at Annapolis.

This morning representatives of the Chamber of Commerce and a few invited guests will escort Capt. Hobson to San Pedro and Point Firmin, that he may have an opportunity to inspect the breakwater and harbor.

In the afternoon Capt. Hobson will be entertained with an automobile ride about the city, and with a luncheon at the California Club.

WOMEN TIRE OF LIFE.

One Slightly Demented, the Other Despondent, Take Poison, but Both Recover.

Mrs. J. L. Muigs, 45 years of age, attempted to commit suicide yesterday morning at No. 701½ South Broadway, by inhaling chloroform.

She was found by roomers and hurried to the Receiving Hospital, where Dr. Crook worked over her for an hour before she regained consciousness.

Mrs. Muigs left her home at No. 272 North Avenue 22, the afternoon before last. She was slightly demented. Her husband spent the night searching for her, and did not learn of her whereabouts until notified by the police.

Mary Eliot, who attempted suicide by drinking laudanum, at No. 217½ South Main street, is rapidly recovering from the effects of the poison.

"I was just down and out and tired of the game," she said yesterday morning. "I tried to be decent, and found that it was a losing game, and I thought I would rather quit than live the kind of life that some women I had met were doing.

"My name is not Eliot. I am a Pasadena girl, and have relatives there, but I do not want to cause them misery by dragging them into this miserable affair."

SEEING THE WESTERN WORLD.

"South Africa is more prosperous today than ever before, and it is being settled with extreme rapidity by people from all parts of the world," said Maj. H. S. Woodcock, retired British army officer, who arrived at the Westminster yesterday from Toronto, Can., where he spent some time visiting his brother. "The opportunities in the British colonies of South Africa are great and the various immigrants are soon assimilated into a nation similar in attribute to the American people. The Boers are perfectly satisfied with the new régime, and for a fact, care very little who rules the land, so long as they may hold their farms undisturbed. Maj. Woodcock served in China during the Boxer uprising, and in the Indian army for a few years. Altogether he fought twenty-one years under the British flag, and he has traveled in every country of the Eastern Hemisphere. "I want to see the western world, now, and this is my first trip through America. The people are certainly most kind. The mountains of this section surpass any I have ever beheld. The Grand Cañon cannot be duplicated anywhere in nature. From here I shall proceed north."

YELKO

Successfully replaces eggs and baking powder in the making of cake, cookies, buns, gems, doughnuts, etc., at an actual saving of ¾ the cost of the eggs and baking powder.

One can of YELKO (at 25c) goes farther than $1.00 worth of baking powder and eggs. Every housewife and pastry cook will be delighted with this ideal money-saving food product.

Food experts have proved that better pastry results can be obtained with YELKO than with eggs and baking powder.

Monday morning, May 11, practical demontrations of YELKO will be held at the Fifth Street Store. Expert cooks will mix and bake all forms of pastry in which YELKO will be substituted for baking powder and eggs.

Every grocer has YELKO. If your grocer can't supply you, YELKO may be secured at the Fifth St. Store, or send us your name and the name of your grocer and we will see that you are supplied. Price 25c per can.

Editorial Pen Points

The fleet now stands ready to defend the California coast just for the love of it.

"It will be Bryan again," says one Democrat. "Then it will be cryin' agin," says another.

Supposing we must come to black newspapers, they will be better than yellow ones, anyway.

Another remarkable thing about Mr. Bryan is that he is always making attacks while on the defensive.

No use talking, ladies and gentlemen, those 8000 sailormen of the fleet are about the greatest bunch there is.

Southern California Republicanism is rock-ribbed, dyed-in-the-wool, copper-riveted and otherwise bomb proof.

It will be the last straw if Heney fails to convict Abe Ruef, and no one will be surprised if that's what happens.

When the cares of state lie on a man it may relieve his mind to some extent if he will frequently state his cares.

There is probably nothing rotten in the State of Denmark, but it seems to be a country pretty hard up for real money.

Congress ought to feel grateful to the newspapers for the information that it is still instructed what to do by Sam Gompers.

When the Republicans of the country show a disposition to get apart the Democrats show a disposition to get together.

Hetty Green has gone back to the little old $19 a week flat, and we'll bet that she's even sorry she bought that new bonnet.

The word "loyalty" has a good ring to it. And it is a word that will ring like clarion notes through the Sacramento convention.

No man can say with a better grace than "Uncle Joe" Cannon that it is better to be seventy-two years young than forty years old.

The campaign is on and yet we haven't noticed that a single editor has used the phrase "the Ides of November." What's the matter?

There seems to be no longer any doubt that Mr. Raisuli is alive and good for several more kidnaps if anybody worth while strays his way.

"The country is morally sound," says Gov. Hughes. But he desires to make it more so by wiping out the bookmakers at the race tracks.

Some people are worrying to know if Anna Gould has married De Sagan, just as though it makes any difference whether she has or not.

When a man finds that he no longer thinks of the girls he was in love with when he was a boy, he can put it down for certain that he has grown old.

The Indiana sleuths have four theories concerning the Gunness business. While they were at it they might as well have made it an even half dozen.

It is doubtful that the country can be made to forget that although Mr. Bryan has entered the respectable profession of journalism he was once a lawyer.

The Denver convention will certainly be a highly entertaining affair. Alton B. Parker, J. Ham Lewis, George Fred Williams and many other freaks will be there.

We have an idea that the Japs who were among the crowds that lined the streets of San Francisco when the parade went by will take the trouble to write home about it.

Had the fleet arrived in San Francisco just about two years ago while the big quake and fire were in progress the excitement would have been even greater than it is now.

Owing to the cloak afforded by the secret ballot, about two-thirds of the alleged Republicans who voted the Fennessy-Biddle-Lissner ticket are now prepared to deny it.

We are not envious, and we freely acknowledge that the San Francisco celebration is a wonder, but we don't think the sailors have that homelike feeling that they had down here.

Harry Thaw is still endeavoring to call the attention of the court to his argument that it isn't fair to keep him in an asylum while so many other crazy men are allowed to run loose.

It is all very well for great statesmen to talk and look wise, but the destinies of this country are settled by men who hold down the cracker barrels in the country grocery stores.

To be defeated three times for the Presidency will doubtless be construed by Mr. Bryan to be as good an advertisement for the Chautauqua circuit as any other that can be thought of.

MEN AND REPUBLICANS WHO KNOW.

Of all the futile, crooked and impudent attempts made by the recalcitrants to capture the Republican party of the State, the worst in all respects is the last.

Here is the programme mapped out by the political rainbow-chasers: To cajole, entice or threaten enough of the delegates elected on the regular ticket to join the insurrectos to enable them to steal the convention organization, thus empowering the minority to control the State. The impudence of this scheme is colossal.

It implies, in the first place, that a large number of the regular delegates are traitors, not true men. It presupposes that a large number of these delegates are inclined to Populism, and are not true Republicans. It intimates that this large number of the regular delegates are tyros who never were in politics before. Because the scheme involves all these things, it must fail.

Here is what would be necessary to carry out this plan to betray the party into the hands of the wreckers: By the latest figures attainable the regular delegates will outnumber the insurrectos by about two hundred. That is approximately two regulars to each irregular. Shall fully one hundred of the men elected by their neighbors after a bitter fight, in which principle was involved and every man's heart was in the conflict, betray the confidence reposed in them and join the ranks of the insurrectos? The plan must fail for the reason that the delegates, as true men, will not betray their trust. It is the height of unblushing impudence to assume the contrary.

The irregulars, who were irregular in all respects (and never more so than in this impudent proposition) are intent on revolutionizing the party by means of allies who never were and are not Republicans. In the convention a very considerable number of the insurrectos are much more likely to line up with the regulars on vital issues than to pursue the contrary course. They were misled into going over to the opposition on certain side issues which will have no place in the convention. That body will confine its actions to purely party issues on broad, well-defined lines. There will be nothing broached to which a true Republican may not give support, unless it is a side issue attemped to be introduced by some of the un-Republican delegates sent up by the revolting league leaders. There will be a large number of these delegates who are sound Republicans, and on issues in which their allegiance is not bound up they will be with the party.

To expect to carry out this scheme is about as wild an idea as was ever heard of in politics. Seasoned men who have been in politics before will see without a guide the fatuous character of this wild dream. They will realize that the manhood, loyalty, Republicanism, good sense and common honesty of the delegates will save all of them from going into any such crooked, treacherous, rash and un-Republican scheme, doomed to failure from the start.

The proposition will be so abhorrent to the minds of all true men and loyal Republicans that they will shrink from it with intuitive horror. Many of these, who were elected by the insurrectos, have been hard to convince that their "leaders" were small tricksters, ready to resort to perjury, and to alliances dangerous to the party, in order to carry out selfish ends. Every good man and true who has a drop of common honesty in his veins, or who cares a straw for the reputation of his party or of himself, will see clearly the dangerous character of the men he is acting with as soon as the mere outline of this new scheme to debauch the public conscience is laid bare. The scheme will have a dangerous reaction and injure the reputation of every man who lends his aid to it. It will further lower the reputation of the irregular leaders who go into this plan, quite as irregular as the procuring of votes at the primaries through rank perjury.

By all means let the attempt be made. It will be the most dangerous boomerang yet thrown by these maladroit "leaders."

NATIONAL PLATFORM BY NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The Republican State Convention of California, which will meet in Sacramento May 14, will have two duties to perform for the Republican voters of California, and the discharge of these duties will about fulfill the important functions of that body.

One of the duties will be to select a delegation to go to the National Republican Convention, to be held at Chicago June 16 and following days, to nominate a candidate for the Presidency and to construct a platform—a declaration of principles—on which we shall go before the country in the fall campaign. This part of the work to be done at Sacramento may be regarded as almost a foregone conclusion. The delegates who shall go to Chicago will be selected on the ground of their loyalty to the Republican party, particularly to the fundamental principles of the party, and who have rendered important services in times past in upholding these fundamental principles in a strong and effective way. This shall be the reward of honor for those who have best merited it at the hands of the party. There is no question before the Republicans of the State of California as to their choice for the Presidency. The Times has shown by unquestionable facts, time after time since last December, that the State is for Mr. Taft.

The other duty imposed upon the State convention will be to set forth in a series of resolutions the attitude of the party in this State toward the issues before the country. This action may prove to be very different from the selection of delegates, which we have already characterized as a plain and easy matter.

The State convention will be made up of delegates of divergent views and sentiments. There have come into the party, within recent years, a number of new converts from other parties, some of whom may have views behind them. Many of these notions the authors are seeking at the present time to graft upon the Republican party. They have come to convert the party rather than as converts to its principles. It may be expected that these people will attempt to have resolutions adopted committing the Republican party to notions and fads never heretofore heard in any considerable gathering of intelligent, sure-enough Republicans.

Let us glance back at a little matter of political history. In the year 1896, as tens of thousands of Republican voters in the State of California know, a Republican convention—held that year, too, in the city of Sacramento—was carried off its feet by a wave of local popular sentiment. The result of this was to incorporate in the State platform a resolution strongly in favor of what a month later proved to be the very essence, heart and soul of Bryanism—the financial heresy known as the free coinage of silver at the ration of sixteen to one. That declaration should never have been made in the State convention. It was a matter involving the Republican party in every State in the Union. We were only a small fraction of that party, and it was unwarrantable that we should undertake to say to the national party what the national platform should be. The declaration in the State platform, in direct antagonism to that upon finance and coinage, put into the national declaration of principles and directly parallel with the declaration of the Bryan convention made at the city of Chicago, proved to be the most serious handicap of the party in the State of California. Our speakers and candidates for Congress, under the prompting of the Republican State Committee, were forced to choose between the State declaration and that of the national convention. Some of them foolishly and treacherously stood upon the State platform and refused to have anything to do with that made by the national convention. Others weakly apologized for the declaration made by the national convention; and in all cases the whole subject was an exceedingly sore one, distracted Republican voters in a serious manner, and lost the party thousands upon thousands of votes.

The Times stood fast for sound money, supporting the decision in the national platform, registered by the supreme court of the party, the national convention.

Had it not been that a large number of intelligent, patriotic and conservative Democrats rallied to the Republican standard because of the declaration of the national convention on finance and coinage, the Bryan forces would have swept California by 10,000 or 15,000 votes, perhaps more.

Now we think the recital of this brief bit of history should prove a sufficient warning to the State convention about to meet at Sacramento. Leave the making of the national platform where it belongs, to the national convention. In this, as in other matters, it is futile to attempt to have the tail try to wag the dog, and particularly when the tail is such a little stump concern and the dog is such an exceedingly large animal. The convention at Sacramento will have enough matter out of which to construct a platform which will hold and not go to pieces. State issues should be kept out of it. Everything of a questionable character should be excluded. Those who construct the declaration of principles should have careful regard to what the party has stood for heretofore; to the former declarations of the party on important issues; to Republican principles which have been agreed upon by the great majority of the party in all the States of the Union.

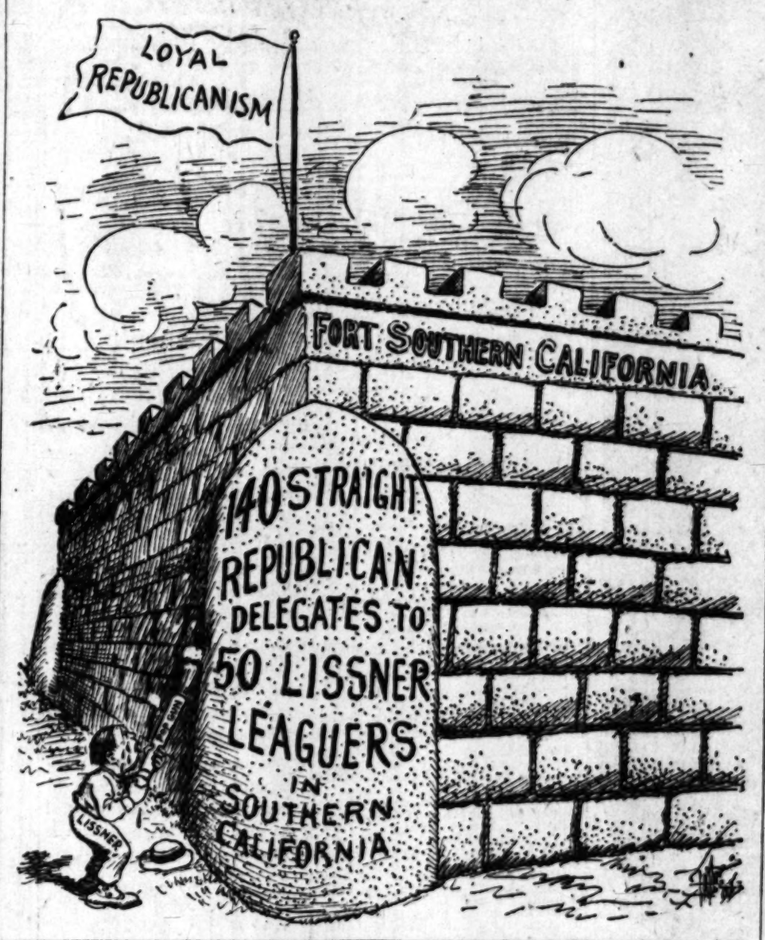
The convention at Sacramento can hardly go too far in commending the fearless and effective administration of our President. The State government is being conducted with conspicuous honesty and ability. It is apparently the decision of a very large majority of the party that the tariff shall be revised. Here is a point which the State platform may very properly dwell upon. In our opinion, in referring to this matter in the declaration of principles to be enunciated by the State convention, particular stress should be laid upon the principle that this is to be a revision of the tariff by the friends of tariff protection. It is to be true tariff revision, not merely tariff tinkering, and above all things not tariff ruin. It must not smack one bit of anything that savors in the least of Bryanism, that is free trade. It should stand up squarely on all fours for effective and sufficient protection through the tariff schedules to every important industry in the United States. In doing this it protects above all things American wage-earners from ruinous competition with pauper labor beyond seas.

But it is in relation to what the State platform should eschew that most attention should be paid. Here is the danger. Depend upon it, there will be attempts made to commit the party to notions which have been borrowed from the rankest Populist leaders of the United States, things never heard of in the Republican party until very recent days. There are men whose eyes are fixed upon Oklahoma as the model of all modern statesmanship. The party at the East and at the West is exceedingly divided as to the Sherman anti-trust law. There is a very persistent attempt made by capitalistic monopolists on one side and organized labor monopolists on the other to have this law made utterly ineffective, reduced to a condition which Mr. Cleveland would characterize as "innocuous desuetude." It is our opinion that the decision of this matter, one way or the other, should be left severely alone by the convention at Sacramento, which at best is but an inferior court, not endowed with jurisdiction over this matter in any way. The national convention, in our opinion, is very little likely to take any position which would seriously impair the effectiveness of the Sherman anti-trust act. That law needs revision, but that should be in such a way as to make it more effective, not less so. It should be amended in such a way as to give every person connected in any capacity with any business enterprise an absolutely equal opportunity, so far as the law can secure that result, to do business on equal terms with every other person. It should also safeguard the interests of all workers, not a part merely, giving every man who lives by his daily wage an absolutely equal footing before the law with every other man who lives in the same way under the American flag.

The State convention will be organized and controlled by regular Republicans, men who have been loyal to the party in the past and are loyal now—men who understand thoroughly the principles of the party and who have had experience in affairs. With the past to guide them, and the known, established principles of Republicanism to stand upon, there is little doubt as to what their action will be.

We trust that the Committee on Resolutions will be made up of the best brains in the convention, of the truest, longest-tried, staunchest and most intelligent Republicans, that these men will scrupulously scan every resolution offered for discussion or adoption, and that a capacious waste-basket will be at hand to take care of all un-Republican or questionable propositions attempted to be laid before the convention.

IMPREGNABLE.



SAME AS HERE.

Denmark faces a serious industrial crisis. Many of its laboring people there are socialists. Many are out on strike and the city of Copenhagen is full of idle people. Employment might be had if employers and employés could agree on rates of wages and hours. Meantime foreign manufactures must be used, thus draining the country of money.

But, furthermore, in the rural districts all through the kingdom, farmers are unable to find hands to do farm work, and are bringing in foreigners to do it.

So it goes in this country, too. In the cities are many who cannot find employment, but in the country, on the other hand, are many employers who cannot find hands to do the work of the farms. In some instances the idle in the city are too ignorant to know where work is to be had. Others of these unemployed would not know how to do farm work if they were in the field where it is to be done.

The government is about to undertake a careful study of this congestion in the large cities and this scarcity of toilers on the farms. It is a very important movement, which will require much study and wise action, and will be productive of good. In the States on this Coast, particularly in California, the bureau might well examine into the conditions surrounding farm employés. This work has been taken up so extensively by oriental laborers who "keep themselves" that the employment is not attractive to the better class of Caucasians. The quarters and the board provided are often very crude.

THE AMERICAN WAGE-EARNER.

There would be less discontent among the wage-earners of this country if they knew the facts about the pay they receive and the wages paid in other countries.

The Census Bureau reports the average wages paid in manufactories in the Western States is $13.65 per week; in the North Central States, $10.62; North Atlantic, $8.33, and in the South, $7.41. The general average is $10 per week.

Comparing with Western Europe, where wages are higher than in any other foreign countries, the average weekly pay here is pretty close to the monthly wage there. Ten dollars is fifty francs. Three francs a day is not bad wages in Belgium or France. The men who operate street cars, and government employés are usually paid about 3 francs a day. For a six days' week this would be 18 francs, or $3.60 a week. In London there are 200,000 women whose wage is 24 cents a day. In the cotton factories in Lincolnshire, where the pay is mostly by piece work, the operatives make from $6 to $8 a week.

In the census report the wages of women, children, negroes and all are averaged. The pay of adults would average much higher, of male adults still higher, and of white male adults still higher again.

On page 6, part 2, of this issue is reproduced a timely article by the editor of The Times, entitled "Liberty Under Law," from the magazine, "Government," published in Boston.

MUSIC AND THE STAGE.

"Erminie," which is the next week's auditorium bill, has a particular warm place in Miss Eleanor Kent's heart, for it was this opera which started her on her career as a prima donna.

Some eight years ago Miss Kent, who was then noted as a promising young singer of small roles in musical productions, was resting at Atlantic City, where an all-star revival of "Erminie" was in preparation for special performance.

Tomasso Hall was to sing the soprano [illegible] but at 4 o'clock on the afternoon of the day in which she was to sing, the manager burst excitedly into Miss [illegible]'s apartments.

"She's a score," he shouted, "and [illegible] your part; wing this and make [illegible] at the songs. You must sing [illegible] Hall's place tonight!"

"You're joking, aren't you?" laughed Miss [illegible].

"I am not, and 'no' shan't be your answer; you've simply got to do this."

And as a result of his insistence, [illegible] the prima donna yesterday afternoon, "I did manage to get some [illegible] of the songs brushed up during those precious four hours, and I [illegible] ried about with me a few typewritten [illegible] slips with lines, and my other lines [illegible] stars whispered to me from moment to moment.

[illegible] not only sang 'Erminie' that night, but I studied up the part in the following week, and continued in character to the end of the engagement. I had been singing with Harrison '1492,' but this was the beginning of my operatic career."

Mme. Ester Adaberto is said to have signed a contract to appear as dramatic soprano at the Metropolitan Opera house next season. Once before Mme. Adaberto got as far as the preliminaries, with Hammerstein, but failed to sing. Her friends believe she will really come to perform this time, however.

Carson Bettin and his young friends gave an audience of fine proportions [illegible] Auditorium last night. The soprano, with the assistance of [illegible] Jaime Witson Overton and mixed choir, presented a programme [illegible] very wide divergence.

Miss Bettin's voice is one of very [illegible] timbre, but it is well trained, [illegible] true to pitch, and is used with [illegible] boyish—musical taste.

Such numbers as the Bischoff [illegible] of Ages," the familiar Flower [illegible] from "Faust," and various other [illegible] selections, of religious nature, [illegible] young singer was at ease and used [illegible] with sincere expressiveness. [illegible] Bonna e Mobile," a thing of [illegible] subtlety, has no place on a [illegible] programme, however, and the [illegible] may be said of Mrs. Beach's [illegible] Year's At the Spring," which is [illegible] a rhapsodic burst for a great [illegible] soprano.

Overton displays technique of [illegible] sort and a firm though somewhat [illegible] tone—a tone which will doubtless be expanded into some emotional [illegible] instrumentality as the violinist ma[illegible]

[illegible] evening's recital was an occasion for a picnic of the first order [illegible] a romping herd of lively and [illegible] young choir boys.

The postponed concert of the Treble [illegible] Club will probably be given on [illegible] afternoon, May 22. Leandro [illegible] will direct.

[illegible] stock company records bid [illegible] be broken by the Belasco [illegible], which last night issued announcements for the sixth week of [illegible] Girl of the Golden West." The [illegible], or fifth week, has tied Mr. [illegible]co's "Half-Breed" performance, [illegible] ran for more than a month.

Mme. Baumgardt, in her series of [illegible] on artistic Italy, will talk tonight, at Symphony Hall, upon [illegible] and Herculaneum. A large [illegible] of new views will be shown.

[illegible] was given last evening at [illegible] Avenue Presbyterian [illegible] under the general direction of [illegible] Rau. Soloists were Miss Ione [illegible], Miss Grace Whitehorn, Miss Ada [illegible], Miss Catherine Brown and [illegible] Eberts, assisted by Miss [illegible] Paugh and Belle Bennison.

BULK GOODS

Every individual who realizes the importance of the "Pure Food Law," and who stands for its enforcement, can assist in its upbuilding by insisting that all purchases of Bulk Wines and Liquors made by him shall be labeled with the prefix "Pure or straight," "Blend," "Compound" or "Imitation." You are thus informed of exactly what you buy.

Every package leaving our house is labeled "Pure." Nothing else is carried by us. In placing your orders, we ask your consideration of this feature.

LIBERTY UNDER LAW.

By Gen. Harrison Gray Otis,
Editor Los Angeles Times.

[Reproduced from the magazine, "Government" (Boston,) for May, 1908. Some of the non-partisan portions of this article were embraced in an address delivered by the author at the annual banquet of the Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States (California Commandery) at the Alexandria Hotel in Los Angeles, February 22, 1908.]

UNDER the simple Roman democracy of ancient times the important function of declaring the public will was frequently discharged by the assembled populace merely through the simple sign of "hands up" in the Forum. That sign was intended to register the popular edict, and to be an "instruction" to the Roman Senate, which actually made the laws. In this simple way was made known the will of the assembled Romans, or the will of a clan, or perhaps, more often, the simple will of the popular idol of the hour, who, with eloquent though demagogic utterances, swayed the volatile and capricious populace as the wind sways the reed before it.

Not so the conception of those wise men, the fathers who undertook the creation of a genuine republic in the New World. Not so with our American democracy, even in the earliest stages of governmental experimentation. The contemplation of the fathers was to establish here a government of liberty under law—a government designed to be truly a government of the people, yet a well-ordered one, which should never give to a small segment of the population the right to do acts not sanctioned by a clear majority of the whole body of the electorate. Hence they devised a government which was to be, not a democracy pure and simple, but a representative government, as contradistinguished from those early experimenis which had failed to stand the test of time and trial. The lessons of history had taught them that such a democracy might be a "pure democracy, or it might be a debied democracy, accouling as the people under it were either virtuous or corrupt."

Liberty without license was the fundamental and foremost idea in the minds of those wise men. So it came about that the system under which we live was created as representative government, with three great divisions—Legislative, Executive and Judicial. Under this matchless device for securing true popular control it was intended that the actual and ascertained will of the people, as expressed through the formal process of ordered and orderly elections, national, State, district and local, should have rightful sway and become "the law of the land," as immortal Grant, that towering figure in the world's history—the first soldier and the first citizen and the first magistrate of his time—so aptly expressed it. it was not intended or permitted that the crude Roman devices of "hands up" or "hands down" should be engrafted upon the governmental system of our young republic; nor that the public will should be finally registered at the hustings or on "the stump." Congress, the State Legislatures and authorized municipal bodies make our laws, and courts have been created to interpret and enforce them.

In a republic where laws spring from the people, they actually aim to protect themselves from themselves, curious as the statement may seem to the subject of a monarchy. The natural tendency of unregenerate man is to take his neighbor by the throat and choke the victim into submission to the other's will. "Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn." The real predatory classes in the community are its convicted criminals, together with the unconvicted offenders whom the law is ever pursuing, seeking to reach and punish. So it is that the honest and worthy must protect themselves by law against the dishonest and unworthy. A nation, a State or a community cannot suffer itself to be destroyed by the lawbreakers, traitors, insurrectionists and criminals in its midst. The conservers and defenders of society and the State have the right to protect them from assault and destruction. When President Lincoln (praise be to his immortal name!) was reproached for alleged violation of the Constitution while prosecuting his colossal task of suppressing the Great Rebellion, he replied, in effect, that the life of the nation must first be saved and the Constitution looked to afterwards. The Great Commoner, the foremost defender of the faith, was right, as he always was, because a constitution without a country would be nothing—worse than nothing—it would be only a hollow mockery.

Liberty without law becomes license. License first degenerates into social disorder, then into internecine conflict, then into revolution, and finally into unmixed anarchy, which is spcial chaos and national death—the destruction of government, the beginning of the end.

In the very nature of the case, personal and civic freedom must have limitations and be regulated by law. "Oh, Freedom! thou art not, as poets dream,
And wavy tresses gushing from the cap
With which the Roman master crowned his slave
When he took off the gyves. A bearded man,
Armed to the teeth, art thou; one mailed hand
Grasps the broad shield, and one the sword; thy brow,
Glorious in beauty though it be, is scarred
With token of old wars."

Can we who live in this land of liberty regulated by law—this land in which it was designed by its immortal founders that equal and exact justice among citizens should be the rule and not the exception—can we look with toleration upon any movement, come from what quarter it may, that tends in even the remotest degree in the direction of "doctoring" and thus of lowering the American standard of possible government? God forbid!

That "tanner with the strange device," the unfamiliar "Initiative, Referendum and Recall," was never floated to the breeze by the founders of the republic.

THE NATION BUILDERS.

And so it came about that our government, which we fondly believe to be the best ever devised by the wisdom and ingenuity of man, was created as a government of constitutions and of laws made thereunder—the basic structure being the Constitution of the United States, with a Congress to enact legislation national in character, and harmonious State constitutions and State governments to carry on the public business of the separate commonwealths, which, united, go to make up what we now broadly call the nation.

Those old nation-builders of ours wisely chose a happy medium between "the lawlessness of a flimsy republic and the arrogance of an antiquated absolutism." They made no provision for that modern and delusive fad, "direct legislation" and its co-freaks, the i. and two r.'s, but specifically engrafted upon the Constitution clear provisions conferring upon chosen servants—selected lawmakers—the power to enact legislation in the name of their masters, the people.

For the sake of guaranteeing justice to all citizens, a system of courts of law was established. Over all the Supreme Court of the United States was created, for even subordinate courts, as well as individuals, have sometimes to be brought to account, checked in their devious career, and made to bow before the universal bar of Justice, whose jurisdiction is wider even than the confines of the republic.

The power of injunction was properly provided for. Defending the exercise of this great legal safeguard, the eminent Justice Brewer said at Baltimore only recently:

"So far from removing or restricting this power, there never was a time when its unrestricted and vigorous exercise was worth more to the nation and for the best interests of all. As population becomes more dense, as business interests multiply and crowd each other, the restraining power of a court of equity is of far greater importance than the punishing power of a court of criminal law. . . . A corrupt or ignorant judiciary and a feeble and cowardly bar are certain indications of a descending nation, for it is written by the finger of the Almighty on the everlasting tablets of the universe that no nation can endure and prosper unless into all its life and activities justice enters as an abiding and controlling force."

Under the Supreme Court are circuit, district and other United States courts; and in the several commonwealths the necessary State and lower courts, all created according to the fundamental law of each, and all to be in harmony with, not antagonistic to, the great national plan of jurisprudence.

Every citizen to have his day in court, if required for his own protection; trial before a just judge and by an impartial jury of his countrymen; fair opportunities to face his accusers in open court; the right to have witnesses heard; the right to have an attorney for his defense, if need be, at the public cost; the right to appeal to a higher court—in short, a "chance for his white alley;"—these are component and essential features of this admirable plan for securing justice.

Suppose the edicts of the civil courts are defied, resisted or disregarded, as is, unfortunately, sometimes the case. Then the laws provide that force be invoked; that the civil power in the shape of the sheriff and his posse, together with the constabulary, shall be summoned; and if these civil forces be of insufficient strength to suppress lawlessness, then that the militia be called out.

But when the civil power, supported by the sheriffs and the militia, proves inadequate for the purposes of peace and order, what then? In the last dread resort, recourse must be had to the Army and the Navy of the United States. And there the soldiers of the Union came to the front during the perilous yet pulsant period of the Civil War of 1861. Then, as supplied, the mighty army of the republic rose into being, springing as if by magic out of the very heart of the nation, for the sake of saving her imperiled life, defending her territorial integrity and laws, and perpetuating her illustrious existence.

It is these paramount principles of civil government that patriotic citizens must fight to vindicate, protect, defend and enforce, if they would save the sacred fabric of the foremost republic upon earth.

FOR THE COURTS.

The object of human law should be human justice; but when lawmakers fall short of their duty under their oaths, blunder through ignorance, fall down through cowardice, stupidity or weakness, or go wrong through corruption, then it is for the courts, when called upon, to pass upon their work and undo it when found bad.

Public clamor, unfounded suspicion, unsupported charges, popular prejudice, loose denunciation of persons or classes, partisan crusading—none of these things comport with justice; none of them can safely or justly be made the basis of popular, legislative, legal or judicial assaults upon citizens of whatever class, pursuit or station in life. Even and exact justice, however difficult to find and administer, is the aim of all courts where justice is dispensed and not dispensed with. Biased courts and prejudiced juries are intolerable to the Goddess of Justice. Justice loves evenly balanced scales; she frowns when one side is unfairly borne down by the weight of wealth, of power, of passion, patronage or possession, on the other by the force of selfish conspiracy or cruel public clamor.

Sad will be the hour when the American people forget the priceless truth that all citizens, high or humble, rich or poor powerful or powerless, corporately associated or working independently and alone, "organized" or unorganized, are entitled to a "square deal," to equal rights before the law, to an even chance in the field of human endeavor, so far as the State has to do with the task of insuring equal opportunities for all.

At no time in its history was the country in greater need than it is today of the rule of liberty, law and justice throughout the land.

"O Law, fair form of Liberty! God's light is on thy brow.
O Liberty, the soul of Law! God's very soul art thou.
One the pure river's sparkling flood that clothes the banks with green,
And one the line of stubborn rock that holds the waters in;
Friends that we cannot think apart, seeming each other's foe,
Twin flowers upon a single stalk, with equal grace that grow."

"God give us Law in Liberty, and Liberty in Law."

We have come upon evil times when private individuals, classes, guilds or combinations of any sort dare to set law at defiance and seek their own unworthy ends at the expense of the great mass of law-abiding citizens.

THE LABOR TRUST.

Of all the powerful combinations and conspiracies (and they are many, formidable and dangerous) that exist today against the rights, privileges and immunities of honest citizens, that enormous and frequently lawless aggregation—the labor trust—which unwarrantably seeks to restrict, dominate, control and regulate the legitimate industries of the land, is the most menacing. There is no warrant in either law, morals or economics for the chief pretensions of so-called "organized labor." Every single independent, unorganized citizen, shielded only by the panoply of his citizenship, has under the Constitution and the law all the rights, all the freedom of action, of labor, of contract, and of personal conduct, within the limitations of law, that can possibly be claimed or possessed by the loudest-mouthed adherent of any labor league. The mere fact of "organization" does not in itself give, and cannot give, to the organized any superior rights under the law. The independent non-union worker, even if he be the humblest human in the field of labor—the "pick-and-shovel man"—is entitled to the full protection of the law in his efforts to live by his labor, and to live, if he so elects, outside the ranks of the unions. There is no legal authority anywhere to force him to be a "joiner" against his will. The labor league must not be permitted to usurp the authority of the nation, exerted through the forms of law.

This must necessarily be so under our republican system which demands equality of rights, immunities and opportunities, as well as of protection for all honest citizens alike. The practical denial by the labor trust of these truths constitutes a menace not only to the individual but also to the State at large. It is, in brief, revolt against law, justice, and the sound doctrine of American equality of rights and privileges for all citizens. It is full of danger, and may well alarm thoughtful students of right economic and industrial conditions.

This widespread evil must be checked before still greater harm comes to the paramount cause of freedom in the industries, so vital to the good of the country itself and of all its people, including even the predatory labor pretenders themselves. No kind or class of freedom, personal, political or religious, is more sacred than industrial freedom, or more in need of vindication and protection.

To deny this vital principle would be a usurpation by the few of the rights of the many—a result repugnant to the minds and hearts of the liberty loving—a usurpation not to be tolerated. But I hear the insistent and immediate response: "Shall not labor be permitted to organize?" To that I say "Yes," but only and always and everywhere within the limitations of law and without trenching upon the rights of labor not organized. I myself have never, in any written, printed or oral utterance, denied this right. But I have denied, and do deny, strenuously and at all times, the right of organized labor to claim superior privileges and exceptional immunities as against unorganized labor, which constitutes the great majority, probably 85 per cent., of all the labor of the country. The American people cannot tolerate the doctrine that one body of citizens shall, by reason of combination, compact or conspiracy, arrogate to themselves any rights, privileges and immunities not possessed equally by the whole body of citizens.

Strong claims are habitually set up by the leaders of organized labor as to the advantages to labor itself of organization, the chiefest of these claims being that organization keeps up prices, reduces hours, ameliorates conditions, and is altogether a blessing to that segment of labor which is embraced within the ranks of the leagues. This I deny. Even were it so, the alleged advantages are secured at the expense of the great mass of laborers who are not in the league; and thus organization becomes not a public or a general blessing, even to labor, but a monopoly for the benefit of the few. But admitting, for example and not because it is a fact, that the benefits claimed for organization are genuine and not false, I here array, against this unsupported claim on the part of the managing delegates and leaders of the Gompers stripe, this supreme fact, to wit: that all the combined advantages ever gained for the members of organized labor in the way of increased wages, shorter hours, better conditions and more assured employment are and have been more than offset by the colossal harm done by labor strikes, lockouts, boycotts, harassing and needless warfare between the employing and laboring classes through which so many innocent non-combatants are also made to suffer, and by the widespread and immeasurable harm done to labor itself, both organized and unorganized, and to the families of labor, who are the first to suffer want, distress and agony through the idleness of the heads, and the last to recover. This needless harm is done to the industries, to prosperity and progress, and to the country itself, by discouraging industry, by checking production, paralyzing commerce, retarding manufactures, causing lack of employment, organizing idleness, and making lethargy take the place of activity in the entire domain of human endeavor.

It is bad enough when there is unavoidable idleness among workmen; it is infinitely worse when idleness is avoidable, needless or enforced through wrong economic conditions. When we come to consider the appalling measure of idleness among laborers or workmen of any grade, we must consider it from the standpoint of the whole mass of laborers and not from the standpoint of a few, whose very object is monopoly when they organize themselves into industrial bands or labor leagues—monopoly of the most unjust, injurious and offensive sort. This very monopoly makes of organized labor as a whole the most colossal, the most disturbing, the most despotic and dangerous trust in existence today.

THE ONLY SAFE POLICY.

So that the obvious conclusion, the logic of the situation—not to be evaded or, escaped—is this: Complete freedom in the industries within the limitations of law is the only safe and desirable policy to be pursued in the broad realm of human endeavor, where labor of all classes and grades, high and low, is entitled to equal rights and an even chance. Whether they be employers or employés, captains of industry, merchants, manufacturers, farmers, middlemen, factors, or "just average citizens," all have the right to work, contract, operate and achieve, each in his own way, each in his chosen sphere, and all within the purview of that great charter of our liberties, the Constitution.

In the forthcoming Presidential contest it will be most unfortunate if the country shall see the two chief political parties—the Republican and the Democratic—occupying the same low plane and engaging in unworthy and demagogic rivalry for the votes of "organized labor," as such. A campaign on such a plane will have in it the elements of danger; it will be unworthy of both the parties; it will be casting aside the best traditions of both; it will be a weak, needless and dangerous catering and appeal to the few against the many, to a class against the mass; it will be, in the long run, not for the benefit but to the injury of labor as a whole, because to strengthen the ranks and reinforce the pretensions of "organized labor" will be to strike a body blow at unorganized labor, which is vastly more numerous and possesses every right under the Constitution and the law which can possibly be claimed or possessed by organized labor.

The higher, the more patriotic, the better course in every respect will be for at least one of the great parties to appeal to the whole mass of honest American voters, wholly without regard to their division into classes, either as employers or employés, for their support on broad and just lines—upon lines of lawful equality between citizens, because the Constitution and the law guarantee equality and forbid class distinction and class discrimination between citizens entitled to equal rights.

So it must be obvious that if the citizen and the country likewise are to thrive, there must prevail industrial and business freedom, within the limitation of law, always and everywhere. Freedom of action brings activity in the great fields of labor, employment, enterprise, business and production. Just protection to both employers and workmen brings repose in the industries, and repose is essential to progress—to the largest development and the highest practical results. No business operation, either individual, company, coöperative or corporate, is to be judged or condemned upon the false and narrow standard that it is either large or small, incorporated or not. It is to be judged only upon the true basis, viz.: Is the operation conducted in harmony with or contrary to law? That is the real test; and should a distorted public opinion, or courts, judges and other law officers proceed upon any other hypothesis, intolerable injustice to labor and property, to production and commerce, to the honest citizen himself, is sure to follow—injustice detrimental to the entire country.

It is a serious thing for any body of men, any power, party or press to deal unjust blows at legitimate business. Loose utterances, inconsiderate judgments, precipitate, unfounded actions are ever full of peril to the cause of even handed Justice.

We applaud the law's relentless campaign against known malefactors, as well as of suspected ones, and we rejoice when the right men are overtaken by pursuing Justice, who sometimes, unfortunately, "travels with leaden heel."

Raiders against right must be checked at whatever cost, no matter what their claims, class or combination; no matter what their numbers, power or pretensions. Punishment should not be for some and immunity for others equally guilty. Upon the heads of all who have been proven guilty—and upon none who are innocent—should the heavy hand of retributive justice fall impartially. We stand back of our intrepid President in all his campaigns waged for impartial trials, just verdicts and deserved punishment of the guilty. The Blind Goddess abhors discrimination in dealing with the guilty, and demands for them even and exact treatment, as nearly as may be, under like conditions.

FUNDAMENTAL.

All this, as I have already declared, teaches us that we must never lose sight of the overmastering, fundamental, proposition which is the very heart and core of our system for securing justice and equity—that no citizen shall be deprived of life, liberty or property without due process of law, nor be condemned and punished without having first been found guilty by a jury of his peers, after a fair and patient trial before an impartial tribunal. This indispensable standard must be our guiding star, blazing the straight pathway to that god-like goal which all honest citizens should strive to reach.

These plain propositions being true, there must be no trial and conviction through mere public or private clamor, no matter how loud or insistent; nor through any organized denunciation, whether by irresponsible leagues of any sort, by political assemblies or parties, or by self-righteous and self-appointed censors of the acts of their fellows; nor even by public prints of any shade or hue. Only by the courts of justice shall the accused citizen be tried and adjudged.

The gravamen of my charge against industrial despots, political cowards and demagogues, unfair lawmakers and executives, whoever they may be, is that they deserve censure for denying that paramount and vital principle which I have expressed in substantially these words many times before, viz.: "That every American citizen, panoplied in the rights and safeguarded by the power which the Constitution gives, has the lawful right to pursue, unhampered and undisturbed, any lawful occupation of his choice in a lawful way, and to be protected in that right and in the fruits of his labor by the whole power of the State and of the nation, if need be."

That political party which shall rise to the moral height of openly proclaiming this foremost and vital principle of constitutional liberty will win, and win tremendously in the country at large. I am profoundly convinced that the great body of our honest and patriotic citizenship is looking and longing for a political party honest enough, brave enough, just enough and broad enough to proclaim in its national platform the truths of the Constitution and the law, and to declare for the equal rights of all citizens thereunder. The serious disturbances and colossal evils, past and current, in the industrial and business world have greatly alarmed all conservative and patriotic men and women the country over, who are the mainstay of the land, its hope and its defense. Stalwart Americans, constituting not a class but the great body of our people, are watching the tactics and trend of political parties, especially the two leading ones—the Republican and the Democratic—determined to find which is the safer party for the country, and to find which parties are a menace to it. The essential and imperative need of the United States today is industrial protection and repose, assuring industrial activity, which is impossible without the law's protection of workmen and employers alike in the pursuit of all honest avocations and enterprises of their choice.

Believing, as we are bound to believe, that the great mass of the American people are honest and patriotic, devoted to the principles of constitutional liberty and to the true welfare of the land, can we doubt that they will be found aligning themselves heavily on the side of that national party which, through its personnel, its principles and its practices, shall give the best assurance to the country and the world that it is the fittest party to have the destinies of the country intrusted to its keeping? Should both of the parties commit the inconceivable and immeasurable folly of failing down before a faction instead of standing up for the whole people, the inevitable effect would be to divide the support of the country's best citizenship, and thus make doubtful the result of the coming Presidential election.

PRACTICAL PROPOSITION.

Convinced as I am upon these paramount questions, I advance with profound confidence the practical proposition that that party which shall come nearest to reflecting the faith and expounding the wishes of the great body of law-abiding people will, without a question of doubt, triumph in the election. Viewed in this aspect, the future is not dark—it is luminous to all who have faith in the republic and confidence in the solidity, firmness, patriotism and virtue of the vast majority of its citizens.

If the party that expects to make Secretary Taft its nominee will take high, bold and patriotic ground on the great needs of the day; if it will declare for the supreme cause of the people, and not for that of any segment, faction or class, however pretentious; if it will refuse to obey the siren-voiced, though cowardly, call of mere expediency, it will sweep the nation at the polls—and save it.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

Letter to Lieut.-Gov. Porter on the Situation.

[In order to make some things clear, beyond the peradventure of a doubt, the following letter is by arrangement published here. It explains itself.—Ed. Times.]

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
Los Angeles (Cal.) May 7.

Hon. W. R. Porter, Watsonville, Cal.

Dear Mr. Porter: After our recent interview during "fleet week," I gave some further thought to the subject then discussed, and I now communicate with you further concerning the coming Republican State convention and its possible action in the matter of sending delegates to Chicago.

As to Los Angeles city and county, the boasted stronghold of the Republican dissenters, you have seen how the "regulars" defeated them in last Tuesday's primaries, and how completely they were beaten in the whole State, in the face of their claims, organization and persistent work during many months preceding the primary.

The convention will be organized and controlled by the regular Republican delegates—and rightly so—for they will be in a very large majority. The logical outcome, both as to the platform and the selection of California's delegates who are to be sent to Chicago to aid in the inevitable work of nominating Secretary Taft for the Presidency, will naturally be in harmony with the regular and legitimate organization of the convention.

A curious and absurd, not to say impudent, notion has been projected upon the populace to the effect that the victorious majority shall meekly throw up their hands and go over to the defeated minority, investing them with the power and authority to "take charge." This idea exceeds the limit of assurance, and is hardly a debatable proposition.

I observe in some narrow quarters a disposition on the part of the defeated dissenters to concern themselves needlessly over myself, my personality and my alleged ambition to be chosen as delegate-at-large. The insurrectos need not worry. I have never proclaimed such an ambition, have never raised by voice nor hand in that direction, either publicly or privately. I can afford to stand by my position as editorially announced more than once in the Times and to leave the State convention to pursue its own uninfluenced course in that regard. I am not an issue in the campaign and am not trying to project myself into it. It is, however, due to myself to declare that, should I decide to enter the lists, I will not retire from the contest under the fire of vicious dissenters nor be stampeded by mere idle and impotent shoutings, to which I have long been immune.

I am a lifelong Republican, deeply imbued with fundamental Republican principles, and inured to the hardships of Republican campaigning, not in my own interest, but in the interests of the party and of the country.

I hold certain positive, well-defined, rational, just and constitutional views on the great and vital subject of liberty under law, which, rightly interpreted, guarantees freedom in the industries and in all honest affairs of life—the equal right under the law of all, not of a part merely, to labor and to live. This means protection and prosperity for the individual, leading directly to the best good of all honest citizens, industries and enterprises, and to the best good of all lawful associations of men concerned.

I refuse to believe that the holding by me of such views disqualifies me in the eyes of true Republicans and just men, educated in the splendid traditions of the Old Guard—men who are devoted to the essential principle of equal rights under the law, fair play, and a "square deal" for all citizens in the race of life.

This, briefly stated, is my attitude, and I ask the indorsement of no citizen whatever his political or business affiliations, who opposes what the propositions advanced are either unsound, "loaded" or dangerous.

Yours truly,

LEADERS FOR THE YEAR.

Knights Templars Elect Officers, Who Will Be Installed Later in the Month.

At the meeting of the Los Angeles Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templars, held night before last at Masonic Temple, Gen. Adam Wankowski was elected Eminent Commander; William M. Caswell, Generalissimo; Willis H. Booth, Captain-General; Andrew J. Copp, Jr., Senior Warden; Leo V. Youngworth, Junior Warden; Walter C. Durgin, Treasurer, and George A. Fitch, Recorder.

Several prominent Knights Templars were present, including William D. Stephens, Grand Commander of California; A. A. Caldwell, Grand Captain General of California; William A. Hammel, Grand Junior Warden of California, and Frank Weidner, Grand Warder of California.

The installation of the new officers will take place the latter part of this month, the date not having been set, at the new Masonic Temple, Pico and Figueroa streets. All future meetings of the commandery will be held there.

The joint services of Los Angeles and Golden West commanderies of this city, Long Beach Commandery and Pasadena Commandery, which are usually held on Easter Sunday, will take place on the 21st inst., Ascension Day. A postponement is owing to the fact that Easter Sunday will be the day of the arrival of the battleship fleet. The services will be held at Pasadena this year.

REORGANIZED.

Seven members of the Charter Revision Committee met last night for the purpose of effecting a reorganization and starting to work anew along lines different from those outlined when the committee was formed three months ago.

Joseph H. Call has resigned from the commission and W. J. Hunsaker has resigned the chairmanship. At last night's meeting, John D. Works was selected as chairman of the commission and W. J. Washburn was chosen for vice-chairman.

William Mead was appointed chairman of the Committee on Public Utilities, succeeding Joseph Call. The secretary of the commission was instructed to make a strenuous effort next week to revive interest in charter revision by securing a meeting of each of the subcommittees.

NEW DIRECTORY OUT SOON.

The Los Angeles Directory Company is working steadily on the new city directory, and hopes to have it ready to distribute by June 1. Next week the names will probably be totaled.

MUCH SMOKE.

CLAIMS STAND WAS "SALTED."

IRATE BUYER OF CIGAR STORE PROSECUTES SELLER.

Offers to Bet Latter Thousand Dollars He Will Be Held for Trial, but as Agent Demands Odds, no Money Is Put Up—Defense Has Forty Witnesses.

Was the cigar stand "salted?" In an attempt to solve this question Dolph M. Greene is being tried before Justice Summerfield in the Township Court. It took all yesterday's session to introduce the evidence for the prosecution. The defense with forty witnesses, will have its innings Monday morning.

So far it seems the story of a bluff. The prosecuting witness, P. J. Bergman, told how he had been induced to buy the cigar stand at the corner of Fifth street and Ruth avenue for $300 cash; he now asserts it was not worth half that sum. He had Greene arrested on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Just before the examination started, Bergman began suit in the Superior Court for the recovery of his $300 and the rescision of the contract under which he asserts he bought the fatal cigar stand. For as a fatal one it is known, the last proprietor having committed suicide upon its account.

Deputy Dist.-Atty. McCartney, with whom was associated Attorney G. F. McCullough, appeared for the prosecution, and John W. Kemp and John I. Fleming for the defense. They indulged in exceedingly lively exchanges of verbal artillery.

While Greene and Bergman were waiting in the courtroom for the case to be called, an unusual incident happened. Through Deputy Constable Miechelwits, Bergman offered to bet $1000 that Greene would be held for trial in the Superior Court. Greene sent word back that he was willing to bet $1000 to $500 that he wouldn't. But when it came to putting up the money none was in sight.

Hardly had Bergman, who was the first witness, taken the stand and started to tell his story of how he had been "swindled," as he put it, out of $200 by the "salted" cigar stand, than Attorney Kemp interposed with an objection that a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses did not constitute a public offense, but Justice Summerfield overruled him.

The witness said how he was "lured" to Greene's office by an advertisement of a cigar stand for sale, and was taken to the place, which was inclosed in a heavy wire screen.

"Greene told me that the fixtures were worth $250 and the stock of cigars and tobacco $150. But he said he wanted to get rid of the stand because he had no time to attend to it and would sell out to me for 50 per cent. of the invoice price.

"When I looked through the screen I said, "I don't believe there is more than $25 worth of cigars in the case.' But Green at once offered to bet me $50 that there were at least $55 worth of cigars. I thought he ought to know and so did not bet. It was a bluff on his part and he made the bluff good."

Bergman stated that when they reached the stand Greene said he had forgotten the keys so they could not get in to see the stock, but he added that he knew Greene had the keys good enough to him all the time, because when they got back to the office, Greene took them out of his pocket and gave them to him.

Bergman submitted an invoice of the stock as he found it when he took possession, which showed it to consist of 1200 cigars, 350 packages of tobacco, sixty-five packages of chewing gum, 150 of chewing tobacco, "and not a single package of cigarettes."

On the way back for the keys, Bergman telephoned to T. Wolf to meet him at Greene's office and pay over the $200 for him. This Wolf did and later went with him when he inspected his new purchase.

Wolf was then called and he told of paying the $200 and hearing Greene say the place was worth $250 for the fixtures and $150 for the stock. He testified also as to the stock.

Max Roth, a cigar dealer, gave evidence as to the prices of the kinds of cigars found in the stand, the most expensive of which are sold at $35 a thousand.

A number of cabinet makers testified that they would duplicate the fixtures new for from $80 to $70, and the prosecution rested.

HOW SAN PEDRO GROWS.

The Los Angeles Directory Company is publishing a directory of San Pedro, East San Pedro, Wilmington and Terminal. The work is now on the press, and will be ready for distribution within two weeks.

The directory census shows that San Pedro now has 9,410 Inhabitants; East San Pedro, 660; Wilmington, 885, and Terminal, 1040. The special census taken in 1906 by the San Pedro Chamber of Commerce shows that, at that time, the people had but 5600.

John xv, 26-36, 21: "Th

THE CONNECTION.

He had been telling them so many comforting things about themselves and Himself—their living union with Him, their fruitful and victorious lives in the world—all of this, notwithstanding this is to be possible because there would be some one else to take His place. That some One is the Holy Spirit, the third Person of the Godhead, who was to be sent forth, from the Father and the Son to take the place of Christ. He is Christ's successor. In this tragical hour, Jesus seeks to attach them more firmly to Him by the promise of the coming Helper who will make good all His other promises.

THE LESSON.

I.

"The Witnessing Spirit." (Verses 26-27.)

"But, when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, He shall bear witness of me; and ye also bear witness, because ye have been with me from the beginning."

(I.) His work.

In general the work of the Spirit is indicated by the Greek word that we translate "Comforter" or "Advocate" and the Spirit is called by that name because of what He does. That Greek word means "called to the side of" a person and in common use, it means a lawyer, that is one called to the side of a client to aid him by taking charge of his case. Thus our corresponding word "Advocate." That Greek word is paraklete. The Holy Spirit is paraklete or called to the side of the Christian to take charge of his interests. In Christ's absence. He is called by the Christian's needs, even before he is aware of them. The term does not explain all and we learn from other teachings of the scriptures where. He takes His permanent position, where He gets to His side. He enters and takes His abode on the inside and does His work from within, as Jesus Himself further says: "He dwelleth with you and shall be in you" and Paul asks "Know ye not that ye are the temple of the Holy Ghost and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you?"

(2.) His source.

He comes forth from the Father and is sent by the Son, or from the Son. In the Godhead there is a threefold distinction of function and in all of God's work they participate—the Father is the originating source, the Son is the revealing power and the Spirit is the transforming power. He participated in the creation of the universe; He was the author of the incarnation of Christ; He fully possessed and guided Christ; He had wrought in the hearts of the disciples, but He was to come upon them in new power and do a completer work in them when Christ's complete work for them has been done and He is at God's right hand. This work is now so complete that it is as if he had never been with them before but was now coming from heaven for the first time. He is working jointly with the Father and the Son.

3. The Special Form of Witness Bearing.

He was to bear witness exclusively of Christ—not of himself. He will bear witness in connection with the truth about Christ, to the unsaved, by convicting them of sin and of righteousness and of judgment to come. He will lead the disciple into all truth, explaining and correcting his vision. He testifies of Christ whenever he is preached, and reinforces this testimony with that of the disciples as John in Revelation says "the spirit and the bride, (church) say come." The disciples are enabled by the spirit to hear witness because they had been with Christ from the beginning and therefrom could speak from knowledge.

II.

"The Convicting Spirit." (Verses 8-11.)

"These things have I spoken unto you that ye should not be caused to stumble. They shall put you out of the synagogues; yea, the hour cometh, that whosoever killeth you shall think that he offereth service unto God. And these things will they do, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I spoken unto you, that when their hour is come, you may remember them, how that I told them. And these things I said not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you. But now I go unto him that sent me; and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou? But because I have spoken these things unto you, sorrow hath filled your heart. Nevertheless I tell you the truth: It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I go, I will send Him unto you."

1. Dangers ahead.

Trouble is coming on and they will be helpless without the help of that Spirit. Dangers are threatening their path, numerous and deceptive. First the danger of stumbling into error and sin because of the persecution which the adversary uses to make them fall, but the Spirit will open their eyes and guide their steps. Next is the persecution of a kind to make them fall, but the Spirit will open their eyes and guide their steps. Next is the persecution of a kind to cause them to abandon their faith in Christ. They were Jews and to be excommunicated was to the Jew an inexpressible calamity and disgrace. They will encounter that strange form of the most hatred which acts in the name of God—religious persecution.

2. Preparatory warnings and promises.

Christ is getting them ready for it as far as is possible. Two forms of preparation had been given them already in His presence, which had wrought results in them; his instructions, containing a variety and promises of help as they should come. When the Comforter comes He will complete the instructions and lead them to victory over their foes. Rebuke, of a gentle nature is given them, because of their lack of doubt and distrust shown in their sorrow over His prospective departure. With the rebuke, the promise that the Spirit is renewed, the necessity of Christ's bodily absence from them is made plain. His presence would keep them from losing of their external relationship to Him and the Spirit's complete work in them would not be possible.

III.

"The Ministering Spirit." (Verses 8-11.)

"And He, when He is come, will convict the world in respect of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on Me; and of righteousness, because I go to the Father, and ye behold Me no more; and of judgment, because the Prince of this world hath been judged. I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when that Spirit of truth, is come, He shall guide you into all the truth: for He shall not speak from Himself; but whatsoever things soever He shall hear, shall He speak: and He shall declare unto you the things that are to come. He shall glorify Me: for He shall take of Mine, and shall declare it unto you. All things whatsoever the Father hath are Mine: therefore said I, that He taketh of mine, and shall declare it unto you."

1. First to the unsaved world.

This is first a constructive, ministry. It is first of all a destructive, in order to be a constructive, ministry. It is first to be educative. Before it is educative, it is first to be regenerative. Before it is regenerative, it is first to be convictive, in order to which men must be awakened to their condition. He finds is one of sin-sick souls before they can be lifted to the sense of sin must be awakened. The sense of sin must be awakened. While human agents are

BIBLE LESSONS.

FOR SUNDAY-SCHOOL TEACHERS AND OTHER BIBLE STUDENTS.

Prepared for The Times by J. S. Kirtley.

SUNDAY, MAY 10.

John xv, 26-xvi, 24: "The Mission of the Holy Spirit."

THE CONNECTION.

He had been telling them so many comforting things about themselves and Himself—their living union with Him, their fruitful and victorious lives in the world—all of this, notwithstanding it is to be possible because there would be some one else to take His place. That some One is the Holy Spirit, the third Person of the Godhead, who was to be sent forth from the Father and the Son to take the place of Christ. He is Christ's successor. In this tragical hour, Jesus sought to attach them more firmly to Him by the promise of the coming Helper who will make good all His other promises.

THE LESSON.

I.

"The Witnessing Spirit." (Verses 26-27.)

(1) What, when the Comforter is come, whom I will send unto you from the Father, even the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth from the Father, He shall bear witness of me; and ye also bear witness, because ye have been with me from the beginning."

(1) His work.

In general the work of the Spirit is revealed by the Greek word that we translate "Comforter" or "Advocate" and the Spirit is called by that name because of what He does. That Greek word means "called to the side of" one, and in common use, it meant lawyer, that is one called to the side of a client to aid him by taking charge of his case. Thus our corresponding word "Advocate." That Greek word is paraklete. The Holy Spirit is constituted or called to the side of the Christian to take charge of his interests, in Christ's absence. He is moved by the Christian's needs, even when he is aware of them. The term does not explain all and we learn from other teachings of the scripture, more. He takes His permanent position where He gets to His side. He comes and takes His abode on the inside and does His work from within, as Jesus Himself further says "He dwelleth with you and shall be in you" and Paul asks "Know ye not that ye are the temple of the Holy Ghost and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?"

(2) His Source.

He comes forth from the Father and is sent by the Son, or from the Son. In the Godhead there is a threefold distinction of function and in all of their work they participate—the Father is the originating source, the Son is the revealing power and the Spirit is the transforming power. He participated in the creation of the universe; He was the author of the incarnation of Christ; He fully possessed and guided Christ; He had wrought in the hearts of the disciples, but He was to come upon them in new power and do a completer work in them than Christ's complete work for them had been done and He is to take Christ's place. This work is now to be complete that it is as if he had never been with them before but was now coming from heaven for the first time. He is working jointly with the Father and the Son.

(3) The Special Form of Witness Bearing.

He was to bear witness exclusively of the Christ of himself. He will bear witness in connection with the truth about Christ, to the unsaved, by convicting them of sin and of righteousness and of judgment to come. He will lead the disciple into all truth, expanding and correcting his vision. He testifies and carried whenever he is preached. He confirms this testimony with that of the disciples as John in Revelation says the spirit and the bride (church) say, "Come." The disciples are enabled by the Spirit to bear witness because they had been with Christ from the beginning and therefrom could speak with knowledge.

II.

"The Convicting Spirit." (Verses 8-11.)

(1) These things have I spoken unto you that ye should not be caused to stumble. They shall put you out of the synagogues; yea, the hour cometh, that whosoever killeth you shall think that he offereth service unto God. And these things will they do, because they have not known the Father, nor me. But these things have I spoken unto you, that when their hour is come, you may remember them, how that I told you. And these things I said not unto you from the beginning, because I was with you. But now I go unto him that sent me; and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou? But because I have spoken these things unto you, sorrow hath filled your heart. Nevertheless I tell you the truth: It is expedient for you that I go away; for if I go not away, the Comforter will not come unto you; but if I go, I will send Him unto you.

(2) Dangers ahead.

He is coming on and they will need the help of that Spirit. Dangers are besetting their path, numerous and subtle. First the danger of stumbling because of error and sin because of the means which the adversary uses to make them fall, but the Spirit will open their eyes and guide their steps. Then the persecution of a kind to cause them to abandon their faith in Him. They were Jews and to be excommunicated was to the Jew an inexpressible calamity and disgrace. They would encounter that strange form of hatred which acts in the name of religious persecution. These preparatory warnings and promises are getting them ready for it as far as is possible. Two forms of proof had been given them already of his presence, which had wrought conviction in them; his instructions, consisting of warnings and promises of comfort and value. When the time came, He will complete the instruction and lead them to victory and joy. Rebuke, of a gentle kind is given them, because of their lack of doubt and distrust shown in Him. Sorrow over His prospective departure with the rebuke, the promise that He is renewed, the necessity of His bodily absence from them that His presence would keep them in spirit and their external relationship with the Spirit's complete work would not be possible.

III.

"The Convicting Spirit." (Verses 8-11.)

(1) And when He is come, will convict the world in respect of sin, and of righteousness, and of judgment: of sin, because they believe not on Me; of righteousness, because I go to the Father and ye behold Me no more; and of judgment, because the Prince of this world hath been judged. I have yet many things to say unto you, but ye cannot bear them now. Howbeit when the Spirit of truth, is come, He will guide you into all the truth: for He will not speak from Himself; but whatsoever things soever He shall hear, these things will He speak: and He shall declare unto you the things that are to come. He shall glorify Me: for He shall take of Mine, and shall declare it unto you. All things whatsoever the Father has are Mine: therefore did I say that He taketh of mine, and shall declare it unto you."

(2) His Work.

He comes to the unsaved world, first of all a destructive, in order to be constructive, ministry. It must convict before it is educative. The sense of sin it finds is one of sinfulness. He finds is one of sinfulness. Man must be awakened before he can be lifted to the sensation of righteousness. While human agents are used in arousing sinners, the Holy Spirit alone can work in them an adequate sense of their need. But what is the use to give them a knowledge and dislike of their sinful state unless they can be offered something better, unless they can see a perfect form of righteousness in the light of which they can see themselves and also see hope? They see that in Christ, who has gone on to heaven in the perfect form of righteousness which He wrought out here and because He is not to be seen on earth, He is to be preached both by the Spirit and the disciples. The vision of that righteousness will not be wholly effective, unless the sinner sees that it is to be supported by the judgment by which all sin and the author of it, even Satan, is to be judged. Thus, the regenerative work, so necessary in the success of the church, is insured by the Holy Spirit.

(2.) Educative.

This is for the disciples. Christ had only begun their education—the Spirit was to complete it. His death and resurrection and ascension were to instruct them still further, and the Spirit would unfold and extend their wondrous meanings. Many truths, already spoken by him, were meaningless to them now, but the Spirit will throw light on them and give new significance to words almost forgotten. Under their new guide the memory will be quickened to recollect much that seems to have perished. New truths will be whispered that Christ had not found it advisable to tell them. New applications to the ever-unfolding life of the church would be suggested by their new Advocate. Even light would be thrown on things to come. All the truth that they needed would be communicated to them or illuminated for them, not all truths of all kinds, but all that was needed for the good of His people and His cause. And yet, is it not true that He would lead them into truth by many means and is it not true He has ever been leading truth-seekers ever since in their search, whether in the field of science, of art or philosophy, or religion? Let us exalt our Guide.

(3.) His object.

It is to glorify Christ. It is because of Christ's atoning work that He can do this. He is teaching of Christ, all the time. He shall speak what Christ has in common with him. The chief way in which he shall glorify Christ is in taking His truths and showing them to the disciples. All things center in Christ. In Him the Fathers' will is expressed, His love exhibited, His laws revealed and all His great thought stored up, and thus do the Father and the Son glorify each other. From the Son the Holy Spirit gets what He teaches the disciples and thus the Spirit glorifies the Son and is glorified in return.

Further on in the unquoted verses, the Master tells them how their joy will be fulfilled in the midst of adverse conditions and finally crowned with completeness in heaven, because their Advocate is to abide with them forever.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Wise teachers graduate their lessons to the capacity of their pupils. They do not deal with kindergartners as with adults. The Old Testament is the kindergarten book of the Bible. It chiefly employs types and symbols, stories and object lessons. And even in the New Testament the gospels do not contain the deepest truths. An erroneous impression is made when the sayings distinctly credited to Jesus are printed in a different kind of ink, as if they carried a heavier weight. It is said of the whole book that "the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy." And as already stated, Luke explicitly declares that in the gospels, Jesus only began to teach. Only in the epistles He leads His disciples out into depths where they would have been overwhelmed if He had done it earlier. And not only is it thus in the things that He would have us learn, but the things He would have us suffer. We would have broken down had the Lord disclosed to us at the beginning of our journey all that was to befall us before the end; but in mercy it was hidden, and one by one as the hard things were uncovered we were given grace to bear them.—[Ayes.

The Holy Spirit was never so busy doing this as right now. We hear much about the "square deal." Pure food laws are being passed and enforced. Railroads and other corporations are being investigated for crookedness. At The Hague recently earnest men were trying to put away the awful wickedness of war. We are learning the "royal law" (James ii, 8, also Matthew xxii, 39.) Noble women are opening "Doors of Hope" for the fallen. Societies are multiplying for helping those who need help. Millions are going into Young Men's Christian Associations to help men to Christian manhood. "Country weeks" for slum children, ice funds, flower missions, etc. Truly the Spirit of God, who dwelleth in men, is convincing the world of rightness.—[Ridgeway.

POINTS TO IMPRESS.

(1.) That with every new need there is new help.

(2.) That Christ looks all the way ahead of us.

(3.) That our testimony must be made to harmonize with the Spirit's.

(4.) That we only get the instruction needed.

(5.) That we must follow Christ with earnest inquiry.

(6.) That the human voice must vibrate with the Spirit's vigor.

(7.) That the disciple also must seek only the glory of Christ.

Christian Endeavor.

THE PROOF OF RELIGION.

Terse Comments on the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies—Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union, Epworth League Etc., for May 10 is, "Being a Christian. I. In our Work and in Our Play." John v, 17; Eccl. ix, 10; Prov. xvii, 22.

By William T. Ellis.

A person is not more Christian in his character than he is in his conduct when engaged in the humdrum pursuits of every day. The man who shouts at the Sunday services, and yet shows never a sign of religion in the workshop; and the young person who is glib in Christian Endeavor meeting, but silent when the recreation that is going forward gives opportunity for a quiet, modest witness-bearing to his faith, are both lacking in a primary conception of the real nature of religion.

The "robe of righteousness" is workaday clothes.

The accepted example of all Christians expressed his life passion when he said, "I must work." Scorn of ignoble ease burned intensely within him. He gave himself unstintingly to arduous days and laborious nights. Weariness could not master him. He held it ever subordinate to what he deemed his work. A sense of the seriousness of his mission ever seemed to press upon the consciousness of Jesus. Life, for Him, was an opportunity to express the mind of God by His work in the world.

Somebody has written a morning counterpart for the child's evening prayer, "Now I lay me down to sleep." This one seeks to express the sanctity of one's own work, its inherent religiousness:

"Now I get me up to work,
I pray the Lord I may not shirk;
And if I die before the night,
I pray the Lord my work's all right."

Only the rare man or woman can write an uplifting poem. The gift of painting an inspiring picture is given to few. The persons who can preach great, soul-moving life-lifting sermons, are not numerous. These achievements are assuredly not the common lot. The everyday Christian must express his religion, if at all, in one of two ways; by his regular work or by his social relationships. This makes work sacred. It is man's way of making known the best that God has revealed to him. What a man is his work shows. Therefore, shirked work, half-done work, shoddy work, inferior work, is irreligious. There is a sort of impiety about poor workmanship. The sanctity of labor is what has made Christian nations efficient, and the best Christian usually is the best workman. For a man's work is his way of showing forth the glory of God.

The way to do work now is our apprenticeship to that eternal service wherein "His servants shall serve Him."

I said, "Let me walk in the fields."
He said, "No, walk in the town."
I said, "There are no flowers there."
He said, "No flowers, but a crown."

I said, "But the skies are black;
There is nothing but noise and din."
And he wept as he sent me back;
"There is more," he said, "there is sin."

I said, "But the air is thick,
And fogs are veiling the sun."
He answered, "Yet hearts are sick,
And souls in the dark undone."

I said, "I shall miss the light,
And friends will miss me, they say."
He answered, "Choose tonight
If I am to miss you, or they."

I pleaded for time to be given.
He said, "Is it hard to decide?
It will not seem hard in heaven
To have followed the steps of your Guide."

—[George Macdonald.

Good times are not the right of bad people. Joy is supremely the possession of those who are at peace with this world and the next.

A little boy had joined church. Shortly afterward, before Sunday-school one day, out of sheer exuberance of life, he was rolling down a grassy embankment in the church yard. An older boy came by, and with a sneer that cut, said: "You're a pretty sort of church member, you are." The lad was deeply ashamed, and was troubled for years by the incident, for he had not thought of bringing dishonor upon the Lord, whom he loved. Later, he realized that the youth who sneered was wrong; that the up-welling and over-bubbling joy of life are peculiarly the privilege of the Christian. A Christian boy, less than other boys, should be a staid and solemn image. The best that life affords, of any kind of pleasure which does not leave an aftermath of pain to anyone, is the sure privilege of the Christian. Nobody else has so great a right to happiness as he.

"It is not work that kills men," said Beecher; "it is worry. It is not the revolution that destroys the machinery, but the friction."

Recently, in a sermon, the celebrated preacher-author, "Ralph Connor," raised the vital question, "Why is it that Christians go over to the world for their good times?" There is a large measure of truth in the contention that many Christians seek their pleasures in peculiarly "worldly" ways. A grave indictment against the twentieth century church is that she has abdicated her right to a large range of legitimate pleasures. What is the church offering as a substitute for the amusements which she rightly condemns? It is an insufficient answer to say that Christians should find their joy in religious work and worship; the normal, symmetrical life needs, and should have, healthful diversions and recreations of various kinds. An acute phase of the problem of the city is this one of providing innocent amusements for everybody, and especially for young people. In the good day when the church comes to her own, she will be the center, not of worship alone, and of social, altruistic activity, but also of the recreations of the community.

The full-orbed Christian man is an advertisement of the gospel. This is one explanation of the popularity of college athletes as religious workers. Symmetry of life should be one of the fruits of the spirit; when Christianity permeates a person's work and play, then whatever he does is for the glory of God.

THEIR MUSICAL BANJOS.

Varied Programme at Gamut Club Auditorium Concert by Mr. and Mrs. Bacon.

What might will be called a banjo concert was held in the Gamut Club auditorium last evening under the management of the Lindsey Music Company, when Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Bacon fulfilled an exceedingly varied programme in a manner which amused as well as delighted a house full to the doors.

The programme as given included selections from grand opera, which, while pleasing, did not seem pertinent to the banjo, ranging to famous reels and hornpipes, that made everybody feel like getting up to dance. One of the queer things accomplished by Mr. Bacon was playing two distinct tunes at the same time, while Mrs. Bacon, with the help of a violin bow, made a banjo sound like a church organ.

SCHOOL THROWN OPEN.

The Fifty-second-street school was thrown open to parents and friends, with an exhibit of pupils' work, artistically arranged in each room. The table set by the girls from the cookery classes was particularly attractive, and the boys showed excellent work in sloyd. The mothers had a business meeting and an election, Mrs. Leslie being reelected president. Mrs. Thompson was chosen vice-president. A fine musical programme was rendered by the Grand-avenue orchestra, and the Fifty-second Street Glee Club. The mothers served dainty refreshments, and a social time completed a pleasant afternoon. About one hundred were present.

Food Foolishness

The druggist lives on your "food follies." If every one ate the druggist would have to turn grocer. There's no stomach so weak that it cannot digest FORCE. Its thin, crisp flakes are quickly penetrated by the digestive fluids and the barley-malt enables the intestines to digest the starch. FORCE helps Nature. Not a medicine, but a food.

"FORCE" is made of the best white wheat, steam-cooked, rolled into thin flakes, combined with the purest barley-malt and baked. Always "crisp" it before serving it by pouring into a pan and warming it in oven. Then serve in large dish with cream, piling the flakes in one side of the dish and pouring the cream in the other side, dipping the flakes as eaten.

Your Grocer sells it. No other Flaked Food is "Just as Good."

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

LUCKY.

LIVES SPARED IN LONG FALL.

MIRACULOUS IS THIS ESCAPE NEAR PASADENA.

Two Men With Team and Wagon Go Over Arroyo Seco Bluff and Receive Only Slight Injuries—One of Them Suffers Dislocated Ankle, but Other Is Scarcely at All Hurt.

Office of The Times, No. 24 S. Raymond Ave.

PASADENA, May 9.—To fall over a 100-foot bluff with wagon and team and to suffer only slight injuries was the miraculous experience of George Toms and John Benbowsky last evening.

The two men are employed in disposing of the city's garbage. They had collected a load of it and had driven to the dumping place which is on the east side of the Arroyo Seco some distance northerly from La Canada bridge.

By a wrong move the team backed the wagon off over the edge and the men went with it. Benbowsky fell and rolled but received no serious injuries other than the dislocation of an ankle and a number of painful bruises.

Toms was more lucky. He fell on one of the horses and was scarcely at all hurt. The animals were practically unhurt. The wagon was not broken. An accumulation of débris which had formed a slope at the foot of the bluff and a lot of bushes which tended to break the force of the fall undoubtedly saved the men's lives.

HAMMERS FOR NAVY.

"What the Pacific Coast needs to do is to have the whole Atlantic fleet stay here on this Coast. You must get busy, and ascertain your rights, and insist on them. You have the right to have the fleet stay on this Coast, and it is your duty to insist upon it." These were the words of Capt. Richard Pearson Hobson when he spoke to an enthusiastic audience last night at the Pasadena Operahouse on "America's Mission as a Peace Maker Among the Nations." "It is the duty of the Federal government," he continued, "to preserve the peace and harmony of the nation. When the Federal government assumed the authority over individual States, it guaranteed to protect their commerce and the domestic welfare of their citizens. Let California and the Pacific Coast insist on this and start a wave of enthusiasm for a dominating navy, that will sway over this vast country and into the halls of Congress.

"Foreseeing the imminent danger that the country is in from the combined forces of the oriental powers allied with European powers, I sought and secured a place on the Navy Appropriating Committee. Now I realize that it is as hard to convince a Congressman that we need more ships as it is to convince a post. They complain that it is too expensive, and refuse to listen to argument that is undisputable.

"Fellow countrymen, we need $50,000,000 a year for the support of our navy. It should be spent in the increasing of our fleet by more battleships such as will favorably compare with those of the oriental powers. Is it too expensive, let us investigate. The chewing-gum bill of the United States was $65,000,000 last year. The citizens of the United States ippointed $50,000,000 in diamonds, or, not to make it too one-sided, let us take one drink less in every thirty-five, and there you have it, or if this is too much of a hardship, one cigar less in every twelve will pay the bill. The widows' pensions were increased $20,000,000 this last year, and I believe that this is right, but why not spend $20,000,000 to prevent the widows being left in future wars?

"Give me 3 per cent. of the income from liquor in this country and I will guarantee you perpetual peace in America. Now as to the fleet up in San Francisco. If anything runs against that aggregation it is sure to get hurt. But how about two years hence. It will be obselete. A naval authority stated recently that he would rather have one ship of the type that Japan has just ordered than the whole fleet of the United States. Sixteen great guns are carried on this new model, capable of firing one hundred and hitting sure seventy-five shots a minute. They can also stand off farther than our guns can shoot and sink our ships as they come up, one by one.

"The Nebraska, which has just been put in commission, was ordered in 1899 and has become obsolete twice since it was started.

"England has seventy-five ships to our five up-to-date vessels. France has thirty-one vessels to our five in the same class. Germany has twenty-seven to our five and has ordered four to be delivered this year and four every year until 1917. Japan at present has twenty-two ships in the Pacific and we have eighteen in San Francisco that compare. Other ships in different stations give us twenty-two. We can bring four more vessels into the Pacific, making the fleet twenty-six in number. With culling in all of the ships of Japan and delivering the ships that can be turned out within the next year, Japan can muster a force equal to thirty-two battleships.

"To meet this, next year I will ask the Congress of the United States to make an appropriation for six new battleships, with a capacity of 25,000 tons, bigger than anything ever put out. These vessels will be able to stand up against anything that can be turned out by foreign powers at present, but in case they build a bigger armada, say carrying 30,000 tons with twenty-four great guns, then I will recommend the building of warships carrying 25,000 tons and thirty-two great guns. The only way for the United States to live is by the building of bigger ships. The United States controls $17,000,000,000 of the world's capital, while England, the nearest competitor, controls only five billion. This is where our advantage lies and we should make the most of it.

"Again comes up the question of the expense of it. Does the fact that you take out life insurance bring you in anything? Does the fire insurance you pay bring anything in? No, it simply provides for your safety or your family from loss of sustenance. Is not the peace of the country worth something? The cost of a war is a terrible thing compared with the cost of peace. Especially when a country is unprepared for war.

"You will remember at the time the Spanish War broke out the two navies of the rival powers seemed to be about the same on paper. If we had owned three more battleships worth $10,000,000 there would have been no war. That question down in Cuba would have ben diplomatically settled.

"Now we look back and see what that lack cost us. The war with Spain has demanded an expenditure of more than one billion, one half million of dollars. Is not the price of peace cheap?"

In the beginning of his lecture, Capt. Hobson told of the trouble with Japan in San Francisco, and the conditions as they exist in this country today. He said that there are over 80,000 trained soldiers of Japan within the borders of the United States, Mexico or Canada. He cited instances where clubs of a military nature are maintained by the Japanese in communities of Southern California. Farther he went into the San Francisco school trouble, telling of the embarrassment that the President felt at being forced to knuckle down under the pressure brought to bear by Japan. He stated that the Supreme Court had never handed down the decision in regard to the San Francisco schools and the rights of the Japanese to attend them on account of those decisions being awaited by Japan as a signal for war. He outlined the significance of the treaties recently signed by the nations of Europe, especially Great Britain, as a signal that Japan is in control of the Pacific, and that the interests of the European countries in Asia would suffer, should Japan decide to take up the property. As one example of this, he cited the recent instance where Great Britain was notified that should Japanese warships go to the Indian Ocean they might have a mission in India. In this case Capt. Hobson said that England would be helpless on account of all her fighting craft being called to English waters to protect home interests on account of the growth of the German navy.

He told of Japan having secured loans from the nations of Europe to the amount of $700,000,000, and that the United States has contributed to this fund $350,000,000, with which to fight us. Also that the factories of the United States have shipped 750,000 rifles to Japan, while we have not that many in the United States at present with which to protect ourselves.

"As to landing a force and keeping up the fight," said Capt. Hobson, "a yellow man can shoot just as straight as a white man, and what's more, they want to shoot. There is no seeking the almighty dollar in those countries. The men have been fighting for the past 700 years, and they want more of it. They seek to dominate the world and they can do it. By an alliance with China and the combined forces and money of Europe they can land a million men this year and next year land another million to take their places and so on for scores of years.

"The history of the world shows that republics of the past have been of short life. It may be so with us. Fellow-countrymen, this nation is drifting toward a cataract and we are on the verge of it. Can we retard this advance? There is only one way. We must be supreme on the ocean as on the land. One navy on one coast won't do. We could not get the ships around from the Atlantic before the Pacific Coast would be in the grasp of the Japanese. We could not get the ships from the Pacific to the Atlantic in time to save the country. There must be two great navies, one on each coast, to dominate the ocean. We can afford to do it and preserve the republic. Otherwise the struggle is against overwhelming odds. A navy that will dominate the waters of the world is the price of peace."

TRADE BOARD BANQUET.

The annual banquet of the Board of Trade has been set for May 18 and will be held at Hotel Maryland. On account of the many entertainments accorded visiting aggregations during the past six months the exchequer of the organization has been depleted and it will be necessary to charge for this banquet, each member being asked to contribute a small sum.

CANDIDATES NAMED.

The close of the first successful year of student affairs at Throop Institute came one step nearer to a close when nominations were made yesterday for those who will act as officers during the year 1908-9. The nominations are: Cedric Brown and Roy Schumacker, president; Harriet Judd and Margaret Whitney, vice-president; Arthur Gullon and Percy Green, secretary; Paul Hunter and Tracey Stone, treasurer; Lawrence Jones and Fletcher Taylor, editor of the "Polytechnic;" Emil Brandt and Howard Wright, representative of the debating club; Harry Hendrick, Roy Allan, Roy Harris and Ralph Boynton, representatives at large (2); Lillian Grand and Virginia Bowen, girls' athletics; William Wood and Paul Wold, manager of "Polytechnic;" Tracey Stone and Emile Brandt, manager of football team; Harriett Judd and Louise Tantau, manager of girls' basketball team; Raymond Coll, Richard Grove and Paul Hunter, manager of tennis team; Arnold Salisbury and Charlie Davis, manager of the track team; Knight Hester and Richard Bard, manager of baseball team; Percy Green and Raymond Taylor, manager of gymnastic teams. The election will be held on Monday, April 18.

DEATH'S ROLL CALL.

Mrs. Harriet W. Scoville died yesterday at her home No. 125 Bruce avenue, at the age of 84 years. She was a native of New York and leaves two sons, one of them Fred Conger, with whom she resided and the other, Paul B. Conger, of Prairie Du Sac, Wis. The funeral will be held at the residence this afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. W. C. Mosher of Berkeley, formerly of Pasadena, died at her home there yesterday morning. The funeral services will be held in Berkeley but the remains will be interred in Mountain View Cemetery. She was one of the pioneers in California, settling in Pasadena at an early date.

Ernest H. Gilstead, aged 51 years, died on May 6 at No. 1121 Lincoln avenue. He was formerly a city Trustee of San Pedro. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the funeral parlors of Adams, Turner & Stevens Company. The burial will be at Mountain View Cemetery.

PASADENA NEWS NOTES.

Police Judge J. G. Rossiter, acting as attorney for four Chinamen arrested in April for conducting a lottery in this city, pleaded not guilty yesterday morning in Judge Robert McDonald's court and the case was set for May 13.

Ralph and Clarence Schermerhorn, arrested for alleged violation of the curfew ordinance, pleaded not guilty yesterday morning on the ground that they were in the company of their older brother, who is 17 years old. The case will be heard later and will be interesting as it involves a new principle in the curfew restriction.

Rev. Lawrence R. Learned of Ridgeway, N. J., will be a guest of William R. Knight of this city for a few days and during his stay will be heard at All Saints' Episcopal Church, he being an Episcopal clergyman.

William H. Kindig and Mrs. A. L. Baker have returned to La Casa Grande Hotel in this city, after a most exciting experience in a storm experienced while en route to Ensenada from San Diego on the steamer St. Denis, a few days ago. According to their report, the ship weathered one of the worst storms on record, and the crew, as well as the passengers, many times gave up hopes of passing through the ordeal alive.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Mr. Luther Newby of North Euclid avenue entertained yesterday afternoon with a bridge party, which was one of the most daintily-appointed functions of the week. The tables were arranged in the drawing-room, which was ornamented with a profusion of garden roses. The prizes were a rare Egyptian brooch and a quaint brass bowl, which were won by Miss Edith Hinds and Miss Ada Bonney. A collation followed the games. Those present were Mmes. John R. Bragdon, Volney Craig, Linton Tedford, William St. John Ranny, Jack R. Herzog, Herbert C. Holt, Edward Sheean, Stephen Rawlins; Misses Cora Auten, Irene Grosse, Ada Bonney, Madeline Winthrop Barnes, Edith Hinds and Ethel Hinds.

STUDENT BODY IN A TEMPEST.

STORM CENTER IN THE LONG BEACH HIGH SCHOOL.

Rebellion Shows itself Against Alleged Attempt of Members of Faculty to Dictate Policy of Organization—Carload of Bees is Sent Out from Signal Hill to Utah.

LONG BEACH, May 8.—The last few days have been exciting ones in the High School and politics of the student body overshadowed study. What would otherwise have been only a perfunctory selection suddenly resolved itself into a rebellion against the alleged attempt of some of the members of the faculty to shape matters according to their own views, which was resented by the student body, which called a meeting this morning and unanimously adopted an amendment to its constitution whereby nominations shall hereafter be made in convention assembled.

Heretofore the officers of the student body have been nominated by the advisory board which consists of four students, one from each class, the president of the body and two members of the faculty.

Nominations were made in this manner this week, but when submitted to the student body, there was instant rebellion over some of the names, whose owners it was averred were not qualified, while present officers who are popular were dropped. An investigation led to the discovering, it is said, that one of the faculty members had dominated the advisory board, making the nominations and casting reflections upon some of the present officers. This discovery stirred up rebellious Young America and the change in the constitution followed, setting aside the nominations of the advisory board and calling a convention for today. The advisory board by giving preference to the freshmen and sophomores in their nominations, hoped for victory, as these two classes comprise a large majority, but this was thwarted by the seniors who secured a ruling that members delinquent in dress could not vote and this caught the sophomores and freshmen napping, as three-fourths of them had not paid up. This afternoon the following tickets were placed in the field and in the nominating speeches the students made plain that they resented the attacks upon certain officers: President, Clyde Doyle, Harry Riley; vice-president, Cleo Zinn, Lloyd Vail; secretary, Julia Howell, Ruth Andrews; Mary Robinson; treasurer, Carl Hawkins, Ralph Scott; editor, Caerulea, Roberta Bolter, Lillian Reid; business manager, Cecil Schilling, Donald Humphries; manager debating society, Earl McDermott, Walter Saint; track manager, Louis Thompson, Louis Cauney; tennis manager, Edwin Kilpatrick, Myrtle Shafer. The election under the Australian ballot system will be held next Friday.

SEND BEES BY CARLOAD.

One of the most unique shipments of the products of Southern California and probably the first carload lot of the product sent from this section of the State, left Bennett station tonight, being a carload of bees consigned by fast freight to Logan, Utah. The bees are shipped by Miller & Hart of Signal Hill and includes 500 swarms.

In seeking for some novel and attractive form of entertainment for the benefit of its advertising fund, the Chamber of Commerce has decided to have an old-fashioned spelling bee in the auditorium next Thursday evening. The contest will be between the east and west sections of the city with Pine avenue as the dividing line. The two teams will be captained by Prof. J. J. Morgan and P. E. Hatch, president of the Chamber of Commerce. The Y.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A. and every school in the city will furnish four spellers and volunteers will be solicited. In addition to this fun, the municipal band will give a programme of old-fashioned melodies, to which will be added other features.

A small launch caught in the open seas in a gale today struggled for hours in front of the city and a score of anxious people watched it as it rolled up and down among the waves or bunted squarely into them. A failure of the engine would have meant a tragedy, but the little craft struggled manfully and finally nosed its way into the calmer waters of the harbor, from which it started this morning on a fishing trip.

Louis Rogers and Nicholas Cavitsch, while unloading cross ties at the Ortend pickling plant this thorning were seriously injured by some of the timbers falling from the car. Rogers was was cut about the head, while one of Cavitsch's toes was so crushed that amputation was necessary.

A real Santa Ana struck town and a heavy gale prevailed throughout today. All the launches hastened to the protection of the breakwater.

A valuable pet dog belonging to Max Morelock was poisoned last nigrt by some miscreant, probably the same one who poisoned Morelock's hunting dog several weeks ago and attempted to poison his horse.

The Walk of a Thousand Lights along Seaside boulevard thirty-five feet wide, is to be extended east to Linden avenue. The contract was let today. A bulkhead protects the walk from the sea.

TROPICO.

TROPICO, May 8.—Rev. J. W. Lachlan of San Francisco, a worker in the Chinese mission field of that city, gave a lecture at the First Presbyterian Church of Tropico tonight on "The Forward Movement in Foreign Mission Fields Among the Laymen of the Presbyterian Church."

Mrs. E. M. McClure, principal of the Tropico grammar school, is arranging to give a picnic and basket luncheon in the grove adjoining the school grounds as a close to the school year.

PICNIC ON THE STRAND.

VENICE, May 8.—The Woodbury Business College held its annual school picnic here today. The students and friends, numbering about 300, came in on special cars. Their badges entitled them to many special privileges accorded by the Abbot Kinney company, including free bathing facilities and the use of the dancing pavilion.

One of the Essentials of the happy homes of to-day is a vast fund of information as to the best methods of promoting health and happiness and right living and knowledge of the world's best products.

Products of actual excellence and reasonable claims truthfully presented and which have attained to world-wide acceptance through the approval of the Well-Informed of the World; not of individuals only, but of the many who have the happy faculty of selecting and obtaining the best the world affords.

One of the products of that class, of known component parts, an Ethical remedy, approved by physicians and commended by the Well-Informed of the World as a valuable and wholesome family laxative is the well-known Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists.

GIRLS PORTRAY REVERIES.

Pomona Maids Present Their Ideas of What the Thoughts of a Bachelor Are.

POMONA, May 8.—The young ladies of the Philathea class of the Baptist Church gave the farce, "Reveries of a Bachelor," at McComas Hall tonight. There was a musical and literary programme presented, including a piano solo by Miss Maude Liddle, a reading by Miss Ella Stewart, vocal solos by Misses Abbott and Harris, and a cornet solo by Miss Ella Bennett. Miss Marion Ely and Earl Wilkinson gave a short leap-year farce.

Street Superintendent Lamery still has three city teams at work hauling débris and rubbish away from lots about the city which were cleared of weeds and litter on "clean-up" day.

Miss Estelle Moore of Grinnell, Iowa, is a guest of her friend, Miss Mary C. Davis at her home on East Pasadena street.

Dr. Phillip H. Weber, son of John Weber of this city, now has charge of the hospital at Winthrop, in Shasta county, Cal.

C. W. Werner of South Pasadena has bought the house and lot south of Charles Tyler's, on North Gordon street. The property was formerly the home of Mrs. Mary A. Dobbs.

J. M. Mitchell of this city has been elected a delegate from the Sixty-seventh District to the Prohibition State Convention, to be held at Merced next week.

PULL STEADILY UPWARD.

Nominations of Officers Are Made for the Board of Trade of Monrovia.

MONROVIA, May 8.—At a well-attended meeting of the Board of Trade members last night officers were nominated thus: President, W. A. Chess; vice-president, W. H. Evans; secretary W. F. Dunn; treasurer, F. N. Hawes. But one ticket was named, and there will be no contest. The election will be held May 18.

Since reorganizing four years ago and acquiring so large a membership as to be thoroughly representative, the Board of Trade has been an important factor in municipal development. Aggressive campaigns for civic improvement along broad lines have been successfully concluded. To liberal and well-directed advertising during the administration of President C. A. Sargent the past two years is largely attributable Monrovia's rapid increase in population and wealth.

Cooperating with the Long Beach Board of Trade and property owners along the proposed route an effort is being made to induce the Pacific Electric company to build a line across the valley from the foothills to the sea. The road would shorten the distance between foothill and beach towns to thirty-five miles and serve as a feeder to the east and west San Gabriel Valley branches of the Pacific Electric system. E. J. Baldwin is actively interested in the project, and, with the proviso that the road pass through Arcadia, offers free right of way through his holdings, a distance of seven miles. Large tracts of ranch lands would be opened for settlement, and it is believed a free right of way can be obtained for the entire distance.

BUYS FOR BUSINESS.

J. H. Bartle, purchased today of C. E. Slosson fifty feet frontage on Myrtle avenue, between Orange and Olive avenues for $12,500 cash. The lot is 150 feet in depth, and is centrally located in the business section. During the summer Mr. Bartle will erect a three-story-and-basement brick block 80x150 feet. The estimate cost is $20,000.

ONLY A FEW SHORT.

OCEAN PARK, May 8.—From an estimate of population based on the recent school census, the population today is but 315 short of the requisite number of people to permit the elevation of the city from the sixth to the fifth class. With 3500 people a special charter could be adopted.

GETS WATER, NOT OIL.

SANTA MONICA, May 8.—At a depth of 200 feet, Frank Bundy struck a voluminous flow of water in a well he was drilling in Sierra Vista. There was no indication of oil, although the drills passed through a thick stratum of sandstone. The water is soft.

ANTI-LOBBYING BILL FAVORED.

GUTHRIE (Okla.) May 8.—Both branches of the Oklahoma Legislature today agreed to the anti-lobbying bill, which provides that criminal action may be had on any lobbyist who does not first file his name and a statement of his business with the Legislature. The bill is similar to a measure proposed by Gov. Folk, of Missouri. Gov. Haskell has said he will sign the bill.

Robert B. Jones of New Jersey, the American Vice-Consul at Guayquil, Ecuador, has been injured in a serious railroad accident at Buca. The trains met in collision, and the total number of dead and wounded is large.

Nearly Everybody Winked

It has been a busy two weeks for the grocers. Thousands have registered their winks and as many palates have been delighted by the indescribable goodness of the GENUINE, Kellogg's Toasted Corn Flakes. Too bad the grocers couldn't continue to honor the wink, but the great supply of sample packages gave out.

So now the large full size packages are going like hot cakes. This proves how immensely popular it is with all who tried

Kellogg's

TOASTED CORN FLAKES

But is it any wonder? No other breakfast food has the exquisite flavor and dainty crispness.

The imitators have tried to copy this delicious flavor, but they have failed. So beware of all other so-called corn flakes. Remember the package—ask for Kellogg's and get it.

Pay After I Cure You

Such disorders as Weakness, Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Contracted Diseases, and nervous complications therefrom are very common to me. But from long experience I find it holds true that fully half the cases coming to me for treatment suffer not so much from the original malady as from the results of improper medical attention. Family physicians have not the special knowledge of these diseases and cannot take the time to thoroughly study each case. Trying patent medicines is wasting money and always does harm. Experience with electric belts and such appliances further destroys the sufferer's confidence. The specialist, "cheap" fees cannot be depended upon.

Three Others Who Broke Liquor Laws During Stay of Fleet Suffer Same Fate—Canines Must Perfect Knowledge of English Tongue or Get Foul of Police.

SANTA BARBARA, May 8.—Despite determined protests, four sellers of liquor who violated the excise law during the stay of the Atlantic fleet, lost their licenses at the hands of the City Council last night. They were: John Garriyanes, proprietor of the San Francisco restaurant, at No. 500 State street; F. Corti, proprietor of the Union restaurant, at No. 906 State street; John Senich, proprietor of the restaurant at No. 121 State street, whose place was wrecked by sailors because he overcharged them; C. Mason, proprietor of the saloon at the corner of Chapala and Cañon Perdido streets.

DOGS MUST STUDY.

According to a remarkable ordinance passed by the City Council last night, the canine population here will have to perfect its study of English or run afoul of the law. In other words, the City Fathers have decreed that dogs must keep off State street when not on a leash and attended by their masters. They also must keep off the boulevards, but may roam at will over the remainder of the city. If they appear on State street their owners will have to pay a fine or go to jail.

A Los Angeles firm is soon to get a contract for placing signs on the street corners for the guidance of visitors, and it was suggested at the meeting that these might also be of some assistance to educated dgs. Some one suggested the placing of signs in Spanish as well, as pets from Spanish-town might wander into the tabooed precincts. But this, it was argued, would establish too strong a precedent, inasmuch as Choctaw Indians and others might insist upon similar courtesies in favor of their pets.

FINISHED IS TOWER.

Important Item in the Little Bear Reservoir Project Is Now Completed.

SAN BERNARDINO, May 8.—The outlet tower, from which will be controlled all the water distributed from the Little Bear Valley reservoir, has at last been completed, after an all-winter rush, during which time a fire has been kept burning on the interior of the structure to keep the concrete from freezing as the mortar has been dropped into place. The contractors have a large force of men at work on the reservoir now, and progress on it is steady.

GOWNS SO RARE.

Queen Lola, accompanied by her ladies in waiting, Mrs. E. D. Roberts, Mrs. R. A. Brydolf and Mrs. C. A. Gibson, have returned from Los Angeles, where they went to inspect the coronation robes of the queen, now being created in the city. The robes, both of the queen and all her court, promise to be something gorgeous and extraordinary. The coronation garment will be of rich white satin, with full train, the front and empire yoke of silver spangles, with a regal mantle of royal purple and ermine. The queen's crown is set with rhinestoned. The queen's reception gown is to be a bewitching Parisian creation of Mechlace over white taffeta and chiffon, having an elaborate yoke of tucks and fine medallions.

The maids of honor will be gowned in pale pink and pale blue empire effects, ankle length. The ladies of the court are to be attired in empire gowns, and will wear bobbing plumes encircled on their empire bonnets.

MINING MAN DIES.

John E. Clark, a mining man, died this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Harry Hagerman. For a number of weeks he has been at the point of death. He had been a resident of this city for the past twenty years, and at one time was a man of great wealth. He was a gold seeker of the forty-niner period.

WHEEL RIDERS HURT.

Cyclists Are Thrown on Boulevard Which Connects Upland and Ontario. Heavy Grade.

ONTARIO, May 8.—Running over a heavy grade of Euclid avenue, which connects Ontario and Upland, Harold Warieen and Glen Atwood, two boys living in Upland, were injured by accident today. They were coasting down that thoroughfare and their bicycles had gathered high momentum when they collided.

The Warieen boy was severely cut and bruised, and bled freely from the mouth. The Atwood boy was taken unconscious.

ONTARIO NOTES.

L. Balfour, head chancellor of Pomona chapter of the Knights of Pythias, together with nearly a hundred members of that chapter, came to Ontario yesterday evening to confer for the establishment of a lodge here. An enthusiastic meeting was held in Odd Fellows Hall, at which about thirty of Ontario's citizens signified their intention to become charter members of the order.

Miss Marjorie Malone, the young high school girl, who was painfully injured here about a week ago by being thrown from her horse, is able to be out again.

SAN DIEGO.

SAN DIEGO, May 8.—The charge of assault with a deadly weapon, preferred by Supervisor T. J. Fisher against Patrolman G. W. Miller has been changed to a charge of battery, and Miller has pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $10. Fisher has decided that he does not care to prosecute the case further, and the question of continuing the officer on the force is now being considered by the Police Commission.

The new electric chandelier presented by the people of this city to the cruiser California, with the exception of the brass search set given by the people of San Francisco, was shipped this morning from Los Angeles. Both lamps and chandeliers were manufactured by a local concern.

A new stage line has been placed in operation between this city and Agua Caliente Hot Springs, the distance of 45 miles being covered in five hours. The line is owned by Ed Rosenberg, a rancher of this city, who formerly a furniture dealer here. Yesterday his team ran away on the road from the city and dashed into a telegraph pole. He leaves a wife and three daughters, all residing here.

ORANGE COUNTY DAIRYMEN PLAN TO ORGANIZE.

Some Milkmen Across the Line in Los Angeles County Are Also Interested—Propose to Handle Products of Their Own Dairies and Sell at Wholesale to Los Angeles.

ANAHEIM, May 8.—Nearly one hundred dairymen of Orange county and in parts of Los Angeles county, near the Orange county line are reported to be ready and willing to sign for an independent milk organization of their own. It is reported that a number of these dairymen are dissatisfied with the prices they are offered from Orange county, and Los Angeles county buyers, and have decided to handle their own milk from the local dairies and sell at wholesale in Los Angeles. Some of the best dairymen in the county are said to be interested in the new organization. Four directors are to be selected, one each coming from Cypress, Garmenita, Norwalk and Downey. A permanent representative is to be kept in Los Angeles.

CORONA, May 8.—A group of local investors has bought a tract on upper Main street near the High School, of J. A. Caldwell of Los Angeles, and laid it off into forty-three lots, known as the Stockwell subdivision.

J. H. Flagler of New York City, owner of El Cerrito Rancho, Corona, arrived here last evening, accompanied by Mrs. Flagler, Miss McLanahan, his niece, and maid. The party will remain several days.

RIVER YIELDS GOLD.

Ventura Man Says Dredger in Sacramento Is Giving Good Return. Haying in Full Blast.

VENTURA, May 8.—Ventura Commandery, Knights Templars, last night elected officers for the coming year as follows: George Cook, Eminent Commander; John H. Simonds, Generalissimo; David J. Reese, Captain-General; David R. Dennison, Senior Warden; Christopher Wren Cannon, Junior Warden; John S. Collins, Treasurer; Jacob L. Argabrite, Recorder. They will be installed at the next meeting.

SCOOPS UP RICH SAND.

H. A. Giddings has returned from Shasta county to spend the summer. He has been working all winter in the Sacramento River, near Redding, with a big gold dredger, scooping up rich sands from the river bottom. The venture, he says, was very successful, but the approaching warm weather drove him back to Southern California. He will return to the North at the summer's end.

HANDSOME HOUSE.

George Morey, a former resident, has forwarded from Arizona a big Gila monster, which is on exhibition in a local drug-store show window.

Miss Valesia Browne, daughter of the late Capt. A. W. Browne, will be married in Seattle on the 10th inst. to Herbert Browne of Los Angeles She is a native of this city.

HAY CROP GOOD.

Haying is in full blast in the county and the crop is a good one.

A number of Native Sons went to Santa Barbara last night to aid the parlor there in initiating a number of new candidates. Those from this city were: Robert M. Clarke, Judge Ortega, Charles Orr, John Behn, Lester Gandilfo, Thomas McGuire and Orestes Wagner.

T. H. Jones has gone to Sacramento as a delegate to the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, in session there.

Mrs. J. R. Mackenzie and her daughter, Rose, have gone to Nova Scotia to spend the summer.

SANTA ANA.

SANTA ANA, May 8.—An election contest was begun in the Superior Court today by the filing of a complaint by Attorney F. O. Daniel for John Hahn of Anaheim. Hahn was adjudged defeated on the official count following the city election at Anaheim on April 13, the count showing Hahn was 243 votes and his opponent, Frank Gates, 244. The complaint declares that illegal votes were inadvertently counted of applause. The resolution highly commends the work of Estudillo as an Assemblyman for two terms, where he is declared to have represented his constituents in an honorable and creditable manner, securing for them many benefits, and giving to Riverside in the councils of the State a prominence and standing to which its station, resources and interests entitle it. The resolution then instructs the delegates to the Senatorial convention to vote for Estudillo as candidate for State Senator, and for no other person at any time.

Resolutions also adopted pledge support to the candidacy of Hon. William H. Taft for the Presidency; indorse President Roosevelt's policy for a larger navy; indorse the work of Congressman C. Smith, congratulate the people of Riverside on the ability of their county officers, recommend that the Supervisors do everything possible to promote good roads, indorse the course of Assemblyman Estudillo in his work for free school text-books; favor the direct primary law, and indorse the forestry policy of President Roosevelt as developed by Chief Forester Gifford Pinchot.

Delegates to the Republican Senatorial convention, which will be held in Riverside July 14, are C. E. Rumsey, G. A. French, T. F. Flaherty, C. W. Barton, A. N. Youngiove, Maurice Griffin, C. O. Barker, J. A. Crane, Gus Matthews, W. E. Walden.

The delegates to the Republican State and Congressional convention are M. W. Findley, R. S. Billings, W. H. Polkinghorn, H. G. Stanley, W. W. Robilee, F. A. Miller, Dave Cochrane, George C. Conklin, C. B. Estle and H. K. Smith.

E. B. Collier of Corona was nominated for Assemblyman over W. J. Pentelow and C. T. Stetson. Karl S. Carlton of Riverside was nominated for Supervisor in the Third Supervisorial District.

The County Central Committee organized by the selection of C. O. Barker of Banning as chairman and S. D. Pelton of Riverside as secretary..

AIMS AT LARGE BUSINESS.

President Bird States Broad Plans of Harbor Railroad—Council Conference This Morning.

President A. C. Bird of the Los Angeles Harbor Company will have a conference with the City Council this morning relative to the franchise for a railroad along the river bed.

Mr. Bird outlined his plans and objects yesterday to The Times. He said that the railroad for which the franchise is sought is really a subsidiary matter; the main idea is to get a way into San Pedro harbor, where the company's docks and warehouses are to be.

"Our purpose," said Mr. Bird, "is to run lines of steamers south to the western terminus of the Tehauntepec Railroad, and eventually to the isthmus. We believe in a short time freight will be carried by that route in immense quantities in preference to coming across the continent. I have found that the traffic always follows the route.

"There are a million acres of mahogany timber whose shipments will be made to Los Angeles at such price as to lower the present cost 50 per cent. This is but one of the resources we hope to open up.

"Our idea also is to run lines to the north and enter upon a competition with the railroads between here and San Francisco.

"To this end we must have an independent railroad line into Wilmington. We want to run about twenty-five miles of track. Part of the way we intend to use the Santa Fé's Redondo tracks. Our city depot we hope to have near the Santa Fé, and we will have another part of the yards near the pigeon farm. Eventually a connection may be made with the San Joaquin road projected by Capt. Cross.

"As indicating our good faith, we offer to carry freight for any other railroad that may seek an entrance to the harbor; to allow any other railroad to use our tracks on the payment of the usual lease charges; to allow the city of Los Angeles to buy so much of the road as it covered by the charter, at cost and interest, and further agree that Los Angeles may, at any time in the future, buy the whole of the road—provided this company is granted the same rights in relation to it as may be granted to any other company or corporation."

Dogs Useful and Fashionable.

While Arthur Griever was out walking with his dog at South Bethlehem, Pa., the dog ran across a water snake six feet long. The reptile showed fight and the dog likewise. In the fierce battle that followed the snake wound itself around the dog's body, but before it could do much injury the dog bit its head clean off.

Dogs in Mohammedan countries have great freedom, not because Mohammedans love them more, but because it is impious to kill or molest an animal, however mean, that Allah lets live. But there is no bitterer insult than to call a Moslem a dog. "The Swiss Family Robinson" is not admitted at the Turkish customhouse because it tells about a dog named Turk.

There has recently been opened in one of London's fashionable streets a toilet club for dogs. There the pets of the smart set can have their hair dressed and their coats trimmed to immaculate perfection. For 2 shillings they can be bathed. If their teeth are imperfect they can be filled or extracted, and if their claws protrude too far they can be daintily manicured.

Policemen Avoid Hoodoo Badge.

Members of the Atlantic City police force who remembered the fate of the last patrolman who wore the hoodoo number thirteen have refused to accept the badge in the new assignment, and there will be no such number among the seventy-five men on duty. Patrolman George Miller, who joined the force several years ago, asked for the number, and for a time was known as "lucky thirteen," after he had received a big reward for stopping a runaway and been made the recipient of a stocked cigar store by a man who admired his temerity.

The hoodoo number got in its work later, however. Miller lost his store, was discharged from the force and later was found dead in his bed. Since that time the badge has remained at headquarters.—[Philadelphia Record.

An Unintentional Kindness.

A very devout Presbyterian clergyman in the Middle West had just married a couple and, as was his custom, offered a fervent prayer, invoking the divine blessing upon them. As they seemed to be worthy folk and not overburdened with this world's goods he prayed, among other things, for their material prosperity, and besought the Lord to greatly increase the man's business, laying much stress on this point.

In filling out the blanks it became necessary to ask the man his business, and to the minister's horror he said: "I keep a saloon."—[Philadelphia Ledger.

COLTON MENACED.

COLTON, May 8.—This city was threatened with a conflagration today, when a fire broke out in some Mexican cottages in the rear of the St. Clair stable. This part of town is thickly settled and as a heavy north wind was blowing it was only the prompt work of the fire department and the men in the neighborhood that prevented a serious loss.

16 Years in Los Angeles

We Are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Vital Decline Can Be Cured

Vital decline, commonly called weakness, is the result of diseased condition. This disturbing cause is nearly always found in the prostate gland, where the nerve center is located. The prostate becomes affected by one or more of several things, such as badly treated local diseases, indiscretions, excesses, varicocele, etc. We published years ago the first information ever given out in prostatic troubles as the cause of vital weakness; since that time our theories have been accepted by all the best Eastern specialists, and at the same time every pretender specialist copies our advertisements, knowing absolutely nothing of our successful means of relieving men of this trouble. No one but a thorough specialist can succeed in curing these conditions. Anybody can advertise, but the genuine specialist only can satisfy the patient and give him value received.

Contagious Blood Disease

May be inherited or contracted. When the system becomes tainted with the poison it may manifest itself in many ways—ulcers, sores, scrofula, eczema, stiff and painful joints, eruptions, copper colored spots on the body, little ulcers in the mouth, swollen and inflamed tonsils, loss of hair, decay of flesh and bone. If your symptoms are any of these, we invite you to take advantage of the treatment we offer, which will completely eradicate the least taint of poison from the system. You are cordially invited to consult us in person, and we will give you such advice as will be for the betterment of your condition. Our treatment has been acquired through twenty-one years' arduous work, and is free from mineral poison. It contains no injurious drugs and goes to the very core of the disease.

Varicocele

Dr. Harrison guarantees an absolute cure of this trouble in one week by a painless operation that never fails to cure. Do not forget that varicocele cannot be cured by an electric belt, electricity in any form, by absorption, or any external application. Remember that Dr. Harrison, 252½ South Broadway, gives a written guarantee to cure your varicocele by his painless operation, or no charge. Let us show you a dozen cured cases.

A Useful Bull.

A bull owned by Elmer Rantz of Benton township, Columbia county, Pa., is of more service to the owner, he says, than any horse he ever owned, and recently increased his usefulness by being ridden by Rantz from his home to North Mountain, a distance of sixteen miles, nearly all up grade and over a rough heavy road, in less than two hours, arriving half an hour before Rantz's father, who had started at the same time, driving a horse and light wagon. The trip back was made in even better time, the bull being hitched to the wagon and the horse being fastened behind.

THE MARKETS.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Clean-ups in nearly every line of fresh fruit and vegetables marked yesterday. Among the new arrivals were two large boxes of gooseberries, which sold for 20 cents a pound. They are three weeks earlier than expected and reports from Stockton, whence the berries were shipped, show that this year's crop is exceptionally large. For the first time in two weeks, strawberries were quoted firm toward noon. Raspberries were plentiful and the best stock brought only 10 cents a basket.

With egg receipts of 231 cases, prices were unchanged and exceptionally firm. Seventy cases of local case-counts were sold on the Produce Exchange at the highest quotations. A few shorthorns put up failed to elicit bids.

Butter arrivals were fewer, but sufficient to supply demand. Total receipts were 16,490 pounds. Fresh creamery was well distributed. Local were put up in large quantities, but bids were too low to move them. There were no arrivals of cheese, but all varieties were in demand. Eastern singles, twins and cheddars were the principal offerings. Full cream, Swiss and cream brick were also on sale.

Potato receipts were 1207 sacks. Highlands sold as low as 75 cents per hundred on the street. Local Burbanks were heavy arrivals, while Oregons and White Rose were fully represented. Only 22 sacks of onions arrived. Ten of Bermudas were sold on Change practically below the quotations. There were no bean receipts and the market was nominal. Tatoes were in little demand and receipts were only 13 sacks.

Green beans were so plentiful that they fell to 2 cents a pound, where they were followed by wax beans. Peas also declined fractionally. Rhubarb was well featured in sales, while asparagus sold at regular figures. All bunch goods moved well.

Oranges were the only fruit left over in any amount. The call seemed slower than usual, owing to the general stocking up by retailers previous to the advances of the past few days. Lemons had little call. The grapefruit was also sluggish. Cherries were plentiful.

Fish met the usual Friday demand and were nearly all sold out before noon. Crabs were the first time in weeks.

THE PAUPER OF PARK LANE.

BY WILLIAM LeQUEUX.

[Copyright, 1905, by William Le Queux.]

A distinct suspicion seized him that she was concealing from him some fact which she feared to reveal—some fact that concerned herself more than Maud. He could see, in her refusal to satisfy him as to the girl's confession, an attempt to mislead and mystify him, and he was just a trifle annoyed thereby. He liked open and honest dealing, and began to wonder whether this pretended promise of loyalty to her friend was not being put forward to hide some secret that was her own!

The two girls had, during the past few months, been inseparable. Had Maud really made a startling confession, or was the girl seated before him, with that strangely uneasy expression upon her beautiful countenance, endeavoring to deceive him?

He tried to put such thoughts behind him as unworthy his devotion to her. But, alas! he could not.

Mystery was there—mystery that he was determined to elucidate.

CHAPTER XVI.

ON DANGEROUS GROUND.

In the glorious sundown glinting across the river, and rendering it a rippling flood of gold, Max and Marion were seated in the long upstairs room of that old-fashioned riparian inn, the "London Apprentice," at Isleworth, taking their tea at the open window.

Before them was the green ait, with the broad, tree-fringed river beyond, a quiet, peaceful old-world scene that, amid the rapidly changing metropolitan suburbs, remains the same today as it has been for the past couple of centuries or so.

They always preferred that quiet, old-fashioned upstairs room—the club-room, it was called—of the "London Apprentice" at Isleworth, to the lawns and string bands of Richmond, the tea-gardens of Kew, or the pleasures of Eel Pie Island.

That long, silent, old, paneled room with its big bow-window commanding a wide reach of the river toward St. Margaret's, was well suited to their idyllic love. They knew that there they would at least be alone, away from the Sunday crowd, and that after tea they could sit at the window and enjoy the calm sundown.

The riverside at Isleworth does not change. Even the electric trams have passed close by it on their way to Hampton Court from Hammersmith but they have not modernized it. The old square-towered church, the row of ancient balconied houses, covered with tea-roses and jasmine, and the ancient waterman's hostelry, the "London Apprentice," are just the same today as they have ever been in the memory of the oldest inhabitant; and the little square in the center of the riverside village is as silent and untrodden as in the years when Charles II. loved to go there on his barge and dine in that very room at the inn, and when, later, David Garrick and Pope sang its praises.

Max and his well-beloved had finished their tea, and, with her hat and gloves off, she was lying back in a lounge chair in the deep bay window, watching the steamer Queen Elizabeth, with its brass band and crowd of excursionists, slowly returning to London. Near her he was seated, lazily smoking a cigarette, his eyes upon her in admiration, but still wondering, as he always wondered.

The truth concerning Maud Petrovitch had not been told.

He was very fond of the doctor. Quiet, well-educated, polished and pleasant always, he was, though a foreigner, and a Servian to boot, the very essence of a gentleman. His dead wife had, no doubt, influenced him toward English ways and English thought, while Maud herself—the very replica of his dead wife, he always declared—now held her father beneath her influence as a bright and essentially English girl.

The disappearance of the pair was an enigma which, try how he would, he could not solve. His efforts to find Rolfe had been unavailing, and Marion herself had neither seen nor heard from him. At Charlie's chambers his man remained in complete ignorance. His master had left for Servia—that was all.

Max had been trying in vain to lead the conversation again up to the matter over which his mind had become so much exercised; but, with her woman's keen ingenuity she each time combated his efforts, which, truth to tell, only served to increase his suspicion that her intention was to shield herself behind her friend.

Why this horrible misgiving had crept upon him he could not tell. He loved her with his whole heart and soul, and daily he deplored that, while he lived in bachelor luxury in artistic chambers, and with every whim satisfied, she was compelled to toil and drudge in a London drapery store. He wished with his whole heart that he could take her out of that soul-killing business life, with all its petty jealousies and its eternal make-believe toward customers, and put her in the companionship of some elderly gentlewoman in rural peace.

But he knew her too well. The mere offer she would regard as an insult. A hundred times she had told him that, being compelled to work for her living, she was proud of being able to do so.

Charlie, her brother, he could not understand. He had just make a remark to that effect, and she had asked—

"Why? He's awfully good to me, you know. Lots of times he sends me unexpectedly five-pound notes, and they come in very useful to a girl like me, you know. I dare say," she laughed, "you spend as much in a single evening when you go out with friends to the theater and supper at the Savoy as I earn in a month."

"That's just it," he said. "I can't understand why Charlie, in his position, secretary to one of the wealthiest men in England, allows you to slave away in a shop."

"He does so because I refuse to leave," was her prompt answer. "I don't care to live on the charity of anybody while I have the capacity to work. My parents were both proud in this respect, and I take after them, I suppose."

"That is all to your credit, dearest," he said; "but I am looking forward to the future. I love you, as you well know, and I can't bear to think that you are bound to serve at Cunnington's from nine in the morning till seven at night—waiting on a set of old hags who try to choose dresses to make them appear young girls."

She laughed, her beautiful face turned toward his.

"Aren't you rather hard on my sex, Max?" she asked. "We all of us try to present ourselves to advantage in order to attract and please."

"All except yourself, darling," he said courteously. "You look just as beautiful in your plain black business gown as you do now."

"That's really very sweet of you," she said, smiling. Then a moment later a serious look overspread her countenance, and she added: "Why worry yourself over me, Max dear. I am very happy. I have your love. What more can I want?"

"Ah! my darling!" he cried, rising and bending till his lips touched hers, "those words of yours fill me with contentment. You are happy because I love you! And I am happy because I have secured your affection! You can never know how deeply I love you—or how completely I am yours. My only thought is of you, my well-beloved; of your present life, and of your future. I have friends—men of the world, who spend their time at clubs, at sport, or at theaters—who scoff at love. I scoff with them sometimes, because there is but one love in all the world for me—yours."

"Yes," she said, slowly fixing her eyes upon his, and tenderly stroking his hair. "But sometimes—sometimes I am afraid, Max—I——"

"Afraid," he echoed. "Afraid of what?"

"That you cannot trust me."

He started. Was it not the unconscious truth that she spoke? He had been doubting her all that afternoon.
